Ex-Treasury Chief Defends Stockpile Deal

Humphrey Calls Big Profit Report "Just Baloney"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey said Thursday the government's nickel deal with his mining company was a wise investment for the taxpayers.

Humphrey described charges the $98-million stockpile deal resulted in excessive profits as "just baloney." And he added that government auditors who have reported high profits just don't understand the situation.

For its money, Humphrey told Senate stockpile investigators, the government not only got nickel badly needed for defense purposes at below present market prices but also opened up the first nickel production in the United States.

The wealthy Cleveland, Ohio, industrialist described the deal for 125 million pounds of nickel as a small part of the vast operations of the M. A. Hanna Co.—"the tag end of our business."

"You say this is a relatively unimportant matter," said Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo. "I've seen the dividends and most of us would like to have it if it is a little matter."

Humphrey appeared at his own request before a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee headed by Symington.

The subcommittee is studying the Hanna nickel deals as a part of its over-all investigation of the national stockpile of strategic materials.

A standing-room crowd watched in the huge, marble-columned Senate caucus room when Humphrey took the witness stand.

Glancing at the glaring lights and massed reporters and photographers, the Eisenhower Cabinet member said, "This seems like Old Home Week."

Then he launched into a defense of his company and his own conduct in retaining his interest in the Hanna company while secretary of the Treasury for four years under President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At times Humphrey's voice was sharp with anger. He frequently began answering a question before it was completed.

As Humphrey pictured it, the government pressured Hanna into making a deal that Humphrey would have preferred to have

As far back as February 1951, he said, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, then a Texas senator and chairman of the preparedness subcommittee, urged Hanna to make haste in developing the nickel mine.

Humphrey said at the time he wrote Johnson that Hanna didn't know how the nickel ore could be processed yet and couldn't develop the mine it controlled near Riddle, Ore.

At the time, all nickel had to be imported.

Negotiations began in the spring of 1952, Humphrey said, and he proposed a trial or pilot plant operation be used to test the process commercially.

The Harry S. Truman administration officials objected, he said, and insisted on a hasty, all-out effort he thought was unwise.

Meany Denies That He Called Reuther Liar

CHICAGO (UPI) — AFL - CIO president George Meany admitted Thursday there was disagreement over a vacancy on the organization's executive council. But he denied the disagreement had reached the point that he called Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers (UAW), a liar.

Meany was pressed at a news conference at the windup of the executive council summer meeting about a report he and Reuther reached a "crisis" during private talks over the vacancy.

"Yes, I have read that piece of unscientific literature," Meany said. "There is very little to it."

(The report was published in the New York Times.)

The story said, "Meany was reported to have repeatedly called Mr. Reuther a liar, and Mr. Reuther was said to have threatened to resign as a vice president of the labor federation."

Asked directly by reporters if he ever called Reuther a liar, Meany said, "I don't think I ever called him a liar." Asked if he and Reuther were on friendly terms, Meany said, "Well, he sat next to me at my birthday party last night."

Meany was 68 Thursday.

The report said Reuther had insisted that Ralph Helstein, president of the United Packing House Workers, be named to the vacancy as a representative of the CIO bloc. Meany was said to have rejected the nomination because of the packing house workers' "left-wing past."

Ike Moves Into Ancestral Home Of Kennedy Clan

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower—former Republican president of the United States—moved Thursday night into Culzean Castle, ancestral home of the highly democratic clan Kennedy.

"Well, I don't mind moving in if they don't," laughed Eisenhower, who came here on a golfing vacation by train from London.

One John Kennedy bought the grounds on which stands Culzean Castle way back in the 14th century. Historians say the original Kennedys came to Scotland from Ireland and then returned to the emerald isle.

In appreciation of Gen. Eisenhower's military leadership in World War II, the people of Scotland gave him a 10-room apartment in Culzean — pronounced "Cullane" — Castle. This is his fourth visit to his Scottish home.

The marquess is so democratic that in the Korean War he volunteered as a private. At one time he also worked as a miner. In 1945, the marquess gave the castle to the National Trust of Scotland, a government organization that manages many olds homes and national monuments.

Eisenhower, his wife, his grandchildren, David, 14, and Barbara Anne, 13, and three friends will stay here four days. The friends are Freeman Gosden—the Amos of the Amos 'n' Andy radio act—Mrs. Gosden and their 14-year-old son, Craig.

Now in the final phases of a tour of Europe, Eisenhower said he was feeling fine.

Bandit Manhunt Headed By Chief Mail Inspector

BOSTON (AP)—Henry B. Montague, 50, chief U. S. postal inspector, flew from Washington to take charge Thursday of the widespread hunt for the gun-gang that snatched $1,551,277 from a mail truck Tuesday night.

"The robbery will be solved," he said.

The nation's oldest investigating service has a reputation to uphold —a record of 99 per cent convictions for crimes involving the mails.

The huge investigating force, including state police, Boston police, the FBI and postal inspectors, has lots of leads, but a spokesman conceded there are no actual suspects.

A round-the-clock check of all reports and rumors has brought these results:

A burned automobile, found in Boston, carried in its trunk detour signs, similar to ones set up by the bandits in their smoothly rehearsed stickup on Route 3 in historic Plymouth on Massachusetts' South Shore.

A check produced fingerprints on the trunk of the car, which, police learned, had been stolen June 12.

Several motorists who were forced to make the detour from the Plymouth bypass have come forward and said they saw a man in police uniform standing at the barrier.

This led to the theory that two of the robbers wore police uniforms.

Police believe the detour sign was set up after the mail truck drove north of the bypass.

The driver, Patrick Schena, and his guard, William F. Barrett, reported a man in police uniform, signaled them to halt where the gunmen had two cars ready as a roadblock.

Other holdup men, armed with submachine guns, then rushed from nearby brushland, took the mail truck men by surprise and forced them to disarm.

In the next hour and a half the robbers drove the truck and stopped three times to unload sealed mail bags that contained money.

Loss In Robbery Revised Upward

BOSTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston revised the loss figure Thursday in the nation's biggest cash robbery up to $1,551,277 from the previous approximation of $1.5 million.

The bank disclosed that nearly all the money was bills of relatively small denomination—ranging from 20s down to $1 bills.

Most of the money, a spokesman added, probably was in worn bills and could be passed easily.

Regional Red Party Chieftain Replaced

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party chief of the Rostov-on-Don region has been released from his job, the Communist party newspaper Pravda reported Thursday.

According to rumors reaching Moscow, there have been angry demonstrations in that area about food shortages. There has been no official confirmation of the rumors. Pravda identified the party chief as A. V. Basov. His replacement is V. V. Skryabin.

Moscow Gets Set To Greet Space Twins

Trimmings Go Up; Mammoth Welcome Expected Saturday

MOSCOW (AP) — Platoons of workers toiled Thursday to fit Red Square for the Soviet Union's reception for its astronaut twins, Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich.

Just when the record-breaking astronauts will be given the welcome that Premier Khrushchev has promised them remained an official secret. But the general impression was that it will be Saturday, the eve of Soviet air force day.

Trimmings Go Up

Trimmings which go with big events went up in Red Square while Nikolayev and Popovich were flown to a new base, closer to Moscow, for a continuation of the debriefing begun on their landing Wednesday in Kazakhstan about 1,500 miles southeast of this city.

The base was identified by the Soviet news agency Tass only as "the new destination." There the astronauts were reported being interviewed by a commission of space experts on the orbital flights in which they covered a total of nearly three million miles in a span of 95 hours.

Both were reported feeling fine.

So far, there has been no information about any new discoveries which the pair may have made in space.

Soviet propagandists were not so reticent.

Spacious Spaceships

Tass distributed an article which said Soviet spaceships are spacious in comparison to those used by Americans.

"At a time when the Soviet astronauts are setting out abundantly supplied with everything needed for normal existence, the Americans are experimenting with yogi exercises and hypnosis to find out whether astronauts can cut food and oxygen consumption to a bare minimum," Tass said.

"There are even plans to freeze the astronaut during his space journey so that he would not need any food at all."

Plane Downing Not Confirmed

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) —The American Embassy here Thursday disclaimed any knowledge of the reported shooting-down of a U.S. Air Force jet fighter over Laotian territory.

A spokesman said the embassy had "no information" about the claim by a neutralist official of the coalition Laotian government that such a plane had been downed.

There was no immediate comment by Air Force officials.

But the neutralist official said the plane identified as an F101 jet, was "shot down by light automatic anti-aircraft fire" from neutralist forces in the Khang Kay area of the Plain of Jars.

He added, however, that he did not know when the incident occurred and said nothing definite was available about the fate of the pilot.

Meanwhile, U.S. officials awaited the expected arrival here Friday of a group of Americans who have been held prisoner by the Communist forces in Laos.

If Laotian Red leader Prince Souphanouvong keeps his word, the prisoners will be brought in to Vientiane Friday from the Plain of Jars. But exactly how many are to be released was not clear.

Freak Power Phase Reversal Produces Electric Nightmare

VALDESE, N. C. (AP)—It was just like a scene out of a science fiction nightmare.

Needles at the Waldesian Hosiery mill stopped for a moment, then began running backwards, entangling, instead of knitting socks.

Conveyor belts in manufacturing plants began backing up, hurling goods towards the wrong end of production lines.

Power boilers spewed flames and smoke as forced drafts went backwards and blew air through furnaces, instead of outward as normal.

It lasted a few unbelievable moments. Then the electric power stopped for a few seconds and returned to normal.

A Duke Power Co. spokesman said it all was caused by what he termed a "phase reversal" in the 44,000-volt line feeding power to this small western North Carolina town.

The utility company was installing equipment in a new transmitting and distributing substation Tuesday when the reversal took place. The spokesman said an equipment failure caused the reversal.

Telephone service between here and nearby Morganton ceased abruptly during the freak event, adding to the town's frustration as it tried to find out what was going on.

The disturbance appeared only to affect the three-phase electric motors, not the single-phase types usually found in household appliances.

The power company spokesman said the chances of such a power reversal are about one in a million.

Wave From An Old Soldier

M'Arthur Receives Thanks Of Congress

Old Soldier Has His Day At Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, whose fabulous military career ended when he ran afoul of President Harry S. Truman, came to Capitol Hill on Thursday to receive the thanks of Congress for his countless exploits.

With trembling hands, but his posture still ramrod stiff, the 82-year-old soldier stood on the broad Capitol steps and accepted from House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., a resolution passed unanimously by Senate and House.

It expressed grateful recognition for MacArthur's "outstanding devotion to the American people, his brilliant leadership during and following World War II."

MacArthur, in reply, made no direct reference to the great clash of 1951, when Truman fired him from all his Far East commands. But he spoke words that perhaps connoted a feeling of vindication.

He was deeply grateful, he said, that Congress, the greatest and most forward-looking legislature in the world had, "after the lapse of sufficient time, swayed neither by sentiment nor emotion, rendered an estimate of my services which I fear does me too much honor."

Truman relieved MacArthur after the two differed on the conduct of the Korean War. The general wanted to carry the fight to the Red Chinese — bombing their "sanctuary" beyond the Yalu River for one thing. Truman insisted on trying to keep the war limited for fear world strife would result.

It was MacArthur's first speech on Capitol Hill since his famous one of 1951 in which he said: "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

But he has paid several visits to the White House, the latest one Thursday. He and President Kennedy talked for almost an hour.

MacArthur came out of the presidential office saying they had discussed the world situation "and reminisced about our old comradeship in the Pacific war."

Was he optimistic or pessimistic about the future, one newsman asked.

There came a gleam into the aging eyes as MacArthur replied: "I am completely optimistic. Anyone who believes the United states of America has no future in front of it should have his brain examined. We are at the beginning, not at the end."

Then on to the Capitol, for a luncheon with congressional leaders in the speaker's private dining room. Afterward he was escorted outside where microphones were set up before a crowd of about 500.

MacArthur stumbled twice as he went down the steps, but McCormack caught his arm and steadied him.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., a long-time MacArthur admirer who introduced the resolution praising the general, stepped forward. Rivers expressed belief the old soldier was not anywhere near the point of fading away—that "this young man" would be still around at the age of 100, blooming like a century plant.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson praised MacArthur as a dedicated fighting man, a towering intellect "whose prose is always eloquent, whose voice is always strong."

Negroes Cancel Demonstration

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) —Albany Negroes Thursday called off a scheduled racial demonstration but said they would continue to protest segregation with smaller demonstrations, a continued retail store boycott and a voter registration drive.

They announced plans for a "ministers march on Albany" next week.

Andy Young, a spokesman for the integrationist Albany Movement, said in calling off the scheduled demonstration that lawyers had advised sticking closely to points covered in a omnibus desegregation suit now before a federal district court here.

Dewitt Mackenzie, Ex-AP Writer, Dies

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Dewitt Mackenzie, 78, for many years an Associated Press foreign news analyst and one of the few battlefield correspondents of World War I, died Thursday after a lengthy illness.

Mackenzie, who retired in 1951, made his home in Westport, Conn. He came to California following the death of his wife, Marjorie, last March.

Court Action Seen In Space Center Strike

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Pickets held the Marshall Space Flight Center, heart of the nation's space effort, in idleness for the third straight day Thursday amid indications the government would seek a federal court order sending them back to work.

The picket lines set up by 150 members of the electricians union, protesting the employment of a few nonunion electricians, kept more than 1,200 building trades workers from going to their jobs.

Construction work was at a standstill on a number of space projects, including the vital Saturn booster.

In Washington, government officials met in urgent session to consider applying for a federal court injunction to end the picketing.

There also were indications in Washington that the government, citing this critical time in the nation's space exploration program, might seek a Taft-Hartley injunction to force the strikers back to work.

A four-man investigating crew from the National Labor Relations Board arrived at Redstone Arsenal, home of the space center, to check into the possibility that federal labor laws are being violated by the strike.

Carlton Bryan, head of the team of investigators, said, "There is no indication how long we will be here. I can't predict a time target."

The actual effect of the strike so far on the nation's space program was difficult to measure.

A the start of the strike, a spokesman for the flight center said a shutdown of two or three days "would not be catastrophic," but added that if it stretched out into weeks the damage to development schedules could be serious.

Foes Prevent Quick Windup Of Long Fight

Sen. Morse Reveals Plans To Call Up 30 More Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the administration's communications satellite bill shattered Thursday whatever hopes Senate leaders had for a quick windup of the battle to pass the measure.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he intends to call up about 30 more amendments even though he said he realized none of them has a chance of being adopted.

Morse told the Senate he had received from former President Harry S. Truman a letter telling him he was right and to "keep up the good work."

And Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said he has at least two additional amendments he wants voted on, and perhaps more.

As leaders of the opposition, they were asked by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to let the Senate know what the outlook was for completing action on the House-passed measure.

Clerk To Read Amendments

Morse said that under the debate limitation in effect since the Senate invoked its anti-filibuster rule two days ago, he won't be able to discuss his amendments but will have the clerk read each one.

"You can dispose of them as rapidly as the clerk finishes reading them with the guillotine motion to lay them on the table," he said.

"How many amendments will we have the pleasure of guillotining?" Dirksen asked.

Morse replied that he didn't want the record on this "monstrous" bill to be closed without a complete history of the proposed amendments.

Morse's estimate proved to be optimistic. After the Senate killed off four more amendments—one of which it took a clerk 33 minutes to read — Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana abandoned his announced plans for a late session and recessed the Senate at 7:09 p.m. until Friday morning.

Big Obstacle Cleared

Before he did so, he had a huddle on the floor with opponents of the bill, and reported to his colleagues afterward he believed only six or seven more roll call votes would be necessary Friday.

The Senate earlier in the day had cleared away one big obstacle to final action on the bill by rejecting a proposed civil rights amendment.

By a vote of 54 to 37 the Senate swept aside a move to write into the bill a clause barring any employment discrimination in the projected new venture.

Before its defeat, backers of the bill had regarded the proposal to bar job discrimination as one of the most trouble-laden of the more than 200 amendments filed by opponents of the measure.

GI Insurance Bill Rejected By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House rejected Thursday a bill that would have reopened the GI insurance program to able-bodied veterans of World War II and the Korean War.

However, a substitute measure was accepted permitting service-connected disabled veterans, who are judged uninsurable for private insurance, to apply for the GI insurance for a period of one year.

The substitute, which would cover an estimated 1.8 million disabled veterans, was adopted by a 124-87 standing vote. It now goes to the Senate.

House, Work Caught Up, Begins 10-Day Recess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House made quick work of a couple of legislative matters Thursday and began a 10-day recess.

Democratic leaders said members were pretty well caught up on their work, and that this would be the last good chance before adjournment for them to have a vacation with their families or get in some early campaigning for the fall elections.

The recess began, and members began leaving town in droves, after the House rushed through a $4.6 billion public works bill and a barebones version of Senate legislation to let veterans reinstate their GI insurance.

To prevent having to ask the Senate's consent for the time off, the House technically adjourned until Monday — at which time there will be another adjournment until Thursday — at which time there will be still another adjournment until the following Monday.

But for practical purposes, the congressmen will be off the job for 10 days.

Speaker John W. McCormack said the House already had acted on many major measures, and that none would be ready for floor action next week. The House with its stricter controls over debate, traditionally works faster than the Senate.

Major bills still awaiting Senate action include the administration's foreign trade, tax and drug control legislation. It also must act on a farm bill since the one passed earlier was junked by the House.

Plane Downing Not Confirmed

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) —The American Embassy here Thursday disclaimed any knowledge of the reported shooting-down of a U.S. Air Force jet fighter over Laotian territory.

A spokesman said the embassy had "no information" about the claim by a neutralist official of the coalition Laotian government that such a plane had been downed.

There was no immediate comment by Air Force officials.

But the neutralist official said the plane identified as an F101 jet, was "shot down by light automatic anti-aircraft fire" from neutralist forces in the Khang Kay area of the Plain of Jars.

He added, however, that he did not know when the incident occurred and said nothing definite was available about the fate of the pilot.

Meanwhile, U.S. officials awaited the expected arrival here Friday of a group of Americans who have been held prisoner by the Communist forces in Laos.

If Laotian Red leader Prince Souphanouvong keeps his word, the prisoners will be brought in to Vientiane Friday from the Plain of Jars. But exactly how many are to be released was not clear.

Freak Power Phase Reversal Produces Electric Nightmare

VALDESE, N. C. (AP)—It was just like a scene out of a science fiction nightmare.

Needles at the Waldesian Hosiery mill stopped for a moment, then began running backwards, entangling, instead of knitting socks.

Conveyor belts in manufacturing plants began backing up, hurling goods towards the wrong end of production lines.

Power boilers spewed flames and smoke as forced drafts went backwards and blew air through furnaces, instead of outward as normal.

It lasted a few unbelievable moments. Then the electric power stopped for a few seconds and returned to normal.

A Duke Power Co. spokesman said it all was caused by what he termed a "phase reversal" in the 44,000-volt line feeding power to this small western North Carolina town.

The utility company was installing equipment in a new transmitting and distributing substation Tuesday when the reversal took place. The spokesman said an equipment failure caused the reversal.

Telephone service between here and nearby Morganton ceased abruptly during the freak event, adding to the town's frustration as it tried to find out what was going on.

The disturbance appeared only to affect the three-phase electric motors, not the single-phase types usually found in household appliances.

The power company spokesman said the chances of such a power reversal are about one in a million.

Wave From An Old Soldier

M'Arthur Receives Thanks Of Congress

Old Soldier Has His Day At Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, whose fabulous military career ended when he ran afoul of President Harry S. Truman, came to Capitol Hill on Thursday to receive the thanks of Congress for his countless exploits.

With trembling hands, but his posture still ramrod stiff, the 82-year-old soldier stood on the broad Capitol steps and accepted from House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., a resolution passed unanimously by Senate and House.

It expressed grateful recognition for MacArthur's "outstanding devotion to the American people, his brilliant leadership during and following World War II."

MacArthur, in reply, made no direct reference to the great clash of 1951, when Truman fired him from all his Far East commands. But he spoke words that perhaps connoted a feeling of vindication.

He was deeply grateful, he said, that Congress, the greatest and most forward-looking legislature in the world had, "after the lapse of sufficient time, swayed neither by sentiment nor emotion, rendered an estimate of my services which I fear does me too much honor."

Truman relieved MacArthur after the two differed on the conduct of the Korean War. The general wanted to carry the fight to the Red Chinese — bombing their "sanctuary" beyond the Yalu River for one thing. Truman insisted on trying to keep the war limited for fear world strife would result.

It was MacArthur's first speech on Capitol Hill since his famous one of 1951 in which he said: "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

But he has paid several visits to the White House, the latest one Thursday. He and President Kennedy talked for almost an hour.

MacArthur came out of the presidential office saying they had discussed the world situation "and reminisced about our old comradeship in the Pacific war."

Was he optimistic or pessimistic about the future, one newsman asked.

There came a gleam into the aging eyes as MacArthur replied: "I am completely optimistic. Anyone who believes the United states of America has no future in front of it should have his brain examined. We are at the beginning, not at the end."

Then on to the Capitol, for a luncheon with congressional leaders in the speaker's private dining room. Afterward he was escorted outside where microphones were set up before a crowd of about 500.

MacArthur stumbled twice as he went down the steps, but McCormack caught his arm and steadied him.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., a long-time MacArthur admirer who introduced the resolution praising the general, stepped forward. Rivers expressed belief the old soldier was not anywhere near the point of fading away—that "this young man" would be still around at the age of 100, blooming like a century plant.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson praised MacArthur as a dedicated fighting man, a towering intellect "whose prose is always eloquent, whose voice is always strong."

Negroes Cancel Demonstration

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) —Albany Negroes Thursday called off a scheduled racial demonstration but said they would continue to protest segregation with smaller demonstrations, a continued retail store boycott and a voter registration drive.

They announced plans for a "ministers march on Albany" next week.

Andy Young, a spokesman for the integrationist Albany Movement, said in calling off the scheduled demonstration that lawyers had advised sticking closely to points covered in a omnibus desegregation suit now before a federal district court here.

Dewitt Mackenzie, Ex-AP Writer, Dies

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Dewitt Mackenzie, 78, for many years an Associated Press foreign news analyst and one of the few battlefield correspondents of World War I, died Thursday after a lengthy illness.

Mackenzie, who retired in 1951, made his home in Westport, Conn. He came to California following the death of his wife, Marjorie, last March.

Court Action Seen In Space Center Strike

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Pickets held the Marshall Space Flight Center, heart of the nation's space effort, in idleness for the third straight day Thursday amid indications the government would seek a federal court order sending them back to work.

The picket lines set up by 150 members of the electricians union, protesting the employment of a few nonunion electricians, kept more than 1,200 building trades workers from going to their jobs.

Construction work was at a standstill on a number of space projects, including the vital Saturn booster.

In Washington, government officials met in urgent session to consider applying for a federal court injunction to end the picketing.

There also were indications in Washington that the government, citing this critical time in the nation's space exploration program, might seek a Taft-Hartley injunction to force the strikers back to work.

A four-man investigating crew from the National Labor Relations Board arrived at Redstone Arsenal, home of the space center, to check into the possibility that federal labor laws are being violated by the strike.

Carlton Bryan, head of the team of investigators, said, "There is no indication how long we will be here. I can't predict a time target."

The actual effect of the strike so far on the nation's space program was difficult to measure.

A the start of the strike, a spokesman for the flight center said a shutdown of two or three days "would not be catastrophic," but added that if it stretched out into weeks the damage to development schedules could be serious.

Foes Prevent Quick Windup Of Long Fight

Sen. Morse Reveals Plans To Call Up 30 More Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the administration's communications satellite bill shattered Thursday whatever hopes Senate leaders had for a quick windup of the battle to pass the measure.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he intends to call up about 30 more amendments even though he said he realized none of them has a chance of being adopted.

Morse told the Senate he had received from former President Harry S. Truman a letter telling him he was right and to "keep up the good work."

And Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said he has at least two additional amendments he wants voted on, and perhaps more.

As leaders of the opposition, they were asked by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to let the Senate know what the outlook was for completing action on the House-passed measure.

Clerk To Read Amendments

Morse said that under the debate limitation in effect since the Senate invoked its anti-filibuster rule two days ago, he won't be able to discuss his amendments but will have the clerk read each one.

"You can dispose of them as rapidly as the clerk finishes reading them with the guillotine motion to lay them on the table," he said.

"How many amendments will we have the pleasure of guillotining?" Dirksen asked.

Morse replied that he didn't want the record on this "monstrous" bill to be closed without a complete history of the proposed amendments.

Morse's estimate proved to be optimistic. After the Senate killed off four more amendments—one of which it took a clerk 33 minutes to read — Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana abandoned his announced plans for a late session and recessed the Senate at 7:09 p.m. until Friday morning.

Big Obstacle Cleared

Before he did so, he had a huddle on the floor with opponents of the bill, and reported to his colleagues afterward he believed only six or seven more roll call votes would be necessary Friday.

The Senate earlier in the day had cleared away one big obstacle to final action on the bill by rejecting a proposed civil rights amendment.

By a vote of 54 to 37 the Senate swept aside a move to write into the bill a clause barring any employment discrimination in the projected new venture.

Before its defeat, backers of the bill had regarded the proposal to bar job discrimination as one of the most trouble-laden of the more than 200 amendments filed by opponents of the measure.

GI Insurance Bill Rejected By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House rejected Thursday a bill that would have reopened the GI insurance program to able-bodied veterans of World War II and the Korean War.

However, a substitute measure was accepted permitting service-connected disabled veterans, who are judged uninsurable for private insurance, to apply for the GI insurance for a period of one year.

The substitute, which would cover an estimated 1.8 million disabled veterans, was adopted by a 124-87 standing vote. It now goes to the Senate.

House, Work Caught Up, Begins 10-Day Recess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House made quick work of a couple of legislative matters Thursday and began a 10-day recess.

Democratic leaders said members were pretty well caught up on their work, and that this would be the last good chance before adjournment for them to have a vacation with their families or get in some early campaigning for the fall elections.

The recess began, and members began leaving town in droves, after the House rushed through a $4.6 billion public works bill and a barebones version of Senate legislation to let veterans reinstate their GI insurance.

To prevent having to ask the Senate's consent for the time off, the House technically adjourned until Monday — at which time there will be another adjournment until Thursday — at which time there will be still another adjournment until the following Monday.

But for practical purposes, the congressmen will be off the job for 10 days.

Speaker John W. McCormack said the House already had acted on many major measures, and that none would be ready for floor action next week. The House with its stricter controls over debate, traditionally works faster than the Senate.

Major bills still awaiting Senate action include the administration's foreign trade, tax and drug control legislation. It also must act on a farm bill since the one passed earlier was junked by the House.

Delay Of Schirra's Orbit Flight Hinted

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — D. Brainerd Holmes, director of manned space flight programs, said Thursday night Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. probably will make his Project Mercury satellite flight "the middle or end of September."

This was the first official indication that there may be a delay of one or two weeks in the flight. Previous published reports had set the launching date at Sept. 18.

Holmes told The Associated Press that even if everything is going perfectly all the way, Schirra will not be permitted to make more than the scheduled six orbits.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration official made it clear that even though two Russians stayed in space three and four days respectively this week, there will be no extended flight for Schirra.

The Mercury spacecraft is not large enough to contain the oxygen and other supplies needed for longer missions.

Another NASA official said the Apollo program for landing men on the moon by 1970 will benefit greatly from the Project Ranger unmanned investigation of the moon but will not depend upon or wait for any part of it.

Oran W. Nicks, director of NASA's lunar and planetary programs, told a lunar exploration conference at Virginia Tech that, "Nobody is waiting for anybody in the lunar program.

"We are proceeding in all directions and if it is necessary to modify any parts of the program we will not wait for all the pieces to fit in end to end," he said.

Nicks said that the greatest contribution of the Ranger spacecraft will be topographic data telling man what the surface is like and whether it consists of dust or rubble.

"These are questions of major concern to our decisions on types of landing gear and on the selection of landing sites," he said.

He said Project Ranger, initially planned for five launchings and then extended to nine, may be extended further by five vehicles, all containing camera systems but available for changeover to capsule-landing systems.

Prankster Adds Old Cannon Ball To Broyhill Gun

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, R-Va., who found a Civil War cannon in his front yard Wednesday, got up Thursday to find a 75-pound cannon ball to go with it.

Both were apparently deposited by political pranksters. The cannon bore a placard which read "Blast Broyhill in November" and "Return to Manassas Battlefield."

No notes were attached to the cannon ball, however.

Broyhill, who is seeking re-election in November, said the prank has done no harm to his family or property.

"Some peoples' mentality is such that it takes odd things to make them happy, so if they enjoy this I would not want to deny them the privilege of doing so," Broyhill said.

His Democratic opponent, Augustus C. Johnson, decried any abuse of private property and said: "The weapons we plan to use against Broyhill in the fall are much more up to date and effective than an 1861 cannon."

Arlington police hauled the cannon, which weighed between 1,500 and 2,000 pounds, to the county property yard. The cannon ball was to follow.

Southeast Asia Acclaims Dutch, Indonesia Pact

MANILA (AP) — Southeast Asians greeted with relief and jubilation Thursday the Dutch agreement to hand West New Guinea over to Indonesia.

Settlement of the 13-year dispute was heralded as opening the way for a new era of peace and prosperity in the vast South Pacific region that feared being engulfed in a war.

Under the agreement signed Wednesday the territory will be transferred to a United Nations administration and then taken over by Indonesia with the promise of a self-determination plebiscite among the 700,000 native Papuans in 1969.

The Netherlands government, which had promised to safeguard the future of the Papuans it ruled for 134 years, made plain it yielded under pressure—particularly from the United States.

But many quarters — even in Holland—said the Dutch stand to gain in the long run by paving the way for patching up relations with Indonesia and going back into business in their former rich colony.

The dispute over West New Guinea led President Sukarno to seize $1.5 billion worth of Dutch property in Indonesia in 1957 and break off diplomatic ties in 1960.

House Passes Water Projects Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed with little debate a $4,613,807,000 water projects appropriation bill Thursday. It now goes to the Senate.

The bill included these appropriations:

Maryland-Construction in Baltimore harbors and channels, $4,100,000, and the Pocomoke River, $300,000.

West Virginia-Construction at Opekiska Lock and Dam, $6,000,000; Summersville Reservoir, $9,750,000. Planning at Burnsville Reservoir, $65,000; East Lynn Reservoir, $100,000. Surveys of the Cheat River, $102,000.

District of Columbia-Survey of Anacostia River, $50,000; Potomac River review, $75,000.

Suspect Sought In $5,300 Holdup

BALTIMORE (AP)—Vance Larkin, 37, of Baltimore was charged Thursday night by the FBI in connection with the $5,300 robbery of the Kenwood Savings and Loan Association Wednesday.

Edward J. Powers, agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said a warrant had been issued for Larkin's address. Police say the man may have taken a taxicab to Wilmington, Del., after the holdup.

A car registered to Larkin was recovered by city police shortly after a lone bandit entered the association and demanded the money. Powers asked that persons having any information about Larkin to call the Baltimore FBI office.

GOP Urges JFK Trim Spending, Tell Tax Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A renewed demand that President Kennedy cut federal spending and say now specifically what his tax cut plans area for next year came Thursday from Republican congressional leaders.

The immediate steps would help restore confidence and avoid a recession, GOP Senate leaders agreed at a morning meeting, House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said.

At the weekly news conference shared with Halleck, Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois for the second straight week centered his remarks on criticism of U.S. moves at the Geneva nuclear test ban talks.

"We should abandon the policy of offering concessions at Geneva," Dirksen said in a statement.

"All that the test ban negotiations have produced so far have been an opportunity for the Russians to narrow our margin of safety by resuming testing a year ago."

Dirksen complained of what he called indecision about whether to complete current U.S. tests while the Russians are testing. He said the United States should complete the tests and should start a new series if necessary to maintain nuclear superiority.

Legal "Brain" Result Of 30 Years' Labor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Alvin Gershenson, a Beverly Hills, Calif., attorney who dislikes being treated like a machine, spent 30 years building one which he says answers legal questions in a matter of seconds.

He demonstrated the electronic device known as a Law Staff before the National District Attorneys Association conference on Thursday, just a few hours after he told a colleague: "Look, Matt, please, I'm a person, not a machine."

His associate had suggested that Gershenson, all keyed up over the unveiling, keep his voice down so disinterested persons in another room would not hear him.

Eleven questions written out on separate slips of paper were handed to several district attorneys to ask. As each question was put, buttons were pushed on electric computers and up came answers within seconds.

Gershenson, 52, a short, balding Chicago Law School graduate, explained in an interview that the district attorneys had asked him to cover certain categories of the law and it was these categories that the questions concerned.

He admitted it was possible someone might come up with a question the machine couldn't answer. The whole theory works on the flow of information into the research brain, and eventually Gershenson hopes to cover just about everything.

Proves His Point

Scientist Uses Drugged Needle To Catch Whale

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A Maryland scientist has proved his point—whales can be taken easily with a drugged needle.

Dr. Vagn Flyger of the Natural Resources Institute of the University of Maryland caught a 16-foot beluga whale during his six-week trip in the Artic.

Instead of using the conventional harpooning methods, Flyger used a weapon which resembled a single barrel shotgun except that it was rifled.

His weapon fired a cartridge similar to a shotgun shell but it propelled an automatic hypodermic needle carrying a lethal dose of the drug succinylcholine chloride.

"The trip was very successful," said Flyger, who returned from the mouth of the MacKenzie River in Canada's Northwest Territory earlier this week.

"We found that the drug killed whales quickly and effectively. We also got an idea of the proper doses of the drug we should use in slaying a whale," he said.

"The drug performed as I predicted it would except that it took effect faster than I expected," he said. "I thought it would be between two to fifteen minutes before the whale was affected but the whale we hit was paralyzed in less than half a minute."

His associate had suggested that Gershenson, all keyed up over the unveiling, keep his voice down so disinterested persons in another room would not hear him.

Eleven questions written out on separate slips of paper were handed to several district attorneys to ask. As each question was put, buttons were pushed on electric computers and up came answers within seconds.

Gershenson, 52, a short, balding Chicago Law School graduate, explained in an interview that the district attorneys had asked him to cover certain categories of the law and it was these categories that the questions concerned.

He admitted it was possible someone might come up with a question the machine couldn't answer. The whole theory works on the flow of information into the research brain, and eventually Gershenson hopes to cover just about everything.

Proves His Point

Scientist Uses Drugged Needle To Catch Whale

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A Maryland scientist has proved his point—whales can be taken easily with a drugged needle.

Dr. Vagn Flyger of the Natural Resources Institute of the University of Maryland caught a 16-foot beluga whale during his six-week trip in the Artic.

Instead of using the conventional harpooning methods, Flyger used a weapon which resembled a single barrel shotgun except that it was rifled.

His weapon fired a cartridge similar to a shotgun shell but it propelled an automatic hypodermic needle carrying a lethal dose of the drug succinylcholine chloride.

"The trip was very successful," said Flyger, who returned from the mouth of the MacKenzie River in Canada's Northwest Territory earlier this week.

"We found that the drug killed whales quickly and effectively. We also got an idea of the proper doses of the drug we should use in slaying a whale," he said.

"The drug performed as I predicted it would except that it took effect faster than I expected," he said. "I thought it would be between two to fifteen minutes before the whale was affected but the whale we hit was paralyzed in less than half a minute."

Senate Unit Approves Envoy Nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday approved the nominations of Foy D. Kohler of Ohio to be ambassador to Russia, and Charles E. Bohlen to be ambassador to France.

Kohler will replace Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow. Bohlen will relieve retired Gen. James Gavin who retired for reasons of personal finance.

State Sen. Phipps Quits Contest For Reelection

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Louis N. Phipps, veteran Anne Arundel County Democratic leader, withdrew Thursday from his race for reelection and handed his banner to a relative newcomer.

Phipps announced at a press conference that he is accepting the offer extended him by the county's Democratic State Central Committee three weeks ago to become clerk of the Circuit Court.

The committee promptly named J. Nelson Clark, trial magistrate at Odenton and a loyal supporter of the dominant Phipps faction, to be the Democratic Senate candidate.

He faces an uphill battle this fall against Republican Joseph W. Alton Jr., who has been elected county sheriff three times in the face of heavy Democratic registrations and who has maintained political alliances with several northern Anne Arundel County Democratic leaders.

Del. John F. McNulty of Linthicum, an earlier choice to succeed Phipps as Democratic candidate, was named instead to serve the remainder of his term this year. McNulty, 66, will run again for the House this fall. He had tears in his eyes as he declined the nomination as a Senate candidate.

Prompt Action On University Land Bill Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Interior subcommittee was urged by Rep. Richard E. Lankford, D-Md., Thursday to act promptly on a bill which would authorize sale of government-owned land on the College Park campus of the University of Maryland to the state.

"This is badly needed by the state for university expansion," Lankford, sponsor of a similar House bill, testified.

Lankford said the House Interior Committee has decided to withhold action until the Senate moves forward with the project. Back in 1958, the House approved a similar bill but the Senate took no action.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R—Md., also contended that the action is "essential for the proper accommodation of the enlarged enrollment at the university."

The bill would authorize sale of the land and improvements to the state at the fair market value, generally estimated to be about $1,045,000.

It also would authorize $3,480,000 for the Interior Department to build new facilities at another location replacing those at College Park now held by the Bureau of Mines and Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

Lankford testified the 14.2 acres involved were at one time on the edge of the university's campus but now are surrounded by university land and facilities.

Baltimore Committeemen Meet, Again Name Valle

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ten out of 18 Baltimore Democratic committeemen went through the motions for the second time Thursday and again nominated Francis J. Valle as the candidate for state's attorney.

The action which has created a storm of protest up to Gov. Tawes was repeated to cope with some of the complex legal questions involved.

This time, the 10 committeemen present constituted themselves a quorum and then went on record that a simple majority vote — or six — would be binding on all 18 members.

All 10 voted for Valle, nine of them for the second time, including Anthony E. Gallagher. In doing so, Gallagher was ignoring an opinion by Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan that he was not elected legally to the committee in the May 15 primary.

Finan's opinion was based on a criminal offense conviction by Gallagher which forbids Gallagher to vote unless he is pardoned by the governor. Finan reasoned that if Gallagher couldn't vote he belonged to no party and therefore could not be elected a Democratic committeeman.

Dominic di Pietro, the committee chairman who also voted for Valle in a meeting Monday, did not attend Thursday's replay. But another member, Franklin Waldt, showed up to provide the 10th vote again.

The grand jury met Thursday and called for federal court records relating to criminal charges 22 years ago against Di Pietro. The jurors at the same time will study the Gallagher case.

Records showed that Gallagher had voted in elections after his conviction of a felony.

The nomination of Valle on Monday was the same day that Saul A. Harris, the incumbent state's attorney, was buried. Harris won the primary nomination over Valle and other Democratic candidates.

The judges of the Supreme Bench are to name a temporary state's attorney until Jan. 1.

Although Jack Pollack, who supported Valle in the primary, was prominent at Monday's meeting, he did not appear Thursday.

Private police again guarded the session and for the second time barred Hyman Pressman, who is challenging the committee's action, and Harry T. Gross, acting chairman of the state Democratic party. Gross also is the party's legal expert and adviser.

Black Muslim Faces Guard Attack Charge

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A Black Muslim inmate of the District of Columbia Youth Center at Lorton, Va., was ordered held Thursday for federal grand jury action on charges of assaulting a guard last June 16.

He is James E. Johnson Jr., 22, who the FBI said was sent to the center in 1956 on a manslaughter charge.

During a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Thomas Moncure, FBI agent William H. Crowder quoted Johnson as saying he struck the guard, Rodney D. Cassidy, to get committed to a cell where a fellow Muslim was sent after spitting on an officer.

"Johnson wanted to show unity," Crowder said, "to make a visible demonstration of his faith."

Supporters and members of the Black Muslim cult staged riots at the youth center on July 31 and Aug. 2.

Demo Dinner Set Oct. 3 At Pikesville

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Democratic party's main campaign fund raising dinner will be held Oct. 3 in the Pikesville armory, Herbert R. O'Conor Jr. announced Thursday.

O'Conor, the campaign chairman, said that while President Kennedy has promised to appear in Maryland to urge the election of Democratic candidates, he has not yet decided whether to attend the dinner.

Woman Drowns In Boat Mishap

BEL AIR, Md. (AP)—A moonlight cruise on the Bush River by a family of four and two other persons ended in tragedy with the drowning of Mrs. Lucille Turner.

Searchers recovered the body of the 26-year-old mother Thursday.

All six persons aboard a 17-foot runabout were dumped into the river Wednesday night when the boat struck a piling of the bridge.

San Francisco—Super Shell with Platformate has just delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent. Platformate is Super Shell's mileage ingredient. Shell engineers test Super Shell for mileage in many different types of cars, in many different places. Here's how the test above was run. Exactly 250 cc (about half a pint) of a fuel blended without Platformate was fed into the test car's engine. The car was started, accelerated to 30 miles per hour, then held there until fuel ran out and the car rolled to a stop. Distance: 6186 feet (indicated by dotted line in background). Next, test was repeated, using Super Shell—the same fuel as before but with Platformate added. Precise same volume of fuel. Same car. Same speed. Same driver. Same conditions. Distance: 6454 feet. That's 4.33 percent farther than the car traveled with non-Platformate gasoline.

MILEAGE TEST

New documented tests prove that one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients packs extra mileage into every gallon

THE picture above was snapped a few moments after Super Shell with an extra mileage ingredient called Platformate delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent.

That's a typical result from a series of mileage tests Shell engineers recently ran on the outskirts of San Francisco.

The tests compared two gasolines. One was a gasoline Shell scientists purposely blended without Platformate. The other was Super Shell—the same gasoline as before but with Platformate added.

Shell engineers used a 1962 convertible for the tests. You may be driving a similar car right now.

In test after test, Super Shell with Platformate consistently took the car about 4 percent farther than the gasoline blended without Platformate.

NOTE: For more details on these tests, see caption under picture. And for technical data, write to the Shell Oil Company, 50 West 50 Street, New York 20, N. Y.

Platformate gets its name from the platinum re-forming process used to make it.

Pressures up to 600 pounds per square inch and temperatures up to 1000 degrees literally tear petroleum apart. A precious platinum catalyst then helps re-form the petroleum into super-energy components.

RESULT: Platformate can release more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Your engine can convert extra energy into extra mileage.

Super Shell has 9 ingredients for top performance

Extra mileage is just one part of the top performance story. Super Shell's other ingredients complete the picture. Here's what they are and what they do.

*TCP for power, mileage, longer plug life.
Pentane mix—for fast "warm-up."
Butane—for quick starts.
Anti-knock mix—to resist all kinds of knock.
Alkylate—to help control "high-speed knock."
"Cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
Anti-icer—added in cold weather to help check carburetor icing stalls.
Gum preventive—to help keep carburetors clean inside.

Potomac Valley Trail Ride Set For Sunday

Plans for a point trail ride and the annual picnic of the Potomac Valley Riding Club were formulated at the meeting conducted by Floyd Grace at the club house. The trail ride will be held Sunday from the Andy Evans stable in Rawlings. The time was set for 1 p.m.

It was decided that the September point trail ride, scheduled for the 16th, will be changed in order that members may participate in the local horse show.

The club's annual picnic will be held September 9 at the club house on Route 28. All members are invited to attend.

A letter from Clay Q. Post, Petersburg, W. Va., was read praising the club on the management of the spring horse show. It was announced that Lee Welsh, trail boss, is recuperating in Memorial Hospital.

September 2 will be the next meeting, which will be at 8 p.m. at the club house. The film, "An Introduction To the Arabian Horse," and "Sunny Acres Arabians" has been procured and will be shown at the February meeting. Many club members will attend the Tri-County Horse Show this afternoon in Petersburg, W. Va.

Chapter Receives Invitations

National and department officers were honor guests of the Tri-State Chapter, Gold Star Mothers for the annual picnic, which was held Wednesday evening at Constitution Park.

Invitations to attend their club meetings were extended in brief talks by Mrs. Emma Eunick, Westminster, national chaplain; Mrs. Lucinda Weigle, also of Westminster; Mrs. Maude W. Hazard, first vice president of the Department of Maryland and Delaware; and Mrs. Abigail Whitcomb, department Americanism chairman, both of Takoma Park.

Following the supper a games party was held. Thirty-five members attended. Regular business sessions will be resumed September 19 at the American Legion home.

The Chaney family reunion will be held at Minko Park, W. Va., Sunday. Lunch will be at 12:30 p.m. EDT.

A rummage sale will be held by the Skyles Memorial Bible Class from 10 until 2 today at St. Mark's church, Park and Harrison streets.

A chicken barbecue supper sponsored by the Centenary WSCS will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the church, Bedford Road. LaVale Lions Club will prepare the chicken.

Chairmen Will Hold Workshop

Two meetings for club and county home furnishings chairmen have been scheduled by Miss Mary Wise. The first will be a leader training meeting and then a special interest group workshop.

"Furniture Arrangement for You" will be the topic for discussion August 23 in the extension office, beginning at 10 a.m. It is to prepare chairmen to give a demonstration at the September club meeting. Principles of furniture arrangement are to be considered, so they may be applied to each homemaker's individual needs.

Miss Elizabeth Langsdale, specialist from the University of Maryland, will conduct the workshop on slipcovers, which will be held September 7, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

A planning meeting will be held September 7 from 10 until 3 o'clock. At that time material will be selected and the chair measured for the fabric. Construction will be at the meetings September 17 through 20, from 9:30 to 3 p.m.

Each chairman is to bring a partner. One chair will be done at the workshop and the partner's as a demonstration at the club meeting. Registration for the workshop will be limited, so names will be accepted on a first come, first served basis. Registrations are to be made by August 31.

Attending National Council

Mrs. Adam Baer, president of Allegany County Homemakers Council, accompanied by Dr. Baer, Frostburg, is representing the county at the National Home Demonstration Council meeting, at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Fifty-one state homemakers are participating in the 26th annual meeting, this week. Heading the state delegation is Mrs. W. Donald Miller, president; accompanied by Miss Margaret T. Loar, assistant agent at the University of Maryland, and formerly of here.

B&O Group Has Outing

A game between the Giants and Orioles of the Little League featured the entertainment at the picnic of the South End Pleasure Organization Wednesday at the Ali Ghan picnic grounds.

Earl W. Conn, L. L. Carder, G. W. Sweitzer, C. J. Northcraft, Joseph Lagratta, Herman Lagratta, W. P. Natale, Donald G. Harden, Thomas Rice, C. R. Goss, Eugene Hare, W. R. Cunningham and E. T. Evans composed the committee of arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller and family, Lexington, Ky., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller, Oldtown.

THREE QUARTER TIME —The three-quarter coat, which sometimes is a tunic in fashions for the fall, gets a straight line treatment by Marquise. The coat and skirt are made of heavy ginger tweed, with matching pill box. The slim skirt is topped by a brown plaid blouse matching the coat lining.

Mrs. White Entertained

A stork shower was given in honor of Mrs. Norman White at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith Tuesday. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. John Kauffman, Mrs. Earl Beal and Mrs. Kenneth Messmer.

The house was decorated with cut flowers and a pink and blue color scheme was carried out. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Clark Bittinger, Mrs. Richard Bittinger, Mrs. Harold Shaner and Mrs. John Beegle.

Other invited guests were Mrs. Jack Day, Mrs. Raymond Messmer, Mrs. Howard Robertson, Mrs. Marlin Stultzman, Mrs. Leonard White, Mrs. Harry Minnicks, Mrs. Arthur DeLozier, and Mrs. Fred Pfieffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kerns and son, Ernest III, Freemont, Ohio, have returned home after visiting her mother, Mrs. James H. Shaw, Oldtown.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Shaw and son David, Baltimore, are visiting Mrs. James H. Shaw, Oldtown.

Jack Roeder, 8 Ruehl Avenue is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Glendale Observance Sunday

The Glendale Church of the Brethren will hold its annual homecoming ceremonies Sunday at the church in Flintstone. It will begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m.

Dedication of the class divider, front door and tables will be conducted at 11 o'clock by Elder John Buffenmyer, pastor. Following a basket lunch at noon, the homecoming services will be held at 2 o'clock. There will be special music for both morning and afternoon sessions.

Evangelistic services will start at 7:30, with Rev. Ordo Pletcher, from Pennsylvania, as the evangelist. Everyone is welcome to attend.

1937 Class Reunion Tomorrow

Mr. and Mrs. Foy A. Curry, Miss Nell Hawkins and Mrs. Anna B. Higgins will be guests at the silver anniversary reunion of Allegany High School Class of 1937 tomorrow. It will be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club in the form of a dinner at 7. A Dutch treat cocktail hour will be held at 6.

The master of ceremonies will be John J. Topper. Frank W. Jordano, Pittsburgh, will extend the welcome and Rev. Jacob H. Snyder will offer the invocation.

Members of the committee of arrangements are Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, Mrs. Shirley Mortzfelt, Mrs. Ruth Purucker, W. R. King and John Ankeney.

Maj. and Mrs. Albert Bean, and sons, Miami, Fla., are visiting relatives and friends here. Maj. Bean is stationed at Homestead AF base.

The board of officers of Our Flag of Cumberland Council 100 will meet at 8 tonight at Junior Order Hall.

Circle 4 Organizes, Appoints Chairmen

Chairmen were appointed and a meeting date was selected at the organizational meeting of Circle 4 of the United Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Church, Cumberland, which was held Wednesday. Mrs. Douglas Smith and Mrs. Calvin Keiter served as hostesses, with the former conducting the business session.

After greetings and prayer chairmen were named. They are education, Mrs. Keiter, Mrs. Kenneth Lowe; decorations, Mrs. George Frick; Christian service, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Marie Smith; membership, Mrs. George Phillippi, Mrs. Nell Dryer Smith; offerings, Mrs. Bert Browne, Mrs. Martha Weller; publicity, Mrs. Harry Utterback; accompanist, Mrs. D. W. Burger, Mrs. Martin Sharp; and secretary, Mrs. W. Fred Mowen.

One o'clock the third Wednesday of each month was selected for the regular meeting date, with the next on September 19.

Since Circle 4 is responsible for suitable church decorations for special occasions, it was decided to have a flower arrangement workshop in conjunction with the October meeting. An offertory prayer by Mrs. Weller and the missionary benediction concluded the meeting.

Bow Hunters Meet Tonight

The Cumberland Bow Hunters, local archery club, will hold a work party tonight at 6:30 to set up shooting areas for their Fair project. All members are asked to attend the affair at the Fair grounds.

Committee chairmen, William Burkey and Paul Nazelrod may be called for additional information.

Potomac Valley Trail Ride Set For Sunday

Plans for a point trail ride and the annual picnic of the Potomac Valley Riding Club were formulated at the meeting conducted by Floyd Grace at the club house. The trail ride will be held Sunday from the Andy Evans stable in Rawlings. The time was set for 1 p.m.

It was decided that the September point trail ride, scheduled for the 16th, will be changed in order that members may participate in the local horse show.

The club's annual picnic will be held September 9 at the club house on Route 28. All members are invited to attend.

A letter from Clay Q. Post, Petersburg, W. Va., was read praising the club on the management of the spring horse show. It was announced that Lee Welsh, trail boss, is recuperating in Memorial Hospital.

September 2 will be the next meeting, which will be at 8 p.m. at the club house. The film, "An Introduction To the Arabian Horse," and "Sunny Acres Arabians" has been procured and will be shown at the February meeting. Many club members will attend the Tri-County Horse Show this afternoon in Petersburg, W. Va.

Chapter Receives Invitations

National and department officers were honor guests of the Tri-State Chapter, Gold Star Mothers for the annual picnic, which was held Wednesday evening at Constitution Park.

Invitations to attend their club meetings were extended in brief talks by Mrs. Emma Eunick, Westminster, national chaplain; Mrs. Lucinda Weigle, also of Westminster; Mrs. Maude W. Hazard, first vice president of the Department of Maryland and Delaware; and Mrs. Abigail Whitcomb, department Americanism chairman, both of Takoma Park.

Following the supper a games party was held. Thirty-five members attended. Regular business sessions will be resumed September 19 at the American Legion home.

The Chaney family reunion will be held at Minko Park, W. Va., Sunday. Lunch will be at 12:30 p.m. EDT.

A rummage sale will be held by the Skyles Memorial Bible Class from 10 until 2 today at St. Mark's church, Park and Harrison streets.

A chicken barbecue supper sponsored by the Centenary WSCS will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the church, Bedford Road. LaVale Lions Club will prepare the chicken.

Chairmen Will Hold Workshop

Two meetings for club and county home furnishings chairmen have been scheduled by Miss Mary Wise. The first will be a leader training meeting and then a special interest group workshop.

"Furniture Arrangement for You" will be the topic for discussion August 23 in the extension office, beginning at 10 a.m. It is to prepare chairmen to give a demonstration at the September club meeting. Principles of furniture arrangement are to be considered, so they may be applied to each homemaker's individual needs.

Miss Elizabeth Langsdale, specialist from the University of Maryland, will conduct the workshop on slipcovers, which will be held September 7, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

A planning meeting will be held September 7 from 10 until 3 o'clock. At that time material will be selected and the chair measured for the fabric. Construction will be at the meetings September 17 through 20, from 9:30 to 3 p.m.

Each chairman is to bring a partner. One chair will be done at the workshop and the partner's as a demonstration at the club meeting. Registration for the workshop will be limited, so names will be accepted on a first come, first served basis. Registrations are to be made by August 31.

Attending National Council

Mrs. Adam Baer, president of Allegany County Homemakers Council, accompanied by Dr. Baer, Frostburg, is representing the county at the National Home Demonstration Council meeting, at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Fifty-one state homemakers are participating in the 26th annual meeting, this week. Heading the state delegation is Mrs. W. Donald Miller, president; accompanied by Miss Margaret T. Loar, assistant agent at the University of Maryland, and formerly of here.

B&O Group Has Outing

A game between the Giants and Orioles of the Little League featured the entertainment at the picnic of the South End Pleasure Organization Wednesday at the Ali Ghan picnic grounds.

Earl W. Conn, L. L. Carder, G. W. Sweitzer, C. J. Northcraft, Joseph Lagratta, Herman Lagratta, W. P. Natale, Donald G. Harden, Thomas Rice, C. R. Goss, Eugene Hare, W. R. Cunningham and E. T. Evans composed the committee of arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller and family, Lexington, Ky., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller, Oldtown.

THREE QUARTER TIME —The three-quarter coat, which sometimes is a tunic in fashions for the fall, gets a straight line treatment by Marquise. The coat and skirt are made of heavy ginger tweed, with matching pill box. The slim skirt is topped by a brown plaid blouse matching the coat lining.

Mrs. White Entertained

A stork shower was given in honor of Mrs. Norman White at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith Tuesday. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. John Kauffman, Mrs. Earl Beal and Mrs. Kenneth Messmer.

The house was decorated with cut flowers and a pink and blue color scheme was carried out. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Clark Bittinger, Mrs. Richard Bittinger, Mrs. Harold Shaner and Mrs. John Beegle.

Other invited guests were Mrs. Jack Day, Mrs. Raymond Messmer, Mrs. Howard Robertson, Mrs. Marlin Stultzman, Mrs. Leonard White, Mrs. Harry Minnicks, Mrs. Arthur DeLozier, and Mrs. Fred Pfieffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kerns and son, Ernest III, Freemont, Ohio, have returned home after visiting her mother, Mrs. James H. Shaw, Oldtown.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Shaw and son David, Baltimore, are visiting Mrs. James H. Shaw, Oldtown.

Jack Roeder, 8 Ruehl Avenue is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Glendale Observance Sunday

The Glendale Church of the Brethren will hold its annual homecoming ceremonies Sunday at the church in Flintstone. It will begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m.

Dedication of the class divider, front door and tables will be conducted at 11 o'clock by Elder John Buffenmyer, pastor. Following a basket lunch at noon, the homecoming services will be held at 2 o'clock. There will be special music for both morning and afternoon sessions.

Evangelistic services will start at 7:30, with Rev. Ordo Pletcher, from Pennsylvania, as the evangelist. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Imagine a mental giant stopping by your house to tell you about the theory of relativity.

If that's heavy, perhaps you'd prefer humorist S. J. Perelman dropping in next time you have a party—with the understanding that he read one of his yarns.

When the party mood turns sober, wouldn't it be a delight to let the old college crowd listen again to the cherished voice of the most brilliant professor who once lectured you all?

Two eggheads with yens of the sort make their living recording classic spoken words for eggheads on the home front.

Dr. Arthur L. Klein and his wife go 'round the world to get the voices that matter on platters.

"When we started doing this back in '56," Mrs. Klein said in an interview, "our friends told us we were mad. But we disagreed.

"Classic words that stand the test of time always will be appreciated. We record the things we like, the things we want to hear more than once.

"And between us—with a wealth of advice from friends—this covers quite a field."

They now have 130 discs cut, many of which are in libraries nationwide. A copy of one of the most popular records spins behind the Iron Curtain.

When it turns, Dr. Edward Teller, the theoretical physicist, lecturer and the man of wisdom and wit presents exciting discussions on "the size and nature of the universe"-and " The theory of relativity."

Mrs. Klein said the Teller record has been ordered for distribution to high schools. It went behind the Iron Curtain when a scientist at Moscow University ordered it.

The Kleins, parents of four, recently moved their record operation out of the family home in New Rochelle, N.Y.

The firm's releases employ such diverse talents as Emlyn Williams reading Dickens, Perelman reading Perelman, William Butler Yeats reading his poems—and T. S. Eliot discoursing on cats.

Also — Brendan Behan singing and commenting on Irish folksongs, Nancy Wickwire reading Emily Dickinson's poetry, Hiram Sherman reading Mark Twain's yarns.

"We want to give the best of fiction, drama, poetry, essay and commentary to the people who want it in their homes," Mrs. Klein said. "Anything of merit goes. We hold firmly to one criterion: Is this something you would want to hear again and again?"

Dr. Klein, president of the firm, earned his Ph.D. at the Sorbonne. A graduate of the University of Michigan and a native of Carbondale, Pa., he taught at Michigan and the University of California.

An actor and producer, he worked in England and continental Europe. He was the first American appointed to the directing staff of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

American Men Hit For Tie Selections

LONDON (UPI)—British men are bad at choosing ties but Americans are worse, the Tie Manufacturers' Association said Wednesday.

In a "mood guide" to tie colors, the association said Englishmen "are squares when it comes to picking colors that contrast successfully with a suit."

But in America, it said, things are so bad some makers have found it necessary to label each tie with the suit color with which it should be worn.

"Today all that is left to a man to express his own individuality is his tie," said the association. It issued the following advice:

"Men—and women—buying ties should do it in the same spirit as buying flowers. They should lay out their money on color, whether it is blended or pure. They should adventure and enjoy themselves and not buy a tie because it is 'safe' rather than because it attracts them."

Record 50 Million Students To Enter Schools In Fall

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 50 million students—an all-time record for any country—will enroll in U.S. schools this fall.

The prospective enrollment includes about 39 million in public schools, 6.7 million in private and parochial schools, and 4.5 million in colleges and universities.

The student population of America's school system has been growing steadily for the past 18 years at an average rate of more than 3 per cent a year. The upsurge in enrollment is partly the result of population growth, but it also is partly the result of changing social and economic patterns which put a higher premium on education and cause a higher percentage of youths to attend school for longer periods of time.

Although states and communities have been building new public school classrooms at a feverish rate of about 60,000 a year, the construction boom has barely been able to keep pace with enrollment increases and the necessary abandonment of unsafe and obsolete structures.

Thus the outlook is that many school districts again will face overcrowding and half-day sessions this fall. Last year, in the nation as a whole, schools had about 1.7 million students more than they theoretically were able to handle within their rated capacity. The National Education Association anticipates a shortage of about 127,000 classrooms this fall.

Although there will be more qualified teachers than last year—at least 3 per cent more, according to NEA calculations—the increase will be largely offset by higher enrollments. Thus, many school districts again will have to rely on teachers who lack full certification.

Gang Member Is Sentenced

GENEVA, Ill. (UPI) —A member of a now-shattered robbery-torture gang was sentenced Wednesday for murder in the Chicago area's first gangland slaying sentencing since prohibition days.

Alex Wallace, 28, was sentenced to 33 to 55 years for shooting Herbert Kwate, whom authorities believe "knew too much." At the same time in Kane County Circuit Court, Gary D'Allessandro, 25, another member of the gang, was arraigned on murder charges and set for trial Sept. 17.

Police said Wallace, D'Allessandro and Kwate all were members of a gang that specialized in invading wealthy Chicago suburban homes, then torturing and robbing their residents.

Nick Guido, 41, alleged gang leader, and Frank Yonder, 22, accused of being a member of the gang, were ordered extradited Wednesday from Michigan where they were arrested 10 days ago.

Wallace admitted he fired the first shot at Kwate last June and said he handed the gun to D'Allessandro who emptied the pistol. Kwate's body was found in a ravine near Carpentersville, Ill.

They now have 130 discs cut, many of which are in libraries nationwide. A copy of one of the most popular records spins behind the Iron Curtain.

When it turns, Dr. Edward Teller, the theoretical physicist, lecturer and the man of wisdom and wit presents exciting discussions on "the size and nature of the universe"-and " The theory of relativity."

Mrs. Klein said the Teller record has been ordered for distribution to high schools. It went behind the Iron Curtain when a scientist at Moscow University ordered it.

The Kleins, parents of four, recently moved their record operation out of the family home in New Rochelle, N.Y.

The firm's releases employ such diverse talents as Emlyn Williams reading Dickens, Perelman reading Perelman, William Butler Yeats reading his poems—and T. S. Eliot discoursing on cats.

Also — Brendan Behan singing and commenting on Irish folksongs, Nancy Wickwire reading Emily Dickinson's poetry, Hiram Sherman reading Mark Twain's yarns.

"We want to give the best of fiction, drama, poetry, essay and commentary to the people who want it in their homes," Mrs. Klein said. "Anything of merit goes. We hold firmly to one criterion: Is this something you would want to hear again and again?"

Dr. Klein, president of the firm, earned his Ph.D. at the Sorbonne. A graduate of the University of Michigan and a native of Carbondale, Pa., he taught at Michigan and the University of California.

An actor and producer, he worked in England and continental Europe. He was the first American appointed to the directing staff of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

American Men Hit For Tie Selections

LONDON (UPI)—British men are bad at choosing ties but Americans are worse, the Tie Manufacturers' Association said Wednesday.

In a "mood guide" to tie colors, the association said Englishmen "are squares when it comes to picking colors that contrast successfully with a suit."

But in America, it said, things are so bad some makers have found it necessary to label each tie with the suit color with which it should be worn.

"Today all that is left to a man to express his own individuality is his tie," said the association. It issued the following advice:

"Men—and women—buying ties should do it in the same spirit as buying flowers. They should lay out their money on color, whether it is blended or pure. They should adventure and enjoy themselves and not buy a tie because it is 'safe' rather than because it attracts them."

Record 50 Million Students To Enter Schools In Fall

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 50 million students—an all-time record for any country—will enroll in U.S. schools this fall.

The prospective enrollment includes about 39 million in public schools, 6.7 million in private and parochial schools, and 4.5 million in colleges and universities.

The student population of America's school system has been growing steadily for the past 18 years at an average rate of more than 3 per cent a year. The upsurge in enrollment is partly the result of population growth, but it also is partly the result of changing social and economic patterns which put a higher premium on education and cause a higher percentage of youths to attend school for longer periods of time.

Although states and communities have been building new public school classrooms at a feverish rate of about 60,000 a year, the construction boom has barely been able to keep pace with enrollment increases and the necessary abandonment of unsafe and obsolete structures.

Thus the outlook is that many school districts again will face overcrowding and half-day sessions this fall. Last year, in the nation as a whole, schools had about 1.7 million students more than they theoretically were able to handle within their rated capacity. The National Education Association anticipates a shortage of about 127,000 classrooms this fall.

Although there will be more qualified teachers than last year—at least 3 per cent more, according to NEA calculations—the increase will be largely offset by higher enrollments. Thus, many school districts again will have to rely on teachers who lack full certification.

Gang Member Is Sentenced

GENEVA, Ill. (UPI) —A member of a now-shattered robbery-torture gang was sentenced Wednesday for murder in the Chicago area's first gangland slaying sentencing since prohibition days.

Alex Wallace, 28, was sentenced to 33 to 55 years for shooting Herbert Kwate, whom authorities believe "knew too much." At the same time in Kane County Circuit Court, Gary D'Allessandro, 25, another member of the gang, was arraigned on murder charges and set for trial Sept. 17.

Police said Wallace, D'Allessandro and Kwate all were members of a gang that specialized in invading wealthy Chicago suburban homes, then torturing and robbing their residents.

Nick Guido, 41, alleged gang leader, and Frank Yonder, 22, accused of being a member of the gang, were ordered extradited Wednesday from Michigan where they were arrested 10 days ago.

Wallace admitted he fired the first shot at Kwate last June and said he handed the gun to D'Allessandro who emptied the pistol. Kwate's body was found in a ravine near Carpentersville, Ill.

Indo-Dutch Pact Preventive Diplomacy

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. diplomats see a notable success for "preventive diplomacy" in the settlement by Holland and Indonesia Wednesday of the long-festering dispute over West New Guinea.

The agreement transferring the territory from Dutch to Indonesian control, at the least, removes a canker between the two U.S. friends and spikes Moscow's avowed desire for a settlement by force.

Some Washington policy-makers had feared the friction could spread into a major South Asian war sucking in the big powers.

As it is now, predictions are for a rebirth of mutually helpful contacts between the Netherlands and its one-time colony and removal of an irritant in the Southeast Asia area where the United States has troubles enough already.

West New Guinea was already one of the international sore spots when the Kennedy administration took over in January 1961—along with several dozen other issues.

The Dutch had held on to West New Guinea when giving Indonesia independence in 1949. The Indonesians said the territory rightfully belonged to them. No particular solution seemed in sight.

As part of an effort to erase international disputes before they flared up — preventive diplomacy —even if America was not directly involved, Washington undertook to get the ball rolling on a West New Guinea settlement.

President Kennedy had the West New Guinea issue at least partly in mind when he extended to President Sukarno in February 1961 an invitation to visit the United States. But the main progress was imparted in secret negotiations shepherded, under the U.N. umbrella of neutrality, by Ellsworth Bunker.

Bunker, a 68-year-old U.S. businessman with a sideline of important diplomatic assignments in the past, was called out of retirement for the job.

Bunker came up with a compromise formula which, in Dutch-Indonesian secret talks started in Washington last March, has wound up in essence as the peace settlement accepted by both sides.

The agreement provides for transfer of West New Guinea by Holland first to the U.N. Then the U.N. will turn over the territory to Indonesia, which is to conduct a self-determination plebiscite for West New Guinea's Papuan natives in 1969.

Wall Street Views

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market analysts are encouraged by the way that few sellers have been crowding around when prices have taken dips recently.

In the fine art of looking for trend clues, Wall Streets see this as an indication that market psychology leans more heavily on the upside than on the downside.

John Flanagan of Josephthal and Co. commented that those on the market floor have been impressed by the way the market has tended to dry up on declines, with little stock coming in for sale.

Speculative interest, he says, seems stronger on the advance side.

Thomson and Mc Kinnon has made a similar observation, commenting: "A tone of underlying firmness has been in evidence of late as comments on the economy have become friendlier. There has been a marked absence of selling pressure."

Sidney Lurie of Josephthal & Co. sees growing confidence "that the economy will not fall apart this summer." But he adds that the market seems to be experiencing a decline in selling interest more than any new vigor in buying interest.

Other analysts comment similarly that this stronger movement in the market has yet to assure a continued or sharp advance.

The President's speech describing a recession as unlikely was seen as helpful to market attitudes, but whether it would be enough to cause a real breakthrough was widely debated.

In order to digest the food you eat your body manufactures enzymes. LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill's physician said Thursday the former prime minister is "very well" but no date has been set yet for his departure from the hospital. Lady Churchill said Wednesday night that Sir Winston, hospitalized since he broke his thigh bone June 29, was expected to be home within a week.

D.C. Liquor Bill Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House District Committee sent back to subcommittee Wednesday a bill to revamp liquor laws in the nation's capital.

The move, which came on a 12-11 vote, could mean death for the bill this year. Subcommittee Chairman Abraham J .Multer, D-N. Y., said his group would seek to redraft the measure as quickly as possible.

Opponents of the bill claim it would fix liquor prices and hurt small operators. It would set up a price formula to prevent below cost sales as a customer lure, ban group advertising by retailers and require solicitors for out-of-town distillers to secure a $100 permit for each supplier they represent.

Distillers selling through solicitors instead of local warehouses would also be required to buy a $250 license yearly.

Many Marylanders and Virginians buy liquor in Washington because it costs less there than in their states.

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market analysts are encouraged by the way that few sellers have been crowding around when prices have taken dips recently.

In the fine art of looking for trend clues, Wall Streets see this as an indication that market psychology leans more heavily on the upside than on the downside.

John Flanagan of Josephthal and Co. commented that those on the market floor have been impressed by the way the market has tended to dry up on declines, with little stock coming in for sale.

Speculative interest, he says, seems stronger on the advance side.

Thomson and Mc Kinnon has made a similar observation, commenting: "A tone of underlying firmness has been in evidence of late as comments on the economy have become friendlier. There has been a marked absence of selling pressure."

Sidney Lurie of Josephthal & Co. sees growing confidence "that the economy will not fall apart this summer." But he adds that the market seems to be experiencing a decline in selling interest more than any new vigor in buying interest.

Other analysts comment similarly that this stronger movement in the market has yet to assure a continued or sharp advance.

The President's speech describing a recession as unlikely was seen as helpful to market attitudes, but whether it would be enough to cause a real breakthrough was widely debated.

In order to digest the food you eat your body manufactures enzymes. If your enzymatic action falls below par you often suffer gas, indigestion, heartburn and other uncomfortable forms of stomach distress! Now you can aid digestion before distress begins! A new digestant enzyme capsule, called MIAZYME, supplements the enzymes in your body, thus helping prevent distress and acid rebound. Anti-acids only relieve distress after it strikes. So why risk stomach upset when just 2 MIAZYME capsules a day may eliminate discomfort and open the door to new vistas in food enjoyment. So safe, no prescription is needed. Help break the anti-acid routine . . . ask your druggist for MIAZYME today. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only $1.50. Economy size, $3.00.

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, will visit the latter's mother, the Countess of Ross at her castle in Ireland next Thursday.

DEATH IN TWO PARTS — A young girl was killed and three other persons injured when this car folded itself around a steel post near Johannesburg, South Africa, after skidding out of control. The impact almost cut the automobile in two. Ironically, the sign on the post indicates parking is forbidden. (AP Photofax)

Winnie Very Well

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill's physician said Thursday the former prime minister is "very well" but no date has been set yet for his departure from the hospital. Lady Churchill said Wednesday night that Sir Winston, hospitalized since he broke his thigh bone June 29, was expected to be home within a week.

D.C. Liquor Bill Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House District Committee sent back to subcommittee Wednesday a bill to revamp liquor laws in the nation's capital.

The move, which came on a 12-11 vote, could mean death for the bill this year. Subcommittee Chairman Abraham J .Multer, D-N. Y., said his group would seek to redraft the measure as quickly as possible.

Opponents of the bill claim it would fix liquor prices and hurt small operators. It would set up a price formula to prevent below cost sales as a customer lure, ban group advertising by retailers and require solicitors for out-of-town distillers to secure a $100 permit for each supplier they represent.

Distillers selling through solicitors instead of local warehouses would also be required to buy a $250 license yearly.

Many Marylanders and Virginians buy liquor in Washington because it costs less there than in their states.

Illinois Will Retain B&O Railroad Flagmen

The B&O Railroad, ordered by the public service commissions of Maryland and West Virginia to restore flagmen on its passenger trains, has received a temporary setback on this issue in another state that it serves.

The Illinois Commerce Commission ordered the railroad to restore flagmen on Trains 1 and 2, the National Limited, and Trains 11 and 12, the Metropolitan Special, until final determination by the commission of the issues in the case.

B&O dropped flagmen assignments on those trains which operate through the southern part of Illinois between the Missouri-Illinois and the Indiana-Illinois state lines, a distance of 139 miles.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen filed a formal complaint with the Illinois Commerce Commission that there was inadequate read end flagging protection.

The same complaint was filed by the BRT with the Maryland and West Virginia public service commissioners.

The railroad had abolished the job of flagman and made a combination position, flagman-baggageman, on its passengers.

After receiving orders in Maryland and West Virginia to restore the flagmen to the rear of the trains, the railroad changed the consist of the passengers, putting the baggage car at the rear of the train instead of being just behind the locomotives.

Mt. Savage Girls Attending Institute

MT. SAVAGE—Three local girls are attending the second annual Journalism Institute at West Virginia University in Morgantown this week. They are Carol Grabowski, Judy Boyce and Nancy Paul, seniors at Mt. Savage High School.

There are 85 other high school students from three states attending the institute.

SPEAKER—The Rev. John J. Dawson Jr., above, pastor of Glen Mar Methodist Church, Ellicott City, will speak at Centre Street Methodist Church Sunday at 10 a. m.

K Of C Group Picnic Sunday

The annual family picnic of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will be staged next Sunday at Marydale, on Oldtown Road, beginning at 1 p.m.

Joseph A. Soethe, faithful navigator, has appointed Lawrence Geiger as chairman of arrangements. A program of games and entertainment for children and adults is being arranged.

Soethe said the guest list is expected to include Rev. Ernest Horning, OFM Cap., faithful friar of the assembly and recently appointed pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church.

Assisting with arrangements are John Stevens, George Lovenstein, James Kenney, Gregory King, Thomas Carroll, Thomas Carney, Francis Warner and Sylvester Shricliff.

The Columbian Squires, headed by John Kreidler Jr., will assist in serving refreshments, Geiger stated. Others assisting will be:

Leo Powers, James Stitcher and Raymond Beckner, kitchen; Louis Nasser, James Cirillo and Frank Yockus, corn; Edward Lyons, public address system; Raymond O'Neal, Michael McDade, Andrew Saliga, Valentine Lydinger, Paul Cline and Joseph Sirna, grounds.

Patrick Hopkins, Robert Shultz, Ronald Atkinson, James Quinn, Arthur Young and Donald Robinson, gate; Thomas Struntz, Paul Cline, Hillary Green and Joseph Stakem, games for children.

Soethe said there will be a charge for adults attending, but that children will be admitted free.

Throughout the year, the harbors of northern Norway, well above the Arctic Circle, are ice-free because of the warming northward drift of the Gulf Stream.

Cub Pack Plans Wild West Show

MT. SAVAGE — Cub Pack 50, sponsored by St. George's Episcopal Church, will hold a Wild West Show at the pack meeting August 21 in the cubmaster's backyard at 7 p.m.

Cubs will come as cowboys and Indians and their parents and brothers and sisters are to dress in outfits pertaining to the "Old West." Prizes for the most authentic and funniest costumes of a man, woman and child will be given.

A cake walk and contests with prizes for the winners will be featured and the closing will be an Indian ceremony, "Burning the White Man at the Stake." In the event of rain the meeting will be in St. George's parish hall.

Rice is said to have been introduced in America nearly 270 years ago.

U. S. Route 40 Modernization Work Progressing

Excellent progress is being made on the modernization of U. S. Route 40 from the Lindnerville section at the eastern city limits to Nave's Crossroad, according to George Geary, assistant engineer at the district office of the State Roads Commission.

The Cumberland Contracting Company is doing the work on the $941,430 project which includes a dual lane highway almost two miles long and an overhead bridge at the top of Long Hill to serve residents of that area without the necessity of cars driving onto the highway. The entire project is 70.9 per cent complete.

The George Construction Company has a subcontract for the bridge work. The excavated fill dirt from the Route 40 job is being used in the grading work from Route 40 to U. S. Route 220 parallel to the Crossroad.

The S. J. Grove Company project from the top of Polish Mountain to Davis Road on U. S. Route 40 is 79 per cent complete. The highway is being relocated and paved at a cost of $963,959.

Another segment of U. S. Route 40 which is part of the general modernization program is the grading and drainage by the S. T. Brotemarkle Company from Watson Road to Mountain Road.

This is an entirely new route for the highway and will cut the present grade over Town Hill Mountain from 10 per cent to a four and one-half per cent gradient. The present roadway will be used as only the relocation and grading and drainage work is included in this construction season's program. Total cost of the project is $688,371.

The fourth Route 40 project between Cumberland and the Washington County line is the modernization of the highway from Watson Road to Sideling Hill Creek.

The George F. Hazelwood Company is doing the work and has the job almost completed with a 93 per cent progress report as of last week. The contract for this work was let for $812,657.

In Garrett County work is progressing on a bridge across Bear Creek which will be part of an entirely relocated U.S. Route 219 from Keyser Ridge at the intersection of U.S. Route 40 to Accident. The road between Keyser Ridge and Bear Creek is about seven miles long and it is then several miles more to Accident.

A second project in Garrett County, relocation and surfacing of Route 42 in the Friendsville area is 98 per cent completed by the Baughman Construction Company. Cost of the work is $379,425. Only seeding of the slopes along the roadway remains to be done.

Deaths And Funeral Notices In The Tri-State Area

P. SEWELL FLETCHER

P. Sewell Fletcher, 42, a former resident of Cumberland, died yesterday in Tyler, Texas where he recently had been transferred as a member of the staff of the new Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

A native of Cumberland, he was a son of the late Daniel A. and Julia (Barnard) Fletcher and a graduate of Allegany High School. He was a veteran of World War II.

Mr. Fletcher was a brother of Paul M. Fletcher, former state's attorney for Allegany County and presently a member of the Maryland Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Married to the former Miss Doris Jeanne Tyler, they have two young daughters, Jennifer and Susan, both at home.

Surviving, besides his widow, daughters and brother, are another brother, Daniel A. Fletcher Jr., Silver Spring, and a sister, Mrs. Frances Ward, Warsaw, Ind.

The family requests that flowers be omitted and contributions be made to the Heart Fund.

The body will be returned to the Stein Funeral Home tomorrow where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Services will be conducted there Sunday at 2 p.m. by Rev. B. F. Hartman. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

DUCKWORTH SERVICES

Services for Mathias (Tice) Duckworth, 68, of RFD 1, Oldtown, who died Wednesday in Memorial Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home by Rev. Alvin Latham. Burial will be in Forest Glen Cemetery at Green Spring, W. Va.

FRANK J. PAETOW

Frank J. Paetow, 70, of Corriganville, died yesterday evening in Sylvan Retreat.

A native of Baltimore, he was a son of the late Emil and Catherine (Deigert) Paetow. Mr. Paetow was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his widow, Esther (Geiger) Paetow; five stepchildren, Vincent Fleegle, Corriganville; Leo and Allen Fleegle and Mrs. Helen, all of Baltimore, and Mrs. Kathleen DePey, also of Corriganville; a brother, Henry Paetow, Baltimore; three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Erdman, Mrs. Matilda Blum and Mrs. Marie Skhur, all of Baltimore, and seven grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Corriganville United Church of Christ by Rev. John Zinn, pastor. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

The body is at the Zeigler Funeral Home, Hyndman, and will be taken to the residence of Clarence DePew, Corriganville, tomorrow at 10 a.m.

HARRY SEE

Harry See, former national legislative representative for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who spoke and visited in Cumberland many times while stationed in Washington, died recently of a heart attack while fishing at Grand Lake Stream, Maine.

He retired January 1 after serving as national legislative representative since his election to the BRT's top legislative post at the 1946 convention.

His body was returned to Oakland, Calif., his home, where services were held August 10.

HOUCK FUNERAL

A requiem mass for Henry A. Houck, 91, of 485 Williams Street, who died Tuesday in Memorial Hospital, will be celebrated Saturday at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial will be in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited today at 8:30 p.m.

Pallbearers will be Russell Swartley, Andrew Rice, Samuel Catlett, Willis Timbrook, Norman Smith and Junior Peer.

MILLS FUNERAL

Services for Joseph Wilson Mills, 83, formerly of 523 Cumberland Street, who died Wednesday at the county home, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. B. F. Hartman. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery, Lonaconing.

A son of the late Samuel and Sarah (Nightengale) Mills, he was born January 27, 1879. He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Among his survivors are two nieces, Mrs. Lester Engle, Eckhart, with whom he previously resided, and Mrs. Albert Jenkins, Grahamtown.

Pallbearers will be Paul Hendrickson, John Stitcher, David Rennie and John Powers.

JAMES E. LEWIS

PARSONS, W. Va. — James Edward Lewis, 69, of Hambleton, died Wednesday in Tucker County Hospital after a long illness.

Born in Westernport, Md., he was a son of the late Samuel and Ida (Harding) Lewis. Mr. Lewis was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his widow, Nellie A. (Summerfield) Lewis; two daughters, Misses Helen L. and Margaret R. Lewis, both at home and three step-children, Glen C., Judith L. and Laura E. Summerfield, all at home.

The body will be at the Greenlief Funeral Home after 3:30 p.m. today.

Services will be conducted there tomorrow at 2 p.m. by Rev. Meade Gutshall, pastor of First Methodist Church. Burial will be in Collett Cemetery at Hambleton.

Lyon Is Named To B & O Position

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has announced the appointment of James T. Lyon as assistant to vice president-accounting and freight claims.

Lyon, 40, has served the railroad since October 1, 1959, as financial and tax consultant. Prior to that time, he practiced law in Washington, D. C. and New York City, after service in the office of the chief counsel, Bureau of Internal Revenue.

A native of Butte, Montana, Lyon studied at the Montana School of Mines and Montana state University. He received his A.B. degree from the University of Chicago in 1947, and his law degree from that university in 1948.

During Warld War II, Lyon served in the Army Signal Corps and Army Air Force.

He is the author of a book, "Depreciation and Taxes," soon to be released by the Bureau of National Affairs.

P. SEWELL FLETCHER

P. Sewell Fletcher, 42, a former resident of Cumberland, died yesterday in Tyler, Texas where he recently had been transferred as a member of the staff of the new Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

A native of Cumberland, he was a son of the late Daniel A. and Julia (Barnard) Fletcher and a graduate of Allegany High School. He was a veteran of World War II.

Mr. Fletcher was a brother of Paul M. Fletcher, former state's attorney for Allegany County and presently a member of the Maryland Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Married to the former Miss Doris Jeanne Tyler, they have two young daughters, Jennifer and Susan, both at home.

Surviving, besides his widow, daughters and brother, are another brother, Daniel A. Fletcher Jr., Silver Spring, and a sister, Mrs. Frances Ward, Warsaw, Ind.

The family requests that flowers be omitted and contributions be made to the Heart Fund.

The body will be returned to the Stein Funeral Home tomorrow where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Services will be conducted there Sunday at 2 p.m. by Rev. B. F. Hartman. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

DUCKWORTH SERVICES

Services for Mathias (Tice) Duckworth, 68, of RFD 1, Oldtown, who died Wednesday in Memorial Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home by Rev. Alvin Latham. Burial will be in Forest Glen Cemetery at Green Spring, W. Va.

FRANK J. PAETOW

Frank J. Paetow, 70, of Corriganville, died yesterday evening in Sylvan Retreat.

A native of Baltimore, he was a son of the late Emil and Catherine (Deigert) Paetow. Mr. Paetow was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his widow, Esther (Geiger) Paetow; five stepchildren, Vincent Fleegle, Corriganville; Leo and Allen Fleegle and Mrs. Helen, all of Baltimore, and Mrs. Kathleen DePey, also of Corriganville; a brother, Henry Paetow, Baltimore; three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Erdman, Mrs. Matilda Blum and Mrs. Marie Skhur, all of Baltimore, and seven grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Corriganville United Church of Christ by Rev. John Zinn, pastor. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

The body is at the Zeigler Funeral Home, Hyndman, and will be taken to the residence of Clarence DePew, Corriganville, tomorrow at 10 a.m.

HARRY SEE

Harry See, former national legislative representative for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who spoke and visited in Cumberland many times while stationed in Washington, died recently of a heart attack while fishing at Grand Lake Stream, Maine.

He retired January 1 after serving as national legislative representative since his election to the BRT's top legislative post at the 1946 convention.

His body was returned to Oakland, Calif., his home, where services were held August 10.

HOUCK FUNERAL

A requiem mass for Henry A. Houck, 91, of 485 Williams Street, who died Tuesday in Memorial Hospital, will be celebrated Saturday at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial will be in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited today at 8:30 p.m.

Pallbearers will be Russell Swartley, Andrew Rice, Samuel Catlett, Willis Timbrook, Norman Smith and Junior Peer.

MILLS FUNERAL

Services for Joseph Wilson Mills, 83, formerly of 523 Cumberland Street, who died Wednesday at the county home, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. B. F. Hartman. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery, Lonaconing.

A son of the late Samuel and Sarah (Nightengale) Mills, he was born January 27, 1879. He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Among his survivors are two nieces, Mrs. Lester Engle, Eckhart, with whom he previously resided, and Mrs. Albert Jenkins, Grahamtown.

Pallbearers will be Paul Hendrickson, John Stitcher, David Rennie and John Powers.

JAMES E. LEWIS

PARSONS, W. Va. — James Edward Lewis, 69, of Hambleton, died Wednesday in Tucker County Hospital after a long illness.

Born in Westernport, Md., he was a son of the late Samuel and Ida (Harding) Lewis. Mr. Lewis was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his widow, Nellie A. (Summerfield) Lewis; two daughters, Misses Helen L. and Margaret R. Lewis, both at home and three step-children, Glen C., Judith L. and Laura E. Summerfield, all at home.

The body will be at the Greenlief Funeral Home after 3:30 p.m. today.

Services will be conducted there tomorrow at 2 p.m. by Rev. Meade Gutshall, pastor of First Methodist Church. Burial will be in Collett Cemetery at Hambleton.

Party Held For Family

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Olive Patton, Bowery Street, honored Mrs. Michael Patton and daughter, Gail Yvonne, with a party recently at her home.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Harris, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Winters, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groves, Cleveland; Mrs. Henry Harris, Mrs. Herman Humberson and family; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Patton and daughter; Mrs. David Thomas, and children; Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Martirano and daughter; Mrs. Fred Thomas, Rose Marie Patton and Francis Patton.

Three ABL'ers Cited By Rocket Society

Three more employes at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory have been appointed to the grade of senior member in the American Rocket Society, according to Albert M. Jacobs, president of the society's Allegheny Section.

The men are William H. Fuller, superintendent of NASA and Launcher Department; John Hodges, a supervisor in the Advanced Design Department, and Harry A. Winnerling, a supervisor in the Rocket Development Department.

The senior member honors were awarded to the three employees in recognition of their contributions and accomplishments in the field of rocketry and space flight.

Senior members of ARS are professional persons with at least ten years experience in science or engineering in or related to rocketry and astronautics who have, by above average performance in at least four of those years, attained distinction in their fields.

Fuller, Hodges and Winnerling, all members of the Allegheny Section, were recommended for senior membership by Jacobs on the advice of the membership committee.

Fuller, a native of New York City, is a graduate of Yale University with a B. S. degree in chemical engineering at the University of Delaware Extension School.

He joined Hercules in 1950 as a chemical engineer at the company's Experiment Station, near Wilmington, Del. In 1952 he transferred to the Hercules plant in Burlington, N. J., where he served as instrument supervisor and area supervisor.

Fuller came to ABL in 1957 as a research assistant in the Rocket Development Department. He was promoted to project engineer, group supervisor and finally assistant superintendent of that department before he was named to his present post last February.

Besides the ARS, he is a member of the American Chemical Society and Alpha Chi Sigma.

Hodges is a native of Ellicott City, and a graduate of Washington College, Chestertown, with a B. S. degree in chemistry and physics.

Joining Hercules in 1951 as a research assistant at ABL, he was promoted to research specialist in 1956, and senior research physicist in 1959 before being assigned to his present position.

Hodges is a member of Kappa Alpha Order and active in Boy Scout work.

Winnerling is a native of Lancaster, Pa., where he earned his B. S. degree in physics at Franklin and Marshall College.

He began with Hercules in 1941 as a trainee at the Research Center, near Wilmington, transferring soon after to Kenvil, N. J., as a research physicist. In 1942 he moved to Radford (Va.) Ordnance Plant as a development physicist.

From 1945 to 1948, Winnerling was employed by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company as a physicist before joining ABL as a research assistant. In his career at ABL, he has been a research associate section supervisor and presently is a group supervisor.

Opening lead: Ace of ♦

Declarer got away with an aggressively bid slam contract today, when his opponent failed to attack the dummy in the only direction where it might do some good.

South's jump rebid to four spades was an overly ambitious move considering that he had five losers in the minor suits. North can not be blamed for bidding the slam since he had controls in all the other suits.

West opened fire with the ace of diamonds, and it is his play at trick two that makes or breaks the defense. Seeing the singleton diamond in dummy, West hastily shifted to a trump, in a feeble effort to cut down diamond ruffs. Declarer was quick to capitalize on the advantage in timing that was now his.

In light of West's preemptive jump overcall, it was highly unlikely that declarer would be able to safely ruff out both of his losing diamonds, for East did not rate to have more than a doubleton in the suit. South's best prospect therefore was to establish the heart suit in dummy.

After West's trump shift was taken in the closed hand, declarer cashed the king and queen of hearts. He then ruffed a diamond in dummy, and led a low heart trumping with the ace in his hand to establish the suit. Trumps were drawn and dummy reentered with the ace of clubs. South's remaining diamond and club losers were thrown on the two high hearts.

West should have realized that there was no hope in trying to cut down the dummy's ruffing power. The only constructive move that it was in his power to make was to hinder declarer's efforts to establish the dummy's long suit. This could be accomplished only by attacking North's side entry, the ace of clubs. Observe that, if West leads a club at trick two, South will be unable to reach the heart suit once he has set it up.

Man Found Guilty In Jobless Pay Case

A Corriganville man was found guilty yesterday of giving a false statement to obtain unemployment compensation.

The man, Gerald C. Burkett, 30, pleaded guilty to the charge before Magistrate Paul M. Barnett.

Magistrate Barnett sentenced the man to 60 days in jail, but suspended the sentence on condition he make restitution in the amount of $468 within a year.

Donald W. Mason, deputy state's attorney, presented the case and informed the court Burkett obtained the $468 during the period April 24, 1961 through July 21, 1961.

Mason stated that a number of Allegany County residents misunderstand the unemployment compensation law concerning reporting money earned.

Mason said that residents of the area are under the false opinion that they do not have to report money earned under $7. However, the law requires that every cent earned must be reported.

Mason noted that under law a person may earn up to $7 weekly and still receive full employment benefits. However, failing to report the small amount violates the law and makes a person ineligible for benefits.

Opening lead: Ace of ♦

Declarer got away with an aggressively bid slam contract today, when his opponent failed to attack the dummy in the only direction where it might do some good.

South's jump rebid to four spades was an overly ambitious move considering that he had five losers in the minor suits. North can not be blamed for bidding the slam since he had controls in all the other suits.

West opened fire with the ace of diamonds, and it is his play at trick two that makes or breaks the defense. Seeing the singleton diamond in dummy, West hastily shifted to a trump, in a feeble effort to cut down diamond ruffs. Declarer was quick to capitalize on the advantage in timing that was now his.

In light of West's preemptive jump overcall, it was highly unlikely that declarer would be able to safely ruff out both of his losing diamonds, for East did not rate to have more than a doubleton in the suit. South's best prospect therefore was to establish the heart suit in dummy.

After West's trump shift was taken in the closed hand, declarer cashed the king and queen of hearts. He then ruffed a diamond in dummy, and led a low heart trumping with the ace in his hand to establish the suit. Trumps were drawn and dummy reentered with the ace of clubs. South's remaining diamond and club losers were thrown on the two high hearts.

West should have realized that there was no hope in trying to cut down the dummy's ruffing power. The only constructive move that it was in his power to make was to hinder declarer's efforts to establish the dummy's long suit. This could be accomplished only by attacking North's side entry, the ace of clubs. Observe that, if West leads a club at trick two, South will be unable to reach the heart suit once he has set it up.

Man Found Guilty In Jobless Pay Case

A Corriganville man was found guilty yesterday of giving a false statement to obtain unemployment compensation.

The man, Gerald C. Burkett, 30, pleaded guilty to the charge before Magistrate Paul M. Barnett.

Magistrate Barnett sentenced the man to 60 days in jail, but suspended the sentence on condition he make restitution in the amount of $468 within a year.

Donald W. Mason, deputy state's attorney, presented the case and informed the court Burkett obtained the $468 during the period April 24, 1961 through July 21, 1961.

Mason stated that a number of Allegany County residents misunderstand the unemployment compensation law concerning reporting money earned.

Mason said that residents of the area are under the false opinion that they do not have to report money earned under $7. However, the law requires that every cent earned must be reported.

Mason noted that under law a person may earn up to $7 weekly and still receive full employment benefits. However, failing to report the small amount violates the law and makes a person ineligible for benefits.

How Do You Buy A Lipstick?

What attracts you to a certain lipstick? — its container or its contents?

A lot of women can't define the reasons why they select certain lipsticks. Pinned down, many will confess that they are motivated by sheer emotion — a subliminal response to brand names, to advertising gimmicks and, most of all, to the tricky titles the manufacturers invent to describe lipstick shades (even though most of the lipstick names, nowadays, connote little concerning color).

So what! say the girls. Lipsticks are all alike anyway!

Not so. Cosmetic houses may come close in duplicating one another's efforts in maintaining the quality of their products and in providing variety in color. How they do this is no mystery to anyone who understands chemistry. They're also able to stay fairly competitive in their packaging of lipsticks and in the presentation of that package to consumers, no surprise at all to anyone who comprehends basic business routines.

If all these similarities were to mean that women could choose their lipsticks at random—even blindfolded if it weren't for those enchanting names and containers—business prospects for cosmetics manufacturers would be bleak indeed. It would be a miracle if all of them could remain in operation. Which they are doing.

Why? Because they do offer differences . . . differences so subtle that they can't be judged by outside trappings or the conjuring of copywriters. Even price tags can't tell much — except about the cost of containers or advertising campaigns.

The difference is not found in the lipstick alone . . . but only in the way it appears on the woman who wears it.

No one lipstick looks the same on all lips. Its color and all its other characteristics will react to the physical differences of each wearer. That's the chameleon-like aspect of cosmetics.

The only sensibile testing ground for lipstick is on the lips, not on the hand, particularly if the hand is attached to the salesgirl behind the cosmetics counter. That's what makes samples so nice, when the manufacturer is thoughtful (and business-wise) enough to offer them. When new shades cannot be sampled, buy the small size tube first and live awhile with the color before you make up your mind about it.

Sample brands as well as shades . . . and don't be too amazed if your lipstick "wardrobe" eventually includes a rainbow of several brands, each kind and color keyed individually to YOU.

It is estimated that one-sixth of the rain that falls in the United States is absorbed by vegetation or sinks into the ground.

W. Va. Natural Resources To Be Discussed Aug. 31

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI)—A planned discussion by some of the state's natural resources authorities Aug. 31 will highlight the 27th annual meeting of the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce.

Managing director Earle L. Elmore said the three-day meeting starting Aug. 30 also will include committee meetings, election of officers and directors and a full slate of social and sporting events.

Elmore said the resources experts would discuss "The Case for Water Resources Development in West Virginia" under the direction of Walter C. Gumbel, conservationist for Monongahela Power Co. Included on the panel are Arthur H. Ritchie, Ravenswood; Harry Scherr Jr., Huntington, and State Natural Resources Director Warden M. Lane.

Other speakers for the event include State Tax Commissioner C. Howard Hardesty Jr., Workmen's Compensation Commissioner Cletus B. Hanley, State Road Commissioner Burl A. Sawyers and Jay D. Little Jr., head of the Commerce Department's industrial development division.

About 300 of the state's business and professional leaders are expected to attend the meeting.

Wage Increase Bid Will Go To Council Monday

Officials of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association met yesterday afternoon with Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan concerning a proposal for a wage increase for members of the departments.

Attending the meeting held in Mr. Keegan's office in City Hall were John Chaney, president; Robert Meister, secretary, and William Walsh, attorney for the association.

Officials said a formal request will be made in a letter to the Mayor and Council Monday.

Electronic Technicians Are Sought By Navy

The Navy, which is in need of electronic technicians, is now offering a Navy electronic school for high school graduates.

Many colleges grant credits for the electronics training and operating procedures acquired in the Navy. Further information may be obtained at the Navy recruiting office at the Post Office here.

WINDBLOWN—A boy and woman sit waiting for medical attention near St. Ignace, Mich., their car nearly demolished. A violent windstorm blew the car off Route 2 west of the Mackinac Bridge, and it was buffeted over on its top.

20 Complete Water Course

Twenty persons have completed lifesaving and water safety courses offered by the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross at the Frostburg community pool.

Wayne Lee Davis issued certificates to those who completed the courses.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive-secretary of the chapter, said that those who completed the junior life-saving and water safety course are Duey Snyder, Richard Goldsworthy, Larry McGregor, Michael Truly, James Long, William Linn, and John Festerman, all of Frostburg, Alan Lokey, LaVale and George Tharp, Borden.

Robert Baker, Gary Baker, Joseph Coakley, Joseph James, Lillian Filer, John Nine, Patrick Quinn, Michael Kelly, Frostburg, and Beth Lokey, LaVale, received certificates for completing the senior lifesaving and water safety course.

John Croft of Frostburg got a renewal certificate in that course, said Mrs. Lindsay.

Property Transfers

Helen S. Buskey to State of Maryland, property on Route 52.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy J. Campbell to State of Maryland, property on Route 52.

Grace R. Coleman to State of Maryland, property on Oak Street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Glenn Watson Jr. and others to State of Maryland, property in District 4.

Domenick Chucci to J. Lear and Viola Mary Huffman, property at McCoole.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Himmler to Light and Decker Company, property on North Centre Street.

Allegany Land Company, Inc. and others to George W. and Pearl E. Price, property at Triple Lakes.

PITCHER WILLIAMS

BOSTON (UPI)—Famed slugger Ted Williams appeared in one game in his major league career as a pitcher. He pitched the last two innings of the first game of a doubleheader for Boston against Detroit, allowing three hits and one run, walking none and striking out one, as Detroit won, 12-1.

STITCHES

If proper care is given to a lawn, diseases are not likely to be a serious problem, say Extension specialists at West Virginia University.

Grass seedlings have little chance in old sod. Much seed is wasted every spring in attempts to seed in established grass.

Southern States Co-Op To Elect Board Members

LONACONING—Elections of advisory board and farm home advisory committee members, plus operations reports and the showing of a color film, "Jimmy Gets the Answers," will highlight the Southern States Cooperative annual membership meeting for the Lonaconing area August 29 in the VFW Home at 7 p. m. (DST).

Patrons and members planning to attend the business session should contact Clise Septic Tank and Building Supply Company for dinner tickets.

"Jimmy Gets the Answers" is a 20-minute movie strip which tells the story of the cooperative's Seed and Farm Supply Service through the eyes of an inquisitive young farm boy.

David Weir, Lonaconing, will serve as chairman of the local meeting. Elmer Clise, Midland, will give the invocation. Group singing will be led by Mrs. William Weir, Lonaconing.

A report on local operations and services will be given by Charles Clise, manager of Clise Septic Tank and Building Supply Company. David Nuzum, Clarksburg, a member of the Southern States regional staff, will report on over-all Southern States operations for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Nominees for the local Southern States advisory board for the Lonaconing area are Robert Broadwater, Barton; Elmer Clixe, Midland, and Lee Russell, Lonaconing. Nominees for the farm home advisory committee are Miss Zella Broadwater, Grantsville; Alvin Clixe, Midland; James Phillips, Charlestown, and Stanley Warwick, Barton.

The Election District 7 delegate and alternate nominees are Cecil Green, Barton; James Phillips, Charlestown, and David Weir, Lonaconing. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

Members of the board whose terms expire this year are James Phillips, Lonaconing, and Cecil Green, Barton. Members of the farm home advisory committee whose terms expire this year are Mesdames Elmer Clise, Midland, and Dewey C. Llewellyn, Barton.

Assisting with the local meeting are the following committee chairmen: Foods, Mrs. Vincent Jacobs, Lonaconing; decorations, Mrs. Bertus Beeman, Lonaconing; greeting, John Layton, Barton; ribbons, Mrs. Elmer Clise, Midland; ushering, Jesse Green, Barton, and entertainment, Mrs. William Weir, Lonaconing.

No wonder the English keep so cool!
(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink–and you will, too!)
The English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769, when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why, summer and winter, Gordon's Gin is the biggest seller in England, America, and indeed – the world!

W. Va. Natural Resources To Be Discussed Aug. 31

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI)—A planned discussion by some of the state's natural resources authorities Aug. 31 will highlight the 27th annual meeting of the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce.

Managing director Earle L. Elmore said the three-day meeting starting Aug. 30 also will include committee meetings, election of officers and directors and a full slate of social and sporting events.

Elmore said the resources experts would discuss "The Case for Water Resources Development in West Virginia" under the direction of Walter C. Gumbel, conservationist for Monongahela Power Co. Included on the panel are Arthur H. Ritchie, Ravenswood; Harry Scherr Jr., Huntington, and State Natural Resources Director Warden M. Lane.

Other speakers for the event include State Tax Commissioner C. Howard Hardesty Jr., Workmen's Compensation Commissioner Cletus B. Hanley, State Road Commissioner Burl A. Sawyers and Jay D. Little Jr., head of the Commerce Department's industrial development division.

About 300 of the state's business and professional leaders are expected to attend the meeting.

Wage Increase Bid Will Go To Council Monday

Officials of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association met yesterday afternoon with Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan concerning a proposal for a wage increase for members of the departments.

Attending the meeting held in Mr. Keegan's office in City Hall were John Chaney, president; Robert Meister, secretary, and William Walsh, attorney for the association.

Officials said a formal request will be made in a letter to the Mayor and Council Monday.

Electronic Technicians Are Sought By Navy

The Navy, which is in need of electronic technicians, is now offering a Navy electronic school for high school graduates.

Many colleges grant credits for the electronics training and operating procedures acquired in the Navy. Further information may be obtained at the Navy recruiting office at the Post Office here.

WINDBLOWN—A boy and woman sit waiting for medical attention near St. Ignace, Mich., their car nearly demolished. A violent windstorm blew the car off Route 2 west of the Mackinac Bridge, and it was buffeted over on its top.

20 Complete Water Course

Twenty persons have completed lifesaving and water safety courses offered by the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross at the Frostburg community pool.

Wayne Lee Davis issued certificates to those who completed the courses.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive-secretary of the chapter, said that those who completed the junior life-saving and water safety course are Duey Snyder, Richard Goldsworthy, Larry McGregor, Michael Truly, James Long, William Linn, and John Festerman, all of Frostburg, Alan Lokey, LaVale and George Tharp, Borden.

Robert Baker, Gary Baker, Joseph Coakley, Joseph James, Lillian Filer, John Nine, Patrick Quinn, Michael Kelly, Frostburg, and Beth Lokey, LaVale, received certificates for completing the senior lifesaving and water safety course.

John Croft of Frostburg got a renewal certificate in that course, said Mrs. Lindsay.

PITCHER WILLIAMS

BOSTON (UPI)—Famed slugger Ted Williams appeared in one game in his major league career as a pitcher. He pitched the last two innings of the first game of a doubleheader for Boston against Detroit, allowing three hits and one run, walking none and striking out one, as Detroit won, 12-1.

STITCHES

If proper care is given to a lawn, diseases are not likely to be a serious problem, say Extension specialists at West Virginia University.

Grass seedlings have little chance in old sod. Much seed is wasted every spring in attempts to seed in established grass.

Southern States Co-Op To Elect Board Members

LONACONING—Elections of advisory board and farm home advisory committee members, plus operations reports and the showing of a color film, "Jimmy Gets the Answers," will highlight the Southern States Cooperative annual membership meeting for the Lonaconing area August 29 in the VFW Home at 7 p. m. (DST).

Patrons and members planning to attend the business session snould contact Clise Septic Tank and Building Supply Company for dinner tickets.

"Jimmy Gets the Answers" is a 20-minute movie strip which tells the story of the cooperative's Seed and Farm Supply Service through the eyes of an inquisitive young farm boy.

David Weir, Lonaconing, will serve as chairman of the local meeting. Elmer Clise, Midland, will give the invocation. Group singing will be led by Mrs. William Weir, Lonaconing.

A report on local operations and services will be given by Charles Clise, manager of Clise Septic Tank and Building Supply Company. David Nuzum, Clarksburg, a member of the Southern States regional staff, will report on over-all Southern States operations for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Nominees for the local Southern States advisory board for the Lonaconing area are Robert Broadwater, Barton; Elmer Clixe, Midland, and Lee Russell, Lonaconing. Nominees for the farm home advisory committee are Miss Zella Broadwater, Grantsville; Alvin Clixe, Midland; James Phillips, Charlestown, and Stanley Warwick, Barton.

The Election District 7 delegate and alternate nominees are Cecil Green, Barton; James Phillips, Charlestown, and David Weir, Lonaconing. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

Members of the board whose terms expire this year are James Phillips, Lonaconing, and Cecil Green, Barton. Members of the farm home advisory committee whose terms expire this year are Mesdames Elmer Clise, Midland, and Dewey C. Llewellyn, Barton.

We May As Well Save The $50,000

No publication ever had as many editors devoting themselves to mystifying its readers as the Congressional Record. Critics of the Congressional Record are numerous. Many columns have been written about its overstuffed shortcomings.

Now, after discreetly ignoring the critics for many years, the House of Representatives has approved an appropriation of $50,000 for an inquiry into how the Congressional Record could be made better and more useful.

Congress doesn't have to spend a dime to find out what's wrong with the Congressional Record. If a look at a single issue isn't enough, it has the observations of the public printer, James L. Harrison.

First, Mr. Harrison would get rid of the appendix. This is where Congress butters up innumerable constituents with reprints of letters from home, dubious poetry, newspaper editorials, even recipes. In the appendix, too, under a quaint custom known as extension of remarks, appear hundreds of thousands of words of speeches never spoken.

What purports to be the daily record of Congressional proceedings is equally misleading. It is subject to heavy Congressional editing and contains not what Representatives and Senators actually said in debate, but what, on second thought, they wish they had said.

As has been disclosed before, all this costs the taxpayers nearly $3 million a year. And since it goes deep into the heart of Congressional privilege, there is no likelihood of substantial change. But Congress ought at least to spare the taxpayers the $50,000 the House wants to spend to find out what to do that Congress already knows it will not do.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Eternal Friendship

I sit among my maples on a sunny day, here in the Berkshires. I should perhaps be at Tanglewood to hear Monteux conduct Beethoven, but a laziness has come over me. The world of great affairs seems for the moment utterly meaningless. Somehow, my mind has been dwelling upon those who have recently left us for ever.

And most of all I think of Ida Cantor whom I have not seen for years. What children we were, Eddie and our bunch! We had so little of the material good of this Earth and we asked for little more than we had. Our ambitions were never to be rich, as men measure wealth. We did not seek security. We never talked about such things.

Eddie and I came from the Lower East Side, from a slum, over-crowded by immigrants, intellectuals and hard-working men and women from many countries, who had found their way to America, rarely to seek their fortunes but always to know freedom.

Eddie was always the happy boy. He had nothing at all. He lived with a grandmother who eked out a living under the direct circumstances. Nevertheless, we went to Lipsky's Cheder to study the Bible and Hebrew and to learn our prayers. Eddie could make us laugh. His eyes stuck out of his head. They popped. His teeth were—who has money for dentists when there is so little to eat?

Eddie and I and some other boys were picked up and asked if we wanted to go to a camp in the country. Sure, we wanted. But who had money? It would be free. Still and all, we need clean clothes and a tooth-brush and tooth-paste and a ticket. It all came to about $5. And where does one get $5? Somehow, the money was solved. We went to the Educational Alliance Camp at Surprise Lake.

It was the first year that there was such a camp and we slept in tents and ate in a pavillion and we took turns washing the dishes. We ate such strange foods as oat-meal for breakfast and sardines for supper. But boy, it was good! And at night, we had a camp fire and we sang songs and told stories and every one was happy that he was alive.

Eddie feared that he would die of tuberculosis. In those days, it was called consumption and all the skinny kids got it and Eddie was skinnier than anybody.

Those of us who were at the camp together that year, organized the Camp Club and our club director was Bernard M. L. Ernst, from uptown. He was a wonderful man—a young law school student at Columbia University when we first met him. Although he was from uptown, he never made us feel small because we were from the Lower East Side. He gave us good advice and lots of friendship.

Eddie could sing and dance and he loved life and he had a girl. That girl was Ida who just died at 70. And Eddie never had any other girl. He became a great success in the theater. He played in Ziegfeld's Follies, which was for him tops. For years, he had a show of his own on radio. He became a rich man and lived in Beverly Hills.

He never forgot the camp on Surprise Lake. With it he shared his good fortune. He financed its development so that other boys, ma[illegible] could enjoy the green grass of Summer, the fresh air of the country, a jump into a cold lake. Eddie's charities have been fabulous.

But no matter what success came to Eddie, no matter what fame and what honors were showered upon him there was only Ida and his daughters. To Ida, he was a heroic creature; to him Ida was all wisdom. And so they both reached their seventieth year, neither of them as strong and nimble as they used to be. Two elderly people, comforting each other, after 60 years of friendship and intimacy. It can happen even in Hollywood.

And then Ida fell asleep and did not awaken. Their lives had been good and unselfish and one can be thankful for that. Life cannot be eternal, but the memory of a great love can be everlasting. Life is ephemeral but friendship can be eternal. It remains in the memory of those who knew its beauty.

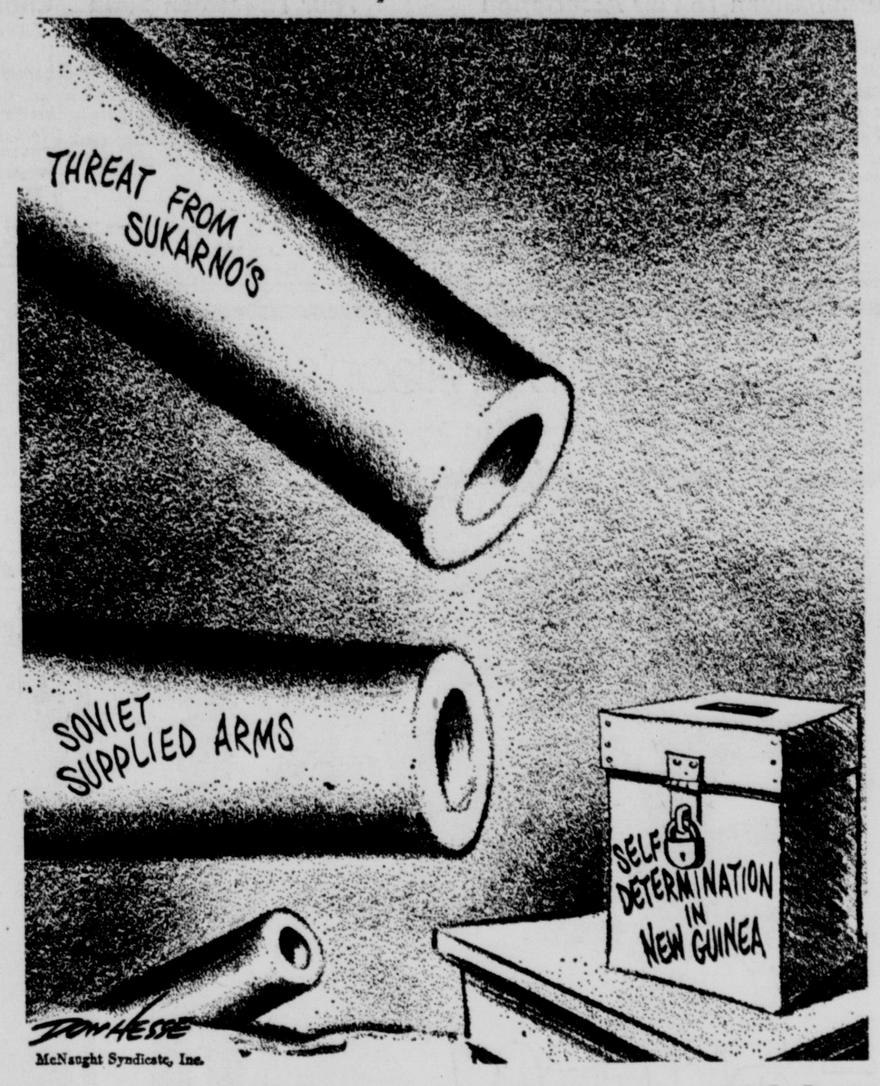
Not Exactly A Free Election



Has Russia Reverted To Its Old Anti-Semitism?

By Helen B. Shaffer

(Editor's Note: Prominence of Jews among persons sentenced to death in the Soviet Union during the past year for so-called economic crimes is believed to reflect a general intensification of anti-Semitism in Russia.)

WASHINGTON — No fewer than 28 of 46 of the Soviet Union sentenced to death up to the end of last June in a series of cases involving economic offenses were Jews. Since then, four more Jews have been given the death penalty, and others have been sentenced to long prison terms, for such crimes as embezzling public property, faking production records, peddling stolen goods, and speculating in foreign currencies.

Offenses of this kind are believed to be common in Russia today, but current efforts to wipe them out appear to be so contrived as to throw the chief onus on the Jews. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R., N. Y.) suggested in the Senate July 19 that Moscow was attemptng "to link historic Russian anti-Semitism to its economic campaign."

Other signs of a new wave of hostility toward the three million Jews in the Soviet Union abound. A campaign of vilification against them in the Soviet press, restriction of Jewish religious practices, an apparent policy of holding down Jewish representation in the professions and in the government, and petty harassments of various kinds indicate a general worsening of the conditions of life for Russian Jews.

Official and semi-official denials of anti-Semitic acts or policies have been made to the U.N. Commission on Human Rights and through other channels. But both Jewish and non-Jewish groups and individuals in this country who have kept tabs on the question have not been reassured.

Assistant Secretary of State Frederick G. Dutton in a letter to Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R., N.Y.) last May cited as increasing evidence of interference with the Jewish religion in Russia "desecration of cemeteries, closing of synagogues, dispersing of prayer meetings, arrests of lay leaders, prohibition of certain Jewish religious practices, etc." He referred also to "clear evidence of the resort by the regime to discriminatory measures against Jews in access to higher education."

The most thoroughly documented of Jewish grievances is the campaign of vilification in the Soviet press, primarily the provincial newspapers. They repeatedly carry moralistic narratives or essays linking avarice, treason, loose morals and bad manners with attendance at the synagogue; and they depict the synagogue frequently as the setting for conspiracy, haggling over illicit profits, and drinking bouts.

Communist anti-religious campaigns have fallen with particular severity on the Jews. Only 60 to 70 synagogues are left in Soviet Russia; many cities with large Jewish populations have none. No new printings of the Hebrew Bible and only one edition of Hebrew prayer books have been authorized since 1917. The single Jewish theological seminary — established in Moscow in 1957 — has only a handful of students and faces an uncertain future.

Although the proportion of Jews in the professions is larger than the proportion of Jews in the population, it has been declining for a number of years. Furthermore, the quota system that appears to be operating in admissions to institutions of higher education promises to accelerate the decline. Since 1935 the ratio of Jews to non-Jews in student ranks has dropped from 13.5 to 3.1 per cent. The proportion of Jews in public office has likewise been falling.

Jews were denied equal participation in Russian life under the Czars, but they were free to develop fully their own social and cultural institutions. Under the Soviets the Jews have had their ups and downs. The Bolsheviks at first courted mass Jewish support. They made anti-Semitism a crime and set up a number of Jewish agencies within the government. But after absorbing existing Jewish political and social organizations, these government agencies were dissolved. Since 1930 no organization representing the Jewish minority as a distinct national or ethnic group has been allowed.

In the late 1930s, Yiddish schools were closed, Jewish collective farms were shut down, and the only national Yiddish newspaper was discontinued. Zionism was denounced. And with the signing of the Nazi-Soviet pact in 1939, any expression of Jewish consciousness became suspect.

After the Nazis attacked Russia in 1941, the position of the Jews improved, but a fresh outbreak of anti-Semitism after the war was marked by wholesale purges of prominent Jews. These so-called "black years" ended with Stalin's death in 1953. Since then, however, scant opportunity has been given for restoration of a separate Jewish culture. Now, a spreading and deepening of the old anti-Semitism is feared again.

Inside Washington

POETRY CORNER — Telstar, the highly successful satellite that relays television programs between the American and European continents, has caught the imagination of the western world.

And it's brought out the poet in Rep. Joe M. Kilgore, Texas Democrat. Kilgore dashed off the following poem—sort of—to commemorate the project:

"Twinkle, Twinkle L'il Telstar!
How I wonder what you are—
Up above the world so high,
Sending 'Wagon Train' into the sky."

To which another poet added:
"Little Telstar in the sky,
Up above the world so high,
What will Europeans say
When our commercials
come their way?"

MACARONI—To many readers of White House goings on, Macaroni is the name of Caroline Kennedy's pony. It is also a product used extensively in Italian and other dishes.

Recently, the National Macaroni Manufacturers Association was planning its annual meeting. In appreciation of the publicity boost given their product, it decided to name Caroline the "Public Figure of the Year."

And, to show further appreciation, the NMMA composed a portrait of the pony's head, outlined in curly egg noodles and filled in with elbow noodles and short spaghetti.

All that's needed now is for the nation's tomato canners to provide the sauce.

Experiments In Treating Psoriasis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A new method of treating psoriasis produced excellent results in 214 men and women with this stubborn skin disease. The plan utilizes a salve containing a synthetic corticosteroid (fluocinolone acetonide.)

It is easily applied and small amounts are effective. The majority of the lesions usually disappear within three weeks. Cure does not occur, as the scaly patches are likely to return when the medication is discontinued.

The drug has been used for some time but the new method of treatment is aimed at keeping the skin free of plaques. According to Dr. Mauray J. Tye and colleagues of Haverhill, Mass., the salve is rubbed into the lesions three times a day until clearing takes place. Thereafter, it is applied as often as necessary to keep the skin free of the patches.

Better results are obtained when the salve is applied and the area is covered with a moist dressing held or sealed in place with a plastic covering such as Blenderm. This method works best when there are only a few lesions, more so when they are located over the knees or elbows.

The treatment is tapered off gradually after the skin clears. In approximately one-third of the users, improvement lasts three or more months. In others, the lesions recur but relief again takes place when treatment is resumed.

The corticosteroids are hormones related to cortisone and ACTH. They are followed by many side effects when taken internally over a long time. Reactions are less likely to arise after the local application of such products. Dr. Tye followed the course of this group of patients for many months and was unable to detect any ill effects from topical applications of the product, which demonstrates its unusual safety, considering the potency of these hormones.

TOMORROW: Passing gallstones.

UNTREATED BURSITIS

J. G. writes: Will bursitis get worse if not treated by a doctor?

REPLY

Yes, but there always is the possibility that it might remain the same or get better. A severe bursitis of the upper arm that fails to improve after a few weeks might lead to stiffness of the shoulder. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bursitis.

LARYNGITIS

C. M. writes: Does laryngitis always start from a cold?

REPLY

No. It may stem from a variety of infections, including tuberculosis and syphilis, and from irritation due to straining the voice. Many persons use the terms laryngitis and hoarseness interchangeably, which means tumors and other growths can be added to the list of causes.

KIDNEY FUNCTION

M. N. P. writes: (1) What is a kidney function problem? (2) Is it less serious than kidney disease?

REPLY

(1) The function of the kidneys is disturbed when the organ is diseased or under strain from other bodily ailments. (2) In this respect, the disease is less important than what it is doing to the kidneys.

THE SCORE TO NOW

V. H. writes: I'm 70 and have had five small strokes so far. Is there any way to prevent others?

REPLY

This is difficult to do unless the strokes stem from narrowing or occlusion of the carotid artery in the neck. The obstruction can be by-passed via surgery. Special X-rays must be done to study the circulation through this artery.

DOCTOR KNOWS BEST

M. T. writes: I have an enlarged heart which my doctor says not to worry about. But people tell me this is serious. I do trust my doctor but worry about my condition.

REPLY

Enlargement varies from 1 to 100 per cent and a moderate enlargement is not serious. It is more important to know the cause of this condition.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A devotee of the quaint cable cars that still climb the steep hills of San Francisco tells of the day a young girl with a pony tail leaned over the opening between the tracks to see the cable actually in operation. Her pony tail slipped into the slot and was whipped around the cable. Off she went amidst screams and lamentations. A resourceful bystander hopped into his sports car, raced ahead of the girl and neatly snipped off her pony tail as she slithered by. When the young girl regained her composure, she gave her rescuer what-for because he had sacrificed her pony tail!

"A Wall Street security analyst," the late Herbert Bayard Swope liked to point out, "is as cautious as an Indian elephant. When one of these sagacious mastodons comes to a bridge, he tests it first with his trunk. If it holds firm, he next plants his front feet on it. If it still stands, he sits on it. After that, he sends another elephant over first!"

Sighs Poet and Clothes-Closet-Inspector Richard Armour:

"You cannot buy, you cannot lease
As durable and crisp a crease
As that your trousers soon acquire
When hung on hangers made of wire."

Tito Believes General Disarmament Unattainable Now; Urges First Steps

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth part of a series of exclusive interviews with Marshal Tito, held on occasion of Drew Pearson's visit with the Yugoslav leader.)

BRIONI, Yugoslavia—President Josip Broz Tito sat in a small porch swing when I interviewed him at his summer vacation lodge. In front of him was a small table with a microphone which recorded the interview. Tito speaks amazingly good English for a man who started it at 60 and my questions were given him in English without translation. He replied, however, in Serbo-Croat which was then translated by Marian Osolnik, one of Tito's foreign affairs counselors.

Mrs. Tito, usually called Mrs. Broz, sat in on most of the interview together with Bogdan Crnobrnja, the President's secretary general, and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Washington civic and educational leader. Toward the end of the interview, and after Tito had talked at some length on USA-USSR relations, Mrs. Meyer suggested that Tito, because of his old friendship with Russia and his knowledge of the United States, might act as mediator.

"I would not like to be a mediator," he replied, "but if and when I see Premier Khrushchev I will give him my opinions. This, of course, will be my own point of view. And I can give this to both Khrushchev and President Kennedy if I should have the opportunity to meet him.

"Whether my ideas will be received as useful is a different question," he continued. "I have previously told Premier Khrushchev both orally and in writing, how we view international problems, and I must say that in this respect I did not encounter any resistance. Premier Khrushchev appreciates opinions, and I have noticed that this is true of leading Americans as well."

Solvable Problem?

When I asked President Tito what problems between the United States and Russia would be the easiest to solve, he replied:

"Disarmament." Then he added: "I do not mean the problem of disarmament as a whole. Frankly, I do not believe that in the present state, complete disarmament is possible. But we could take the first step by the cessation of all further arming.

"If at each time when Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy meet," continued Tito, referring to his earlier proposal that they meet frequently, "they put all the problems that concern them on the table, they will not be able to achieve too much. But they should pick up one problem at a time and discuss it thoroughly."

Tito warned, however, that straightening out all the problems between the East and West was going to be a tough problem.

When I asked Tito if he could imagine the day when the United States and Soviet Russia would become good friends, he was much more optimistic.

"I believe that day will come about," he said. "Why not? There exist enormous possibilities for cooperation in the economic field and in general. Both countries are huge. The Soviet is in need of further substantial development and the United States has a big economic potential.

"Recently I expressed this thought: For what reason today should people wage war? Because of what questions? For what purpose should people be killed and catastrophe befall the world?

World Domination: Lunacy

"Hitler had the lunatic idea of ruling the world," continued the man who had fought five years of the most gruelling warfare. "But among the wise people, among those who feel the aspirations of mankind, I do not see the raison d'etre to wage war. We have passed by the period when wars were waged for economic problems. Throughout history we have waged wars—from the medieval robbers to the march along the road for the conquest of colonies.

"But today the Asian and African countries are not colonies anymore. They constitute no ground for the big powers to quarrel over.

"Furthermore the development of production has reached such a high level in the developed countries that they do not need to conquer countries to gain productive goods. They have enough production themselves.

"What is left then which might cause war," Tito continued. "Differences between social systems. But can we by means of force, prevent people from establishing their own internal social systems?

"It certainly doesn't pay to wage war over this. We have seen that the forceful establishment of certain systems have been of very short duration. People very soon settled accounts for themselves. They established the internal social order that they wanted.

"Besides," said the President of the chief independent Communist nation, "wars take us further from the integration of the world. Economic integration—that is our perspective.

"After that comes political integration. Therefore war is an absurdity for which I can see no need. And it is somehow on the horizon now because men have armed themselves to the teeth and don't know what to do with all this armament.

"To leave it to military circles to determine what they should do with it is equally absurd."

Frank was a fine doctor. The best. His waiting room, it seemed to me, was always jammed. His professional judgment was cautious and clever. Frank failed in only one respect: as a human being. He knew less about life, and how to live it, than a 14-year old delinquent.

I can see him now, standing tall and imposing, a blond man with wavy hair and dark eyebrows, a man in a white tunic buttoned up the side, a man with a pale blue Egyptian sapphire which matched his eyes, beckoning to the next patient to come into his office. Frank's field was anti-allergens and he had a sumptuous place in a tall skyscraper. In fact, he had an apartment over his office, so that the effect was a duplex.

He was also a good internist, but his love was allergies and other doctors have told me that Frank's laboratory, behind his office, was almost as well equipped as a pathological laboratory in an average hospital. In the laboratory, he was great. When he unbuttoned the white coat and went up to his living quarters, he was a boob.

He was a sucker for every phony stock tip in the book. He managed to lose money almost as fast as he earned it, which was fast indeed. Frank was a soft touch for a loan, a hard-luck story, a woman, an invention and swamp real estate. Years ago, I researched an article on asthma for a magazine, and I met Dr. Frank.

In time, I became more interested in him than in his business. He believed in people. Really believed. He loved everybody. His nurse — a neat brunette with a nice professional manner — laid a marital trap so big and broad that women patients could see it. But Dr. Frank couldn't.

He fell into it and disappeared among the orange blossoms. The nurse's name was Kitty. She had a daughter, 11, by a previous marriage. Frank was so in love that he insisted on adopting the little girl. Within six months, the bridegroom was a changed man. His wife was a "suggester."

She suggested that he stop wearing brown because it made him look dreary. She suggested that he stop going to the club because, in her estimation, it was a waste of time. She suggested that she stop working, and hire a nice elderly nurse to take her place. She suggested that her little girl didn't like Dr. Frank, and that she should be sent to an expensive boarding school or risk becoming neurotic.

The marriage lasted three years. It was murder. The next time I heard about Dr. Frank was from his confreres. They seemed surprised to learn that I hadn't heard. His wife had gone off with another man. The heartbreak for the handsome doctor was beyond endurance for awhile, but he learned he was also stuck with the child he adopted. The courts ruled that he would have to support and educate the youngster.

I saw him about two years later. His eyes wore a perpetually hurt expression. I asked him how were things. "Ah," he said, "I'm having a big fight with the gas company. I should get a professional rate for my gas and electricity; I use enough of it in my laboratory. But they insist that I pay the highest retail rate. I'm taking it to court."

He asked me to stay to dinner. I did. He had a new nurse, an attractive redhead. When the last appointment was completed, she came upstairs with us and cooked the dinner. No one had to tell me. I knew. Casually, I asked her if she had any children. Yes, she said, just as casually, a little boy aged six. She had divorced the boy's father.

The dinner was good. I kept mumbling to myself: "We learn from history that we learn nothing from history." Frank cleared the dishes. The nurse tamped tobacco in his pipe and brought it to him.

I never saw Dr. Frank again. I liked him, admired him, but we had no deep friendship. Once in awhile, I heard about him from others. He got a divorce from his first wife and, in time, married the redhead. For his sake, I hoped that it would be a lasting union because he had a lot to offer a good woman. But Frank never attracted a good one. He always seemed to draw only those who liked to trip, trap and fleece a man in a hurry.

Still, I felt no pity for him until I heard that he had taken out adoption papers on the little boy. I felt a chill, as though I was sitting through a horror movie for the second time. Then I consoled myself by remembering that no two events are exactly alike. Some doctors in the county medical society told me that Dr. Frank was pretty happy for awhile.

The redhead turned out to be a swifter operator than the first wife. A year and a half after the wedding, she ran off with an old boy friend, plus all the money Frank had in the bank. He was betrayed in exactly the same way as in the first marriage, and he had one more child to support.

One night he sat in his laboratory and turned on all the gas jets. "For this," he wrote to the gas company, "you can charge the full rate. It's worth it."

We May As Well Save The $50,000

No publication ever had as many editors devoting themselves to mystifying its readers as the Congressional Record. Critics of the Congressional Record are numerous. Many columns have been written about its overstuffed shortcomings.

Now, after discreetly ignoring the critics for many years, the House of Representatives has approved an appropriation of $50,000 for an inquiry into how the Congressional Record could be made better and more useful.

Congress doesn't have to spend a dime to find out what's wrong with the Congressional Record. If a look at a single issue isn't enough, it has the observations of the public printer, James L. Harrison.

First, Mr. Harrison would get rid of the appendix. This is where Congress butters up innumerable constituents with reprints of letters from home, dubious poetry, newspaper editorials, even recipes. In the appendix, too, under a quaint custom known as extension of remarks, appear hundreds of thousands of words of speeches never spoken.

What purports to be the daily record of Congressional proceedings is equally misleading. It is subject to heavy Congressional editing and contains not what Representatives and Senators actually said in debate, but what, on second thought, they wish they had said.

As has been disclosed before, all this costs the taxpayers nearly $3 million a year. And since it goes deep into the heart of Congressional privilege, there is no likelihood of substantial change. But Congress ought at least to spare the taxpayers the $50,000 the House wants to spend to find out what to do that Congress already knows it will not do.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Eternal Friendship

I sit among my maples on a sunny day, here in the Berkshires. I should perhaps be at Tanglewood to hear Monteux conduct Beethoven, but a laziness has come over me. The world of great affairs seems for the moment utterly meaningless. Somehow, my mind has been dwelling upon those who have recently left us for ever.

And most of all I think of Ida Cantor whom I have not seen for years. What children we were, Eddie and our bunch! We had so little of the material good of this Earth and we asked for little more than we had. Our ambitions were never to be rich, as men measure wealth. We did not seek security. We never talked about such things.

Eddie and I came from the Lower East Side, from a slum, over-crowded by immigrants, intellectuals and hard-working men and women from many countries, who had found their way to America, rarely to seek their fortunes but always to know freedom.

Eddie was always the happy boy. He had nothing at all. He lived with a grandmother who eked out a living under the direct circumstances. Nevertheless, we went to Lipsky's Cheder to study the Bible and Hebrew and to learn our prayers. Eddie could make us laugh. His eyes stuck out of his head. They popped. His teeth were—who has money for dentists when there is so little to eat?

Eddie and I and some other boys were picked up and asked if we wanted to go to a camp in the country. Sure, we wanted. But who had money? It would be free. Still and all, we need clean clothes and a tooth-brush and tooth-paste and a ticket. It all came to about $5. And where does one get $5? Somehow, the money was solved. We went to the Educational Alliance Camp at Surprise Lake.

It was the first year that there was such a camp and we slept in tents and ate in a pavillion and we took turns washing the dishes. We ate such strange foods as oat-meal for breakfast and sardines for supper. But boy, it was good! And at night, we had a camp fire and we sang songs and told stories and every one was happy that he was alive.

Eddie feared that he would die of tuberculosis. In those days, it was called consumption and all the skinny kids got it and Eddie was skinnier than anybody.

Those of us who were at the camp together that year, organized the Camp Club and our club director was Bernard M. L. Ernst, from uptown. He was a wonderful man—a young law school student at Columbia University when we first met him. Although he was from uptown, he never made us feel small because we were from the Lower East Side. He gave us good advice and lots of friendship.

Eddie could sing and dance and he loved life and he had a girl. That girl was Ida who just died at 70. And Eddie never had any other girl. He became a great success in the theater. He played in Ziegfeld's Follies, which was for him tops. For years, he had a show of his own on radio. He became a rich man and lived in Beverly Hills.

He never forgot the camp on Surprise Lake. With it he shared his good fortune. He financed its development so that other boys, many [illegible] could enjoy the green grass of Summer, the fresh air of the country, a jump into a cold lake. Eddie's charities have been fabulous.

But no matter what success came to Eddie, no matter what fame and what honors were showered upon him there was only Ida and his daughters. To Ida, he was a heroic creature; to him Ida was all wisdom. And so they both reached their seventieth year, neither of them as strong and nimble as they used to be. Two elderly people, comforting each other, after 60 years of friendship and intimacy. It can happen even in Hollywood.

And then Ida fell asleep and did not awaken. Their lives had been good and unselfish and one can be thankful for that. Life cannot be eternal, but the memory of a great love can be everlasting. Life is ephemeral but friendship can be eternal. It remains in the memory of those who knew its beauty.

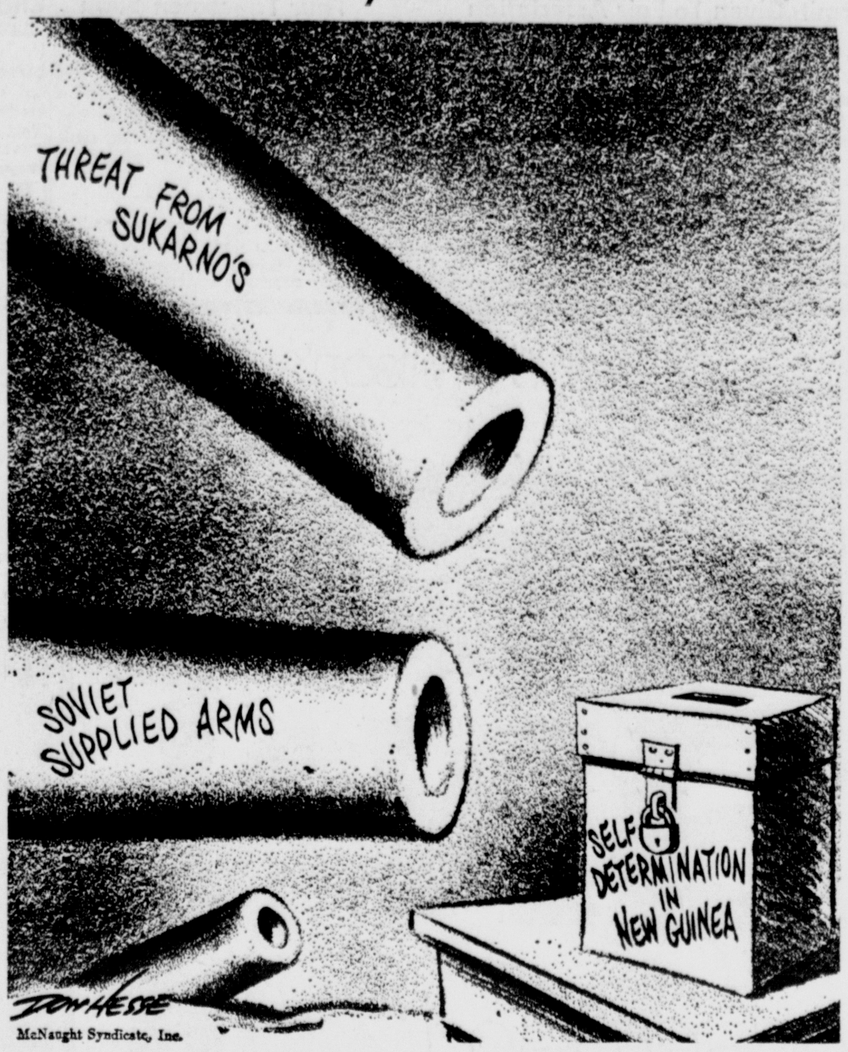
Not Exactly A Free Election



Has Russia Reverted To Its Old Anti-Semitism?

By Helen B. Shaffer

(Editor's Note: Prominence of Jews among persons sentenced to death in the Soviet Union during the past year for so-called economic crimes is believed to reflect a general intensification of anti-Semitism in Russia.)

WASHINGTON — No fewer than 28 of 46 of the Soviet Union sentenced to death up to the end of last June in a series of cases involving economic offenses were Jews. Since then, four more Jews have been given the death penalty, and others have been sentenced to long prison terms, for such crimes as embezzling public property, faking production records, peddling stolen goods, and speculating in foreign currencies.

Offenses of this kind are believed to be common in Russia today, but current efforts to wipe them out appear to be so contrived as to throw the chief onus on the Jews. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R., N. Y.) suggested in the Senate July 19 that Moscow was attempting "to link historic Russian anti-Semitism to its economic campaign."

Other signs of a new wave of hostility toward the three million Jews in the Soviet Union abound. A campaign of vilification against them in the Soviet press, restriction of Jewish religious practices, an apparent policy of holding down Jewish representation in the professions and in the government, and petty harassments of various kinds indicate a general worsening of the conditions of life for Russian Jews.

Official and semi-official denials of anti-Semitic acts or policies have been made to the U.N. Commission on Human Rights and through other channels. But both Jewish and non-Jewish groups and individuals in this country who have kept tabs on the question have not been reassured.

Assistant Secretary of State Frederick G. Dutton in a letter to Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R., N.Y.) last May cited as increasing evidence of interference with the Jewish religion in Russia "desecration of cemeteries, closing of synagogues, dispersing of prayer meetings, arrests of lay leaders, prohibition of certain Jewish religious practices, etc." He referred also to "clear evidence of the resort by the regime to discriminatory measures against Jews in access to higher education."

The most thoroughly documented of Jewish grievances is the campaign of vilification in the Soviet press, primarily the provincial newspapers. They repeatedly carry moralistic narratives or essays linking avarice, treason, loose morals and bad manners with attendance at the synagogue; and they depict the synagogue frequently as the setting for conspiracy, haggling over illicit profits, and drinking bouts.

Communist anti-religious campaigns have fallen with particular severity on the Jews. Only 60 to 70 synagogues are left in Soviet Russia; many cities with large Jewish populations have none. No new printings of the Hebrew Bible and only one edition of Hebrew prayer books have been authorized since 1917. The single Jewish theological seminary — established in Moscow in 1957 — has only a handful of students and faces an uncertain future.

Although the proportion of Jews in the professions is larger than the proportion of Jews in the population, it has been declining for a number of years. Furthermore, the quota system that appears to be operating in admissions to institutions of higher education promises to accelerate the decline. Since 1935 the ratio of Jews to non-Jews in student ranks has dropped from 13.5 to 3.1 per cent. The proportion of Jews in public office has likewise been falling.

Jews were denied equal participation in Russian life under the Czars, but they were free to develop fully their own social and cultural institutions. Under the Soviets the Jews have had their ups and downs. The Bolsheviks at first courted mass Jewish support. They made anti-Semitism a crime and set up a number of Jewish agencies within the government. But after absorbing existing Jewish political and social organizations, these government agencies were dissolved. Since 1930 no organization representing the Jewish minority as a distinct national or ethnic group has been allowed.

In the late 1930s, Yiddish schools were closed, Jewish collective farms were shut down, and the only national Yiddish newspaper was discontinued. Zionism was denounced. And with the signing of the Nazi-Soviet pact in 1939, any expression of Jewish consciousness became suspect.

After the Nazis attacked Russia in 1941, the position of the Jews improved, but a fresh outbreak of anti-Semitism after the war was marked by wholesale purges of prominent Jews. These so-called "black years" ended with Stalin's death in 1953. Since then, however, scant opportunity has been given for restoration of a separate Jewish culture. Now, a spreading and deepening of the old anti-Semitism is feared again.

POETRY CORNER — Telstar, the highly successful satellite that relays television programs between the American and European continents, has caught the imagination of the western world.

And it's brought out the poet in Rep. Joe M. Kilgore, Texas Democrat. Kilgore dashed off the following poem—sort of—to commemorate the project:

"Twinkle, Twinkle L'il Telstar!
How I wonder what you are—
Up above the world so high,
Sending 'Wagon Train' into
the sky."

To which another poet added:
"Little Telstar in the sky,
Up above the world so high,
What will Europeans say
When our commercials
come their way?"

MACARONI—To many readers of White House goings on, Macaroni is the name of Caroline Kennedy's pony. It is also a product used extensively in Italian and other dishes.

Recently, the National Macaroni Manufacturers Association was planning its annual meeting. In appreciation of the publicity boost given their product, it decided to name Caroline the "Public Figure of the Year."

And, to show further appreciation, the NMMA composed a portrait of the pony's head, outlined in curly egg noodles and filled in with elbow noodles and short spaghetti.

All that's needed now is for the nation's tomato canners to provide the sauce.

Experiments In Treating Psoriasis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A new method of treating psoriasis produced excellent results in 214 men and women with this stubborn skin disease. The plan utilizes a salve containing a synthetic corticosteroid (fluocinolone acetonide.)

It is easily applied and small amounts are effective. The majority of the lesions usually disappear within three weeks. Cure does not occur, as the scaly patches are likely to return when the medication is discontinued.

The drug has been used for some time but the new method of treatment is aimed at keeping the skin free of plaques. According to Dr. Mauray J. Tye and colleagues of Haverhill, Mass., the salve is rubbed into the lesions three times a day until clearing takes place. Thereafter, it is applied as often as necessary to keep the skin free of the patches.

Better results are obtained when the salve is applied and the area is covered with a moist dressing held or sealed in place with a plastic covering such as Blenderm. This method works best when there are only a few lesions, more so when they are located over the knees or elbows.

The treatment is tapered off gradually after the skin clears. In approximately one-third of the users, improvement lasts three or more months. In others, the lesions recur but relief again takes place when treatment is resumed.

The corticosteroids are hormones related to cortisone and ACTH. They are followed by many side effects when taken internally over a long time. Reactions are less likely to arise after the local application of such products. Dr. Tye followed the course of this group of patients for many months and was unable to detect any ill effects from topical applications of the product, which demonstrates its unusual safety, considering the potency of these hormones.

TOMORROW: Passing gallstones.

UNTREATED BURSITIS

J. G. writes: Will bursitis get worse if not treated by a doctor?

REPLY

Yes, but there always is the possibility that it might remain the same or get better. A severe bursitis of the upper arm that fails to improve after a few weeks might lead to stiffness of the shoulder. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bursitis.

LARYNGITIS

C. M. writes: Does laryngitis always start from a cold?

REPLY

No. It may stem from a variety of infections, including tuberculosis and syphilis, and from irritation due to straining the voice. Many persons use the terms laryngitis and hoarseness interchangeably, which means tumors and other growths can be added to the list of causes.

KIDNEY FUNCTION

M. N. P. writes: (1) What is a kidney function problem? (2) Is it less serious than kidney disease?

REPLY

(1) The function of the kidneys is disturbed when the organ is diseased or under strain from other bodily ailments. (2) In this respect, the disease is less important than what it is doing to the kidneys.

THE SCORE TO NOW

V. H. writes: I'm 70 and have had five small strokes so far. Is there any way to prevent others?

REPLY

This is difficult to do unless the strokes stem from narrowing or occlusion of the carotid artery in the neck. The obstruction can be by-passed via surgery. Special X-rays must be done to study the circulation through this artery.

DOCTOR KNOWS BEST

M. T. writes: I have an enlarged heart which my doctor says not to worry about. But people tell me this is serious. I do trust my doctor but worry about my condition.

REPLY

Enlargement varies from 1 to 100 per cent and a moderate enlargement is not serious. It is more important to know the cause of this condition.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A devotee of the quaint cable cars that still climb the steep hills of San Francisco tells of the day a young girl with a pony tail leaned over the opening between the tracks to see the cable actually in operation. Her pony tail slipped into the slot and was whipped around the cable. Off she went amidst screams and lamentations. A resourceful bystander hopped into his sports car, raced ahead of the girl and neatly snipped off her pony tail as she slithered by. When the young girl regained her composure, she gave her rescuer what-for because he had sacrificed her pony tail!

"A Wall Street security analyst," the late Herbert Bayard Swope liked to point out, "is as cautious as an Indian elephant. When one of these sagacious mastodons comes to a bridge, he tests it first with his trunk. If it holds firm, he next plants his front feet on it. If it still stands, he sits on it. After that, he sends another elephant over first!"

When hung on hangers made

Tito Believes General Disarmament Unattainable Now; Urges First Steps

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth part of a series of exclusive interviews with Marshal Tito, held on occasion of Drew Pearson's visit with the Yugoslav leader.)

BRIONI, Yugoslavia—President Josip Broz Tito sat in a small porch swing when I interviewed him at his summer vacation lodge. In front of him was a small table with a microphone which recorded the interview. Tito speaks amazingly good English for a man who started it at 60 and my questions were given him in English without translation. He replied, however, in Serbo-Croat which was then translated by Marian Osolnik, one of Tito's foreign affairs counselors.

Mrs. Tito, usually called Mrs. Broz, sat in on most of the interview together with Bogdan Crnobrnja, the President's secretary general, and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Washington civic and educational leader. Toward the end of the interview, and after Tito had talked at some length on USA-USSR relations, Mrs. Meyer suggested that Tito, because of his old friendship with Russia and his knowledge of the United States, might act as mediator.

"I would not like to be a mediator," he replied, "but if and when I see Premier Khrushchev I will give him my opinions. This, of course, will be my own point of view. And I can give this to both Khrushchev and President Kennedy if I should have the opportunity to meet him.

"Whether my ideas will be received as useful is a different question," he continued. "I have previously told Premier Khrushchev both orally and in writing, how we view international problems, and I must say that in this respect I did not encounter any resistance. Premier Khrushchev appreciates opinions, and I have noticed that this is true of leading Americans as well."

I knew. Casually, I asked her if she had any children. Yes, she said, just as casually, a little boy aged six. She had divorced the boy's father.

The dinner was good. I kept mumbling to myself: "We learn from history that we learn nothing from history." Frank cleared the dishes. The nurse tamped tobacco in his pipe and brought it to him.

I never saw Dr. Frank again. I liked him, admired him, but we had no deep friendship. Once in awhile, I heard about him from others. He got a divorce from his first wife and, in time, married the redhead. For his sake, I hoped that it would be a lasting union because he had a lot to offer a good woman. But Frank never attracted a good one. He always seemed to draw only those who liked to trip, trap and fleece a man in a hurry.

Still, I felt no pity for him until I heard that he had taken out adoption papers on the little boy. I felt a chill, as though I was sitting through a horror movie for the second time. Then I consoled myself by remembering that no two events are exactly alike. Some doctors in the county medical society told me that Dr. Frank was pretty happy for awhile.

The redhead turned out to be a swifter operator than the first wife. A year and a half after the wedding, she ran off with an old boy friend, plus all the money Frank had in the bank. He was betrayed in exactly the same way as in the first marriage, and he had one more child to support.

One night he sat in his laboratory and turned on all the gas jets. "For this," he wrote to the gas company, "you can charge the full rate. It's worth it."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD. — Brad Dillman, in town long enough to film an Alcoa TV show, says he's still very much in love with Suzy Parker and hopes to marry her when his divorce is final in April.

"What about Suzy's dating other men?" was my rude question.

The answer was a shrug. "Jobs are keeping us separated. I'm due in New York to start rehearsals with Jane Fonda on our stage play 'The Fun Couple.' Suzy is in Japan making 'Flight from Ashiya'." But I'm just as much in love with her as ever."

As far as Brad knows, the model-turned-actress feels the same about him.

Elizabeth Taylor hadn't stuck her head outside her chalet at Gstaad for a week (at least for anyone to see her) until Richard Burton drove up in front of the place, his first visit to Liz in Switzerland. Burton's own place in Switzerland, which he occupied with wife Sybil and their children until the heat turned on, is only two hours drive away.

Liz burst out of the house aglow with delight over Burton's arrival. Later, on the telephone, she answered clamoring reporters with, "Mr. Burton is here for a brief visit."

To discuss his divorce from Sybil Burton???

"I feel like a person who has been going through life wearing dark glasses. And now I have taken them off. I'm seeing things in their true colors for the first time." The speaker was Jayne Mansfield, just back from Camp Roberts where she had spent a whole day putting on a show for the boys with Johnny Grant.

It's the first time I had talked with Jayne since the blow-up with Mickey Hargitay. "It's so difficult to express what has happened to me. I feel like a new person inside—and I want that new feeling to be reflected outwardly.

"I'm sick of the old Jayne Mansfield. I want so much to be taken seriously and the best way I can accomplish this is to prove in my work that I'm worthy of serious consideration. All I ask is—please give me the chance."

Beal Air Force Base will never the same now that Rock Hudson and the "Gathering of Eagles" company has moved out after weeks of shooting. Rock spent so much time with Col. Sam Byerley, the man he's supposed to be playing in Sy Bartlett's story, that someone asked Mrs. Byerley:

"Don't you think Rock is beginning to resemble the Colonel?"

"No," replied the witty lady. "But I'm delighted that the Colonel is beginning to think he is Rock Hudson."

The 15-year marriage of former star Sally Eilers and her TV-director husband Holly Morse has hitanother serious rift and Sally has consulted attorney Hershel Green about separate maintenance.

Sally says, "Holly's schedule is keeping him working night and day and we are both under a nervous strain which makes it wiser if we separate at this time." Several years ago the Morses parted only to be reconciled by a story written by their long-time friend, Louella Parsons. Let's hope this rift will be ended as happily.

Bing Crosby's writer Bill Morrow and one of my favorite pianists Joe Bushkin have pooled their talents and written a song called "Cleo." And you know what it's about? Seems there was a girl in ancient and modern Rome whose name was Cleo and kicked up a big commotion in both eras. This week Bill and Joe record their sassy opus with a female choir backgrounding Joe's playing and singing.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at Random:

Maureen O'Hara's beautiful daughter Bronwyn, she's 18 now (is that possible?) is dating former pro football player Mike Henry. He left the Pittsburgh Steelers to turn actor and now both he and Bronwyn are working in Maureen's movie "Spencer's Mountain."

George Hamilton's last date in Hollywood before heading for Europe and "The Victors" was with Pamela Curran, recently divorced from Bob Sweeney.

Exotic Kamela Devi continues to be Chuck Connors leading lady on and off the screen ("Geronimo"). Their favorite dining by candle-light spot is the Villa Nova.

Congratulating the newly-wed Barry Sullivans at La Rue were adjoining booth diners Carol Channing, Gracie Allen and George Burns and Donna Reed and Tony Owen.

A staunch defender of Frank Sinatra in that cafe brawl with a photographer in San Francisco, is Frank Ross of the Mary Kaye Trio (playing there). "Frank was a perfect gentleman and was goaded into anger by this cameraman who wouldn't leave him alone, despite Frank's politeness to him," Ross sends word.

Brigid Bazlen, one of the real beauties, back in town and dining with friends on delicacies at the Kowloon.

Barry Chase's sole costume in "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" is a bikini and her dance partner, Dick Shawn's is bathing trunks—pretty nice in this hot, hot, hot weather.

Deepest sympathy to James B. Clark, director of "Misty" and other pictures, on the death of his 22-year-old daughter, mother of three children, who died of a heart attack Tuesday morning.

Beer Permit Given To Fair Association

The Cumberland Fair Association was granted a six-day permit Wednesday to sell beer, wine and liquor during the fair starting next Monday at Fairgo.

Action was taken by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners.

The board also heard testimony in connection with charges against Leo A. Kenney, trading as 'Doc' Kenney's at 99 East Main Street, Frostburg, in the sale of beer to minors. The board withheld a decision in the case.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What frightens me. How does possible that some people are not cut out for marriage? I'm beginning to think I'm one of those people.

I'm a woman 45 who has been widowed three times—twice grass and once sod. In all honesty I must count the last marriage a failure because it was heading for the rocks when my husband died.

I could have sworn that each of my marriages would last forever. I believed myself to be madly in love every time. This is NOT for everyone. In fact, this is the title of a chapter in my recent book.

The man I'm going with now is wonderful. I'm crazy about him but I'm afraid to accept the ring he's been carrying in his pocket for five weeks. He has had two marital flops, which gives us a combined total of five failures.

I'm extremely happy when I'm going with a man, but once we are married everything turns sour. Can it be, Ann, that marriage is not for everyone?

—DISENCHANTED

Dear Disenchanted: Marriage a person know?

A successful marriage is not a matter of luck. It is an achievement. Marriage demands a mature response to obligations and not everyone is equal to it.

Some women (and men, too) enjoy the glamorous and romantic aspects of courtship. They imagine it will continue forever. When reality klops them in the chops (diapers, in-laws, doctor bills, mortgages), they become disillusioned and bitter.

Marriage is not for the self-centered, the coward, or the unforgiving. It is only for those who know how to love—and give.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you kindly explain who pays the baby sitter when a man takes out a widow? Here is what happened and I would like your opinion:

It was my very first date with the woman. We had a lovely time and I knew I'd be asking her out again soon. Just to be polite I offered to pay the baby sitter when we got back to the house. I was dumbfounded when the woman held out her hand and said "Why of course you can pay her. That will be $3.25." I've been paying the sitter ever since.

This woman has a nice income and she owns her own home. She works part-time to keep busy and is not hard up for money. I'm not hard up either, but the principle seems wrong.

Since she is just as well off as I, do you feel it right that I should be stuck with this obligation?

—NOT A MILLIONAIRE

Dear Not: The woman should pay her sitter, but if you were not sincere in your offer you should have kept your bazoo closed. Now it's a little late to renege, without making an issue of it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A close friend of mine is expecting her first child in a few months. I have two children in school. I've stored the nursery furniture in my attic. My friend phoned yesterday to ask if she could borrow the furniture "for a year or two."

I am pregnant again, but I don't want anyone to know it, as I am only in my second month. How can I refuse to let her have the nursery furniture without telling her the reason? Please give me a sample sentence as you have often done for others. Thank you.

—PLENTY SURPRISED

Dear Plenty: One sample sentence coming up: "I hope one day to need the nursery furniture again, so if you don't mind I'm going to hang on to it."

Confidential to WANT TO HELP: This girl needs more help than you can give her during coffee breaks. It sounds as if her mother gave her an inferiority complex for a birthday present. She should have therapy.

Bicentennial Revue To Be Repeated Soon

Three Additional Shows Scheduled

ROMNEY, W. Va. — Popular clamor has resulted in the Romney Bicentennial Executive Committee's decision to stage the Romney Revue of '62 again the evenings of August 24, 25 and 26.

The show, declared to be the best produced by Emmet and Nina Oldfield of international theater fame, features pretty girls in gorgeous costumes dancing and singing their way through an hour on a stage under the stars. The outdoor pavillion was especially constructed on the campus of the West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind here.

During the show, special color effects and organ accompaniment lend a professional atmosphere. Feature acts spice up the presentation. Oldfield and Shingleton, dressed as "Mountain Dudes," reenact a hilarious routine which Oldfield has done many times on TV and the international stage. And Jack Vorbach picks the banjo, with organ background, to the sheer delight of the audience. It's a show that's pleasing to those seeking good, clean entertainment.

The last act depicts the War Between the States with its loyalties to both causes. In describing the struggle by means of movements of the characters together with special sound effects and lighting, an eerie scene of realism is viewed by the audience. The final movements illustrate the resolution of the Great Conflict in Union. The 20 girls, dressed alternately in blue and gray costumes with military-style hats, join forces, and are themselves joined by the chorus and the color bearers to sing "The Star Spangled Banner," while the majestic Statue of Liberty is floodlighted in the background.

The public is invited to see the Romney Revue Of '62 at 9 p.m. EDT Friday, Saturday or Sunday, August 24, 25 or 26.

Visits In Washington

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Pearl Sittig, Maple Street, has returned after visiting in Washington, D.C. and Frederick.

Navy Finishes Inventory Of Sugar Grove

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Gov. W. W. Barron said Thursday he had been informed by the White House that the Navy has completed its inventory of facilities at the Sugar Grove radio-telescope site.

Barron said this means that other government agencies which might be interested in taking over the facilities can start at once to review the Navy's property at the site of the abandoned 600-foot radio telescope.

The Office of Civil Defense and the National Bureau of Standards have expressed an interest in the installation.

The Navy has an investment of about $80 million in Sugar Grove.

Prizes Awarded At CDA Picnic

Land Proposed As Site For Bird Haven

A 3,000-acre tract of land in Canaan Valley of Tucker County which is owned by West Virginia and near the proposed site of a new power dam could be utilized as a migratory waterfowl winter and feeding area.

This was pointed out by Warden M. Lane, director of the West Virginia Department of Natural resources in connection with the program of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

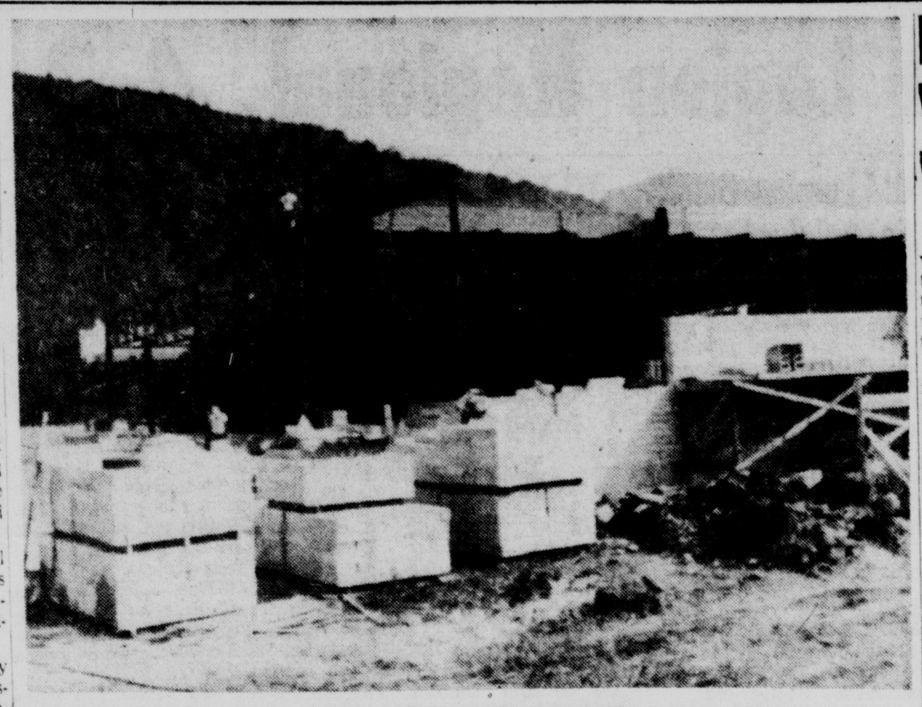
Lane said that the federal agency will use West Virginia as a "pilot state" in efforts to obtain federal aid for fish and wildlife projects.

Concerning the Canaan Valley prospects, Lane said that a system of dikes to trap shallow water in areas where millet and small grains could be planted would attract waterfowl to the area for feeding, particularly if the power dam is located nearby.

Lane stated that two such projects now under study are stream rehabilitation and the establishment of a migratory waterfowl area.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service will soon send a team of experts to West Virginia to study these plans and to prepare reports concerning their feasibility. If the projects are approved, the state and the federal agency will apply for funds of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Aside from the aid to the general wildlife aspect, another good "side-effect" of the projects could be the alleviation of unemployment in some counties where there are streams that need reclamation and renovation.



New Keyser Bowling Center Progressing

The new bowling center being built on New Creek Drive just outside of Keyser is shaping up. The heavy steel is up and some of the stone finishing is already being put on. The center is being built by the G. & C. McDermitt Company of York Springs, Pa., and is expected to be finished by late September. Facilities will include a nursery, lunch room, locker rooms, recreation room, toilets, 16 bowling lanes which can be separated by sliding curtains for private bowling.

Superintendent Reviews History Of Gymnasium

PARSONS, W. Va.—In order to give the facts concerning the proposed building program of the Tucker County Board of Education, Stelman Harper, county superintendent of schools, has briefly reviewed the past history of the Parsons, Thomas and Davis gymnasiums and that of the St. George Graded School from records in the county superintendent's office.

In 1933 the district boards of education were abolished by an act of the Legislature. This was the year in which the County Boards of Education came into existence.

By 1937 it was evident to the Board of Education that facilities for physical education were needed by the high schools of the county.

The following is a verbatim quotation of the minutes of the special meeting held by the Tucker County Board of Education on April 30, 1937.

"The Board of Education of Tucker County met in a special meeting in the office of the County Superintendent at Parsons for the purpose of receiving the Parsons Gymnasum from the Parsons Athletic Club. The meeting was called to order by the president, John R. Yeager and the following members were found to be present: John Auvil, G. C. Miller, Mrs. Virginia Currey and A. Smith Hockman. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Wolford and were approved by the Board."

"Mr. Rodney Barb presented to the board a release signed by all of the stockholders of the Parsons Athletic Club authorizing Rodney Barb to transfer the property to the Board of Education. The release and signatures thereto were read to the board of education by Mr. Wolford and was declared to be legal by Denny Scott, State Attorney who was representing the Board of Education in this transaction.

Mr. Marsh, the incoming member of the Board of Education was present at the meeting and expressed his opinion as one that favored the acceptance of the gymnasium. Following this discussion the following motion was made by Mr. Hockman and seconded by Mr. Auvil. "That the Board of Education accept the building known as the Parsons Athletic Building and the lot on which it is situated and take a deed from the Parsons Athletic Club for the property, for and in consideration of $1 with the proviso that the Board of Education does not accept responsibility for any indebtedness that is against the building at the present time." The motion was unanimously approved by the Board and so ordered.

There being no further business to discuss at the meeting, on a motion made and seconded the meeting was adjourned. Signed John R. Yeager, president and Shirley Cooper, secretary."

In other words there has never been a school gymnasium built in Blackfork District from public funds.

The gymnasium at Thomas was constructed as a W. P. A. project and completed in 1939 by the Tucker County Board of Education. Some money used to defray this cost was obtained from current Special Bond Issue funds at that time, as shown in the minutes of the board meeting dated February 6, 1939, the remainder being furnished by the U. S. Government through the WPA.

Women's Club Holds Event

LONACONING — The Lonaconing Women's Club held its annual dinner Tuesday night in the VFW Home. "Christmas in August" was the theme and Mrs. Betty Long distributed gifts.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Betty Getty. In charge of arrangements were Betty James, Elsie Wilson, Betty Long, Edith Smith, Betty Thomas and Mary Ann Blair.

Mrs. Naomi Grove, president, conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. Virginia Steiding is program chairman for the September and October meetings.

Mrs. Betty Thomas reported on the theme for the club demonstration at the Cumberland Fair next Wednesday. Miss Donna Thomas spoke on the work of the "Volunteens at Sacred Heart Hospital." Games were played and prizes awarded to Phyllis Nicol, Violet Howell, Ruth Clise, Louise Emch, Jennie J. Graham and Phyllis Rankin. Leona Gowans entertained at the piano.

Several Admitted To Miners Hospital

FROSTBURG — The following have been admitted to Miners Hospital this week: Elsie Robeson, RD 2; Doris Spiker, Midland; Martha Komatz, Eckhart; Jo Ann Schramm, Barton; Effie Garlitz, Cresaptown; Marion Johnson, Frostburg; Twila Wright, Eckhart; John McDonald, Midland; Mary Getson, Lonaconing; Inez Rizer, Frostburg; Paul McMahon, Midland; Helen Wiebrecht, Frostburg, and William Lashbaugh, Lonaconing.

Paula Kenney, seven-year-old daughter of Water Commissioner and Mrs. James Kenney, West Main Street, was treated at the hospital for a fractured collar bone Wednesday which she received in a fall while playing in her yard.

Squires Elect Two Delegates

MT. SAVAGE — Pat Mulligan and James Williams, members of the Cardinal Mooney Cirlce of Columbia Squires, have been elected to attend the third annual state Convention to be held in Cumberland August 18 and 19.

Dennis Mulligan, chief squire, and William Witt, deputy chief squire, will also attend the convention.

Mineral Co. Will Vote On Wheat Quotas

KEYSER — Wheat growers will vote August 30 on marketing quotas for the 1963 crop. Issues are the same as provided by permanenf legislation in effect before the 1962 emergency program.

In announcing the date for the referendum, Secretary of Agriculture Freeman said:

"With winter wheat planting near at hand, time will not permit any further delay in completing arrangements for the 1963 wheat program. Any Congressional action this summer on new legislation will apparently come too late to be put fully in effect for next year's wheat crop since farmers are at the time of year when their plans must be completed for 1963-crop winter wheat seedings.

"It may still be possible for the Congress to enact legislation to be effective for the 1963 crop which would improve farm returns, avoid accumulation of stocks, and reduce Government cost by continuing some of the features of the 1962 emergency wheat program. Holding the referendum August 30 will not preclude this possibility."

John S. Arnold Jr., chairman of the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, points out that the 1963 wheat program under existing legislation provides for farm acreage allotments set on the basis of a minimum 55-million-acre national wheat allotment. Minimum price support would be at a national average of $1.82 per bushel (75 per cent of parity) if farmers approve marketing quotas by at least a two-thirds vote in the August 30 referendum. Growers with more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain (but not those taking part in the feed-wheat program) who exceeded their 1963 wheat farm allotments would be subject to marketing quota penalties on their "excess" wheat under a quota program.

Pythian Lodge Plans Picnic

LONACONING — Rising Sun Lodge 86, Knights of Pythias, will hold its annual picnic at Swauger's, New Germany Recreation Area, Sunday.

4-H Tractor Contest Set Today

MORGANTOWN—The ninth annual state 4-H tractor operators' contest will be held during the West Virginia Dairy Cattle Show at Jackson's Mill. Waldo E. Bell, Extension agricultural engineering specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service of West Virginia University, announced here.

The contest—slated for today — is to open only to those 4-H members who are enrolled in the tractor maintenance project. Only one contestant from each county is eligible to compete.

Four events comprise the competition, written and practical examinations, safety and operation of the tractor with the two- and four-wheeled wagon. The scoring will be done by the "points off" system which means the contestant who makes the lowest score in the competition will be the winner.

"Although time is important in the event," Bell explained, "it is more a contest of skill."

The state winner will compete with winners from other eastern states at Richmond, Va., during the State Fair of Virginia later this year.

Judges for the West Virginia event will be W. C. McClernan, Uniontown, Pa., and R. R. Chrisman, Pittsburgh, representing cooperating oil companies: James Copeman, Fairmont of the Monongahela Power Company, and various county Extension Agricultural agents.

ENLISTS — Richard L. Crossland, son of Mrs. Helen V. Crossland, RFD 3, Keyser, has enlisted in the U.S. Army for three years and is at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Jackson, S. C. taking eight weeks of basic combat training. He is a 1962 graduate of Bruce High School, and enlisted for an assignment with the Army in Europe.

Dover Noses Out Cumberland In Legion Regional, 4-3, In 11th

Ft. Cumberland Post Will Play Saturday Game

Lawton's Hit Wins Game; New Jersey, D. C. Champs Score

By HOWARD NORTHCRAFT

Undefeated Walter L. Fox Post No. 2, of Dover, Del., scored its 15th victory of the season yesterday by nosing out Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, of Cumberland, in an eleven inning opening round battle in the American Legion's Eastern Regional junior baseball tournament at Burton Shipley Field, College Park, Md., by the score of 4-3.

In other first round contests in the double elimination tournament, Pasquariello-Bradley Post No. 187, of Paterson, N.J., edged Eph Boggs Post No. 49, of Williamson, W. Va., in the morning, 5-4, and Gaslight Post No. 44, of Washington, D.C., rallied in the ninth inning to eke out a 5-4 decision over Adam Plewacki Post, of Buffalo, N.Y.

Today at 10 a.m., Williamson faces Buffalo while at 1 p.m., Paterson will oppose Washington.

Cumberland and Dover drew byes today but both nines are slated to swing into action Saturday.

Play On Saturday

Fort Cumberland Post will face the winner of the Williamson-Buffalo contest Saturday at 10 a.m., and Dover will tangle with the winner of the Paterson-Washington game at 1 p.m.

Bob Reed, southpaw hurler, who went the distance for Dover, was safe on an error to open the 11th inning. Eddie Martin grounded to pitcher Jimmie Powelson, forcing Reed at second base. Billy Young singled to left and Martin stopped at second. Then Fred Lawton, Delaware second sacker, rapped a base hit to centerfield and Martin raced home with the winning run.

Cumberland scored the first run of the game in the fourth inning when Michael Long singled to center, pilfered second, Joe Ranker grounded out and Roland Hamilton smacked a two-bagger to center to plate Long.

Dover Takes 3-1 Lead

Dover took a 3-1 lead in the fifth. Lawton opened with a single, Ake was called out on strikes. Hardy got a life on an error by Jimmie Cox and Somerville hit to center for the first tally. A wild pitch by Ronnie Manges enabled Hardy to score and break the 1-1 deadlock and when Hamilton booted Hallenback's grounder Somerville crossed the plate.

In the 7th, Cumberland chopped Dover's lead to one run when Powelson drew a pass and scored in a triple by Bill Norris.

Cumberland knotted it up at 3-3 in the 8th. Long beat out a bunt to deep short and stole second base. After Ranker grounded out, Hamilton flied to deep center and Long advanced to third base after the catch. Long scored when Charles "Butch" Cross banged a base hit to centerfield.

Muff Opportunities

The Maryland champions muffed an opportunity to sew up the decision in the tenth when they advanced runners to third and second with none out but failed to score. Cox led off with a hit to short. An error by the second baseman on Long's fielder's choice enabled Cox to go to third while Long stopped at second. Reed struck out Ranker and Hamilton was safe on a fielder's choice to load the bases. Cross fanned and with Roger Flanagan at the plate, Cox was trapped off third base, ending the threat.

In the 11th with two away, Cumberland threatened again when Powelson singled to center and Norris smacked a double to right, but Cox flied to right field.

The Delaware champions put runners on third and second with two away in the 9th but the rally died when Hardy grounded out to first baseman Long.

Powelson Is Loser

The defeat was the second in 12 games for Fort Cumberland Post, appearing in the regional tourney for the first time since 1935. It was also the first setback for Lefty Powelson, the Ridgeley lefthander, who had won four consecutive contests in relief roles. Powelson, however, turned in a nice job after supplanting Manges in the 6th, scattering five hits, failing to issue a pass while his strikeout victims totaled five. Manges yielded four hits, whiffed six and issued one pass.

Lefty Reed was nicked for 12 safeties by Fort Cumberland, including a double and triple by Bill Norris and a pair of two-baggers by Hamilton. In posting his ninth straight win of the season, Reed struck out ten and walked three.

Four Cumberland players, Norris, Long, Hamilton and Cross garnered two hits each. Young paced Dover at the plate with three hits and Lawton obtained a pair of safeties.

Son Of Former Bruce Coach Gets Scholarship

Tom Eichhorn To Play At Northern Michigan College

Tom Eichhorn, 17-year-old son of Augie Eeichorn, former baseball, basketball and soccer coach at Bruce High School in Westernport, has received a four-year athletic scholarship at Northern Michigan College in Marquette, Mich.

The six-foot-two, 260-pound youngster was all-state honorable mention for two years as a center on the varsity football team at Pontiac Central High School where he was graduated this past June.

Young Tom also was a varsity wrestler for the Pontiac, Mich., high school and finished second this year in the Michigan Regional championships in the heavyweight class. He excelled in the shot put on the school track team.

Tom has been visiting the Tri-Towns area this summer after living the past seven years at Pontiac with his parents. He has been assisting Bruce High football coaches in preparing the Bulldogs for their first venture on the gridiron this season.

Tom will leave to report for football practice as a freshman at Northern Michigan on Tuesday.

The Michigan institution had the No. 1 small college football team three years ago and is in the top 10 on the small college list in pre-season ratings this year.

Young Tom's father, Augie Eichhorn, is currently line coach, head basketball mentor and Jayvees baseball coach at Waterford Township High School near Pontiac, beginning his second year there. He previously coached at Isaac Prairie High in football, basketball and track after leaving Bruce High seven years ago.

The elder Eichhorn succeeded Woody Woodson as basketball mentor at Bruce in the 1951-52 season after starting his coaching career at Flintstone High School. He handled the reins in soccer, basketball and baseball at Bruce until the 1955-56 season when he was succeeded by the present Bulldog mentor, Leonard Ritchie.

Frostburg Rotary, Jaycees Battle To 7-Inning Deadlock

The Jaycees and Rotary fought to a 6-6 standoff in seven innings yesterday in the opening game of the best-of-three final playoffs in the Frostburg Little League. The contest was called because of darkness and will be replayed today.

Dennis Clark hit a home run and a double for the Jaycees who rallied from a 5-3 deficit to take the lead briefly in the fifth inning with three runs. Ricky Kerr smacked a double and a four-bagger and Eddie Cooper chimed in with three hits including a two-base knock for Rotary which sent the game into overtime with a run in the last half of the fifth inning.

Jaycees	210	030	0—6	5	0
Rotary	302	010	0—6	9	3

(called 7 innings, darkness)

Danny Edwards, Joe Curran (7) and Dick Van Newkirk. Frank Cook, Billy Patterson (5) and Ed Copper.

HR — Clark (Jaycees), Kerr (Rotary).

Dan Indians Tie Playoff Series, Beat Tigers, 8-1

The Indians deadlocked the final series for the Dan Davision crown in the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday by beating the pennant-winning Tigers, 8-1, behind the five-hit, 13-strikeout pitching of Ralph Leasure at Leiper Street field.

The Indians pounded out 11 hits to hand Tommy Green the defeat as they tied the best-of-three series at one win apiece following the Tigers' opening game victory, 14-5. The third and deciding tilt has been scheduled for 6 p.m. Saturday at Constitution Park.

Green struck out eight Indians in less than four innings but was the victim of a four-run outburst in the third frame which decided the issue. Leasure gave up only five singles, including a pair by Freddie Hamilton and blanked the Tigers after they scored a run in the first inning.

Leasure paced the Indians at the plate with a triple and a double while Rick Kincaid chipped in with a pair of singles. Mike Shepherd excelled at first base for the victors. The results:

Indians	004	202	—8	11	2
Tigers	100	000	—1	5	2

Ralph Leasure and Ricky Kincaid. Tommy Green, Ricky Scaletta (4) and Fred Hamilton.

Loser — Green.

Moose Defeat Caseys, 1-0, On Fradiska Belt

Jim's Triple Gives Klavuhn Decision

Jim Fradiska's triple following a base on balls to Donnie Gibson accounted for the only run of the game in the fifth inning as the Loyal Order of Moose defeated the Caseys in the opening game of their Rocking Chair Softball League semi-final playoff series yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 1-0.

It was the fourth consecutive game in which the Caseys failed to score a run against the Moose. Their 9-inning scoreless tie in Wednesday's playoff game was preceded by a pair of 3-0 games during the regular schedule and yesterday's blanking ran the Casey's string to 30 scoreless innings in the series.

Dick Klavuhn, a 15-game winner during the regular season, registered his fourth straight triumph over the Caseys, having won previous games by scores of 6-4, 10-4 and 3-0. He turned in a 5-hit performance, struck out four and gave up three bases on balls.

Al Sheetz also twirled a 5-hitter, fanned four and issued three bases on balls. It was his second loss at the hands of the Moose, having lost a 3-0 decision to Hayden Phillips on July 26. He owns a 6-3 overall mark this season.

Klavuhn rapped a double and single while Fradiska had a single in addition to his three-base clout. The Moose infield of Pete Cecil, Donnie Gibson, Herman Lewis and Johnny Price turned in a number of outstanding plays.

McKenzie accounted for two of the Caseys' hits while "Bink" Bing rapped a two-bagger.

The second game of the series will be staged next week. Score:

Caseys	000	000	0—0	5	1
Moose	000	010	x—1	5	0

Al Sheetz and Donnie Farrell. Dick Klavuhn and "Bunk" Warnick.

Corriganville	6	18	.250
Wellersburg	1	22	.043

Tri-State Memorial took over the lead in the Pen Mar Little League yesterday by turning back Corriganville, 4-3, at Cresaptown while Barrelville upended the LaVale Maroons, 4-3, at Barrelville.

The Maroons had set the pace in the little loop for most of the season, but have dropped three of their last four games while Tri-State has won eight in succession. Barrelville and the Maroons will meet again today in the final game of the season for the LaVale nine. Tri-State has a contest remaining with last-place Wellersburg.

Larry Beachy tossed a four-hitter for Tri-State registering his sixth win as Bobby Deremer smacked his second homer of the game in the bottom of the sixth to snap a 3-3 deadlock. His first circuit blow came with one aboard to account for two first-inning runs for Tri-State. Kenny Kline had a double and single for Corriganville.

Barrelville rallied for two runs in the last of the sixth inning to edge the Maroons who lost their second straight game.

Trailing 3-2 in the final frame, Barrelville put together singles by John Helmick, Steve Trexler, Danny Cessna and Joe Beal for the winning tallies.

Losing pitcher Jimmy Evans banged out two hits for LaVale while Ken Blank had a double and Beal garnered two singles for Barrelville.

The LaVale Orioles bowed, 5-1, to Cresaptown's Eagles in the other game at Shehan Field in LaVale. Terry Horn struck out 11 Eagle batters but was touched for 11 hits including a home run and triple by Billy Shoup and three singles by Lynn Hardy. Lorn Phillips had two hits for the Orioles who collected only four off winning hurler Larry Appel. The results:

B'nai B'rith Trims Rotary

Gains Playoff Spot With 3-1 Thiumph

Mike Wilt hurled B'nai B'rith into the Hot Stove Baseball League playoffs yesterday when he turned back the Rotary Club, 3-1, yesterday at Mason Road field for the fourth straight win for Manager Buck Gephart's tossers.

The triumph enabled B'nai B'rith to close its season with a 16-11 record, deadlocked with Outdoor Club for third place in the standings.

Wilt went the route on a seven-hitter and struck out 13 while walking only two batters as he bested loser Bobby Powell in a tight mound duel. Powell whiffed seven but issued eight bases on balls which led to his downfall.

Bill Reed garnered three of the winners' five bingles off Powell while George Showalter with a three-bagger and Powell with a two-base sock paced the Rotary hitters. Elliott and Daniels also obtained two hits apiece for the losers.

Reed and Wilt collaborated to hurl B'nai B'rith to its four consecutive wins at the close of the season, the two allowing only two runs and four bases on balls over the four-game span. The B'rithmen also played errorless ball in the last three contests as they battled their way into the playoffs ahead of fifth-place Bedford Road. The results:

B'nai B'rith	102	000	0—3	5	0
Rotary Club	000	001	0—1	7	1

Mike Wilt and Larry Sidaway. Bobby Powell and Gary Neus.

Funk Says McGaga Is Worst Manager He Had Ever Seen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Relief pitcher Frank Funk, who was optioned to Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League, Thursday said Cleveland Indians manager Mel McGaha was the "worst manager" he had ever seen, adding that nearly every other Tribe player felt the same way.

"I'm not the only guy on the club who feels that way," Funk said. "That's why we're going so bad."

Funk said he was used merely as a mop-up man in sure-loss games here. He had a 1-1 record when shipped to Salt Lake City Thursday. He will be replaced by another Salt Lake pitcher, Dave Tyriver. Tyriver, 25-year-old southpaw, has a 5-5 record.

Old Furnace Blanks Second Baptist, 5-0, Trails By One Game

Old Furnace moved within a game of first place Pinto Mennonite in the Church Softball League's second half race by blanking second Baptist yesterday by the score of 5-0.

Pinto leads with a 7-0 record and Old Furnace holds the runner-up berth with a 6-1 mark.

Cresaptown Methodist, in third place with an 8-2 record, defeated the Salvation Army, 8-3, while Potomac Park E.U.B. downed First Methodist, 19-4, in other games played yesterday.

Reth Moreland pitched a 6-hitter for Old Furnace in shutting out Second Baptist (4-2).

Art Moreland collected four of Old Furnace's 14 hits.

Butch Lease, Glenn Clayton, Terry Broadwater and Bob Funk shared eight of Cresaptown Methodist's nine safeties. P. Miller and Hudson collected two hits each for the Salvation Army.

Potomac Park scored six runs in the fourth and seven in the 7th in routing First Methodist.

Haines and "Butch" Miller led the winners at the plate with two doubles and a single each. Robert Bishop garnered a two-bagger and single for First Methodist.

Scores:

Moore To Defend Title In Finland, Ross Will Referee

HELSINKI (UPI) — World featherweight champion Davey Moore will make his fifth defense of the title he won in 1959 Friday night when he meets Finland's Olli Maki in Helsinki's Olympic Stadium.

The 15-rounder will be the first world title fight ever staged in Scandinavia. Moore is a solid 4-1 favorite over the unranked Maki.

Moore, of Columbus, Ohio, is a veteran of 62 professional bouts. He has won 55, including 27 by knockout, lost six and had one draw.

Maki, Europe's amateur featherweight champion before he turned professional two years ago, has had only 10 fights. He has won eight, lost one and drew one. He has never scored a kayo.

Ex-world light and welterweight champion Barney Ross will be the referee and he alone will decide it.

Old Exports Belt Black Label, 12-2

The Old Exports thumped Carling's Black Label to the tune of 12-2 yesterday in a Rec Softball League game at Post Field.

Reed Clingerman sparked the Old Exports' 18-hit assault with 18 hits by hitting safely four times, including a pair of two-baggers. Hank Page rapped a triple and two singles, Dick Peck socked a home run and two singles, Bobby Page had a trio of one-base knocks, Jim Seeders homered and doubled and Ed Downton hit for the circuit.

Reggie Meade obtained two of the five hits given up by Gene Hess who notched his seventh win against six losses.

The Old Exports and Snyder's Grocery finished the regular season tied for third place with 15-9 records. In the toss for the playoff games, the Old Exports drew the Sports Shoppe as their opponents while the Old Germans will play Snyder's Grocery next week. Score:

Black Label	110	000	0—	2	5	4
Old Exports	301	350	x—12	18	3

Bob Chaney, Joe Biggs (5) and Younger. Gene Hess and Bobby Page.

Franklin	3	25	.107

Zihlman's Jimmy Diehl blanked Midland, 3-0, yesterday to snap the Twilight Baseball League leaders' four-game winning streak and enable Barton's Braves and Keyser to close the gap on first place.

Diehl outpitched loser Jimmy Winters with a four-hitter, getting all the runs he needed for his third mound triumph when centerfielder Butch Smith smashed a two-run homer in the third inning. Smith also had a single and Bob Deffinbaugh chimed in with a pair of base knocks for the winners while Ken Johnson's two-bagger was the only damaging blow obtained by Midland.

Meanwhile, Barton edged Westernport, 7-6, with a three-run rally in the bottom of the seventh, and Keyser nipped Lonaconing, 4-3, to tighten the battle for first place in the nine-team circuit.

Trailing 6-4 in the seventh, Barton came up with three runs when Sonny Metz opened the frame by reaching first on an error. Cokey Robertson, Ellie Fazenbaker and Ed Warnick followed with singles to tie the score and Johnny Johnson doubled to drive home the winning tally.

Metz banged out a home run and double and Ellie Fazenbaker collected three singles to pace the Braves at the plate. Clyde Broadwater's home run and single and a two-run circuit clout by Joe Niland, were the big blows for Westernport.

Lou Fazenbaker was the winner in relief of starter Mike Muir. Niland absorbed the loss, also in relief.

Keyser shoved over a single run in the seventh on Gary Keedy's sacrifice fly to nip Lonaconing. Rich Robinson was the winner over Rich Cutter in the mound duel at Keyser.

Bobby Wilson belted a pair of two-baggers and Hank Winner garnered a pair of hits for Lonaconing. Gene Kuykendall's two hits and a three-bagger by Joe Pezzanite led Keyser's attack.

In a game at Fort Hill field here, Cumberland's Comets snapped a seven-game losing streak by downing last-place Franklin, 6-3, with Norman Lamp going the route for the victors.

Paul Stickley and John Horwath shared six of the winners' 11 bingles while Bennett had a home run and triple for Franklin. The results:

Kansas City Tops Senators For 13th Time, 4-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) —Ed Rakow pitched a four-hitter Thursday to give the Kansas City Athletics their 13th consecutive victory over the Washington Senators, 4-2.

Rakow, in winning his 11th game, yielded single runs in the first and fourth innings, while besting Washington pitcher Claude Osteen for the third time in a row in their personal duel.

The Athletics scored twice in the second inning on George Alusik's single, a triple by Bobby Del Greco and Haywood Sullivan's squeeze bunt single.

Kansas City added two more runs in the fifth inning on a triple by Ed Charles, a double by Jerry Lumpe and Alusik's single.

Corriganville Evens Series

Beats Stringtown In 2nd Game, 5-1

Corriganville squared its playoff series with Stringtown in the County Softball League by winning yesterday at Corriganville by the score of 5-1.

The teams will tangle today in the "rubber" game of the best-of-three semi-final series at Stringtown at 6:15 and the winner will tackle Hyndman in the best-of-five final playoff series.

Kenny Perdew and Leonard Crosten limited Stringtown, winner of the series opener, 2-0, to two singles in yesterday's game. The hits were credited to Jerry Stair and Leon Raygor, losing hurler.

Corriganville's five hits were made by Bill Burkett, Bill Clauson, Dick Niner, Junior Eversole and "Boots" Raygor.

Dover Noses Out Cumberland In Legion Regional, 4-3, In 11th

Ft. Cumberland Post Will Play Saturday Game

Lawton's Hit Wins Game; New Jersey, D. C. Champs Score

By HOWARD NORTHCRAFT

Undefeated Walter L. Fox Post No. 2, of Dover, Del., scored its 15th victory of the season yesterday by nosing out Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, of Cumberland, in an eleven inning opening round battle in the American Legion's Eastern Regional junior baseball tournament at Burton Shipley Field, College Park, Md., by the score of 4-3.

In other first round contests in the double elimination tournament, Pasquariello-Bradley Post No. 187, of Paterson, N.J., edged Eph Boggs Post No. 49, of Williamson, W. Va., in the morning, 5-4, and Gaslight Post No. 44, of Washington, D.C., rallied in the ninth inning to eke out a 5-4 decision over Adam Plewacki Post, of Buffalo, N.Y.

Today at 10 a.m., Williamson faces Buffalo while at 1 p.m., Paterson will oppose Washington.

Cumberland and Dover drew byes today but both nines are slated to swing into action Saturday.

Play On Saturday

Fort Cumberland Post will face the winner of the Williamson-Buffalo contest Saturday at 10 a.m., and Dover will tangle with the winner of the Paterson-Washington game at 1 p.m.

Bob Reed, southpaw hurler, who went the distance for Dover, was safe on an error to open the 11th inning. Eddie Martin grounded to pitcher Jimmie Powelson, forcing Reed at second base. Billy Young singled to left and Martin stopped at second. Then Fred Lawton, Delaware second sacker, rapped a base hit to centerfield and Martin raced home with the winning run.

Cumberland scored the first run of the game in the fourth inning when Michael Long singled to center, pilfered second, Joe Ranker grounded out and Roland Hamilton smacked a two-bagger to center to plate Long.

Dover Takes 3-1 Lead

Dover took a 3-1 lead in the fifth. Lawton opened with a single, Ake was called out on strikes. Hardy got a life on an error by Jimmie Cox and Somerville hit to center for the first tally. A wild pitch by Ronnie Manges enabled Hardy to score and break the 1-1 deadlock and when Hamilton booted Hallenback's grounder Somerville crossed the plate.

In the 7th, Cumberland chopped Dover's lead to one run when Powelson drew a pass and scored in a triple by Bill Norris.

Cumberland knotted it up at 3-3 in the 8th. Long beat out a bunt to deep short and stole second base. After Ranker grounded out, Hamilton flied to deep center and Long advanced to third base after the catch. Long scored when Charles "Butch" Cross banged a base hit to centerfield.

Muff Opportunities

The Maryland champions muffed an opportunity to sew up the decision in the tenth when they advanced runners to third and second with none out but failed to score. Cox led off with a hit to short. An error by the second baseman on Long's fielder's choice enabled Cox to go to third while Long stopped at second. Reed struck out Ranker and Hamilton was safe on a fielder's choice to load the bases. Cross fanned and with Roger Flanagan at the plate, Cox was trapped off third base, ending the threat.

In the 11th with two away, Cumberland threatened again when Powelson singled to center and Norris smacked a double to right, but Cox flied to right field.

The Delaware champions put runners on third and second with two away in the 9th but the rally died when Hardy grounded out to first baseman Long.

Powelson Is Loser

The defeat was the second in 12 games for Fort Cumberland Post, appearing in the regional tourney for the first time since 1935. It was also the first setback for Lefty Powelson, the Ridgeley lefthander, who had won four consecutive contests in relief roles. Powelson, however, turned in a nice job after supplanting Manges in the 6th, scattering five hits, failing to issue a pass while his strikeout victims totaled five. Manges yielded four hits, whiffed six and issued one pass.

Lefty Reed was nicked for 12 safeties by Fort Cumberland, including a double and triple by Bill Norris and a pair of two-baggers by Hamilton. In posting his ninth straight win of the season, Reed struck out ten and walked three.

Four Cumberland players, Norris, Long, Hamilton and Cross garnered two hits each. Young paced Dover at the plate with three hits and Lawton obtained a pair of safeties.

Son Of Former Bruce Coach Gets Scholarship

Tom Eichhorn To Play At Northern Michigan College

Tom Eichhorn, 17-year-old son of Augie Eeichorn, former baseball, basketball and soccer coach at Bruce High School in Westernport, has received a four-year athletic scholarship at Northern Michigan College in Marquette, Mich.

The six-foot-two, 260-pound youngster was all-state honorable mention for two years as a center on the varsity football team at Pontiac Central High School where he was graduated this past June.

Young Tom also was a varsity wrestler for the Pontiac, Mich., high school and finished second this year in the Michigan Regional championships in the heavyweight class. He excelled in the shot put on the school track team.

Tom has been visiting the Tri-Towns area this summer after living the past seven years at Pontiac with his parents. He has been assisting Bruce High football coaches in preparing the Bulldogs for their first venture on the gridiron this season.

Tom will leave to report for football practice as a freshman at Northern Michigan on Tuesday. The Michigan institution had the No. 1 small college football team three years ago and is in the top 10 on the small college list in pre-season ratings this year.

Young Tom's father, Augie Eichhorn, is currently line coach, head basketball mentor and Jayvees baseball coach at Waterford Township High School near Pontiac, beginning his second year there. He previously coached at Isaac Prairie High in football, basketball and track after leaving Bruce High seven years ago.

The elder Eichhorn succeeded Woody Woodson as basketball mentor at Bruce in the 1951-52 season after starting his coaching career at Flintstone High School. He handled the reins in soccer, basketball and baseball at Bruce until the 1955-56 season when he was succeeded by the present Bulldog mentor, Leonard Ritchie.

Frostburg Rotary, Jaycees Battle To 7-Inning Deadlock

The Jaycees and Rotary fought to a 6-6 standoff in seven innings yesterday in the opening game of the best-of-three final playoffs in the Frostburg Little League. The contest was called because of darkness and will be replayed today.

Dennis Clark hit a home run and a double for the Jaycees who rallied from a 5-3 deficit to take the lead briefly in the fifth inning with three runs. Ricky Kerr smacked a double and a four-bagger and Eddie Cooper chimed in with three hits including a two-base knock for Rotary which sent the game into overtime with a run in the last half of the fifth inning.

Rotary, after winning a special playoff game for fourth place, defeated the Lions in the semi-finals while Jaycees eliminated the pennant-winning Knights of Columbus in their semi-final meeting. The results:

Jaycees	210	030	0—6	5	0

Dan Indians Tie Playoff Series, Beat Tigers, 8-1

The Indians deadlocked the final series for the Dan Davision crown in the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday by beating the pennant-winning Tigers, 8-1, behind the five-hit, 13-strikeout pitching of Ralph Leasure at Leiper Street field.

The Indians pounded out 11 hits to hand Tommy Green the defeat as they tied the best-of-three series at one win apiece following the Tigers' opening game victory, 14-5. The third and deciding tilt has been scheduled for 6 p.m. Saturday at Constitution Park.

Green struck out eight Indians in less than four innings but was the victim of a four-run outburst in the third frame which decided the issue. Leasure gave up only five singles, including a pair by Freddie Hamilton and blanked the Tigers after they scored a run in the first inning.

Leasure paced the Indians at the plate with a triple and a double while Rick Kincaid chipped in with a pair of singles. Mike Shepherd excelled at first base for the victors. The results:

Indians	004	202—8	11 2
Tigers	100	000—1	5 2

Ralph Leasure and Ricky Kincaid. Tommy Green, Ricky Scaletta (4) and Fred Hamilton.

Loser — Green.

Tri-State Memorial took over the lead in the Pen Mar Little League yesterday by turning back Corriganville, 4-3, at Cresaptown while Barrelville upended the LaVale Maroons, 4-3, at Barrelville.

The Maroons had set the pace in the little loop for most of the season, but have dropped three of their last four games while Tri-State has won eight in succession. Barrelville and the Maroons will meet again today in the final game of the season for the LaVale nine. Tri-State has a contest remaining with last-place Wellersburg.

Larry Beachy tossed a four-hitter for Tri-State registering his sixth win as Bobby Deremer smacked his second homer of the game in the bottom of the sixth to snap a 3-3 deadlock. His first circuit blow came with one aboard to account for two first-inning runs for Tri-State. Kenny Kline had a double and single for Corriganville.

Barrelville rallied for two runs in the last of the sixth inning to edge the Maroons who lost their second straight game.

Trailing 3-2 in the final frame, Barrelville put together singles by John Helmick, Steve Trexler, Danny Cessna and Joe Beal for the winning tallies.

Losing pitcher Jimmy Evans banged out two hits for LaVale while Ken Blank had a double and Beal garnered two singles for Barrelville.

The LaVale Orioles bowed, 5-1, to Cresaptown's Eagles in the other game at Shehan Field in LaVale. Terry Horn struck out 11 Eagle batters but was touched for 11 hits including a home run and triple by Billy Shoup and three singles by Lynn Hardy. Lorn Phillips had two hits for the Orioles who collected only four off winning hurler Larry Appel. The results:

Moose Defeat Caseys, 1-0, On Fradiska Belt

Jim's Triple Gives Klavuhn Decision

Jim Fradiska's triple following a base on balls to Donnie Gibson accounted for the only run of the game in the fifth inning as the Loyal Order of Moose defeated the Caseys in the opening game of their Rocking Chair Softball League semi-final playoff series yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 1-0.

It was the fourth consecutive game in which the Caseys failed to score a run against the Moose. Their 9-inning scoreless tie in Wednesday's playoff game was preceded by a pair of 3-0 games during the regular schedule and yesterday's blanking ran the Casey's string to 30 scoreless innings in the series.

Dick Klavuhn, a 15-game winner during the regular season, registered his fourth straight triumph over the Caseys, having won previous games by scores of 6-4, 10-4 and 3-0. He turned in a 5-hit performance, struck out four and gave up three bases on balls.

Al Sheetz also twirled a 5-hitter, fanned four and issued three bases on balls. It was his second loss at the hands of the Moose, having lost a 3-0 decision to Hayden Phillips on July 26. He owns a 6-3 overall mark this season.

Klavuhn rapped a double and single while Fradiska had a single in addition to his three-base clout. The Moose infield of Pete Cecil, Donnie Gibson, Herman Lewis and Johnny Price turned in a number of outstanding plays.

McKenzie accounted for two of the Caseys' hits while "Bink" Bing rapped a two-bagger.

The second game of the series will be staged next week. Score:

Caseys	000	000	0—0	5	1
Moose	000	010	x—1	5	0

Al Sheetz and Donnie Farrell. Dick Klavuhn and "Bunk" Warnick.

B'nai B'rith Trims Rotary

Gains Playoff Spot With 3-1 Thiumph

Mike Wilt hurled B'nai B'rith into the Hot Stove Baseball League playoffs yesterday when he turned back the Rotary Club, 3-1, yesterday at Mason Road field for the fourth straight win for Manager Buck Gephart's tossers.

The triumph enabled B'nai B'rith to close its season with a 16-11 record, deadlocked with Outdoor Club for third place in the standings.

Wilt went the route on a seven-hitter and struck out 13 while walking only two batters as he bested loser Bobby Powell in a tight mound duel. Powell whiffed seven but issued eight bases on balls which led to his downfall.

Bill Reed garnered three of the winners' five bingles off Powell while George Showalter with a three-bagger and Powell with a two-base sock paced the Rotary hitters. Elliott and Daniels also obtained two hits apiece for the losers.

Reed and Wilt collaborated to hurl B'nai B'rith to its four consecutive wins at the close of the season, the two allowing only two runs and four bases on balls over the four-game span. The B'rithmen also played errorless ball in the last three contests as they battled their way into the playoffs ahead of fifth-place Bedford Road. The results:

B'nai B'rith	102	000	0—3	5	0

Mike Wilt and Larry Sidaway. Bobby Powell and Gary Neus.

Funk Says McGaga Is Worst Manager He Had Ever Seen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Relief pitcher Frank Funk, who was optioned to Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League, Thursday said Cleveland Indians manager Mel McGaha was the "worst manager" he had ever seen, adding that nearly every other Tribe player felt the same way.

"I'm not the only guy on the club who feels that way," Funk said. "That's why we're going so bad."

Funk said he was used merely as a mop-up man in sure-loss games here. He had a 1-1 record when shipped to Salt Lake City Thursday. He will be replaced by another Salt Lake pitcher, Dave Tyriver. Tyriver, 25-year - old southpaw, has a 5-5 record.

Old Furnace Blanks Second Baptist, 5-0, Trails By One Game

Old Furnace moved within a game of first place Pinto Mennonite in the Church Softball League's second half race by blanking second Baptist yesterday by the score of 5-0.

Pinto leads with a 7-0 record and Old Furnace holds the runner-up berth with a 6-1 mark.

Cresaptown Methodist, in third place with an 8-2 record, defeated the Salvation Army, 8-3, while Potomac Park E.U.B. downed First Methodist, 19-4, in other games played yesterday.

Reth Moreland pitched a 6-hitter for Old Furnace in shutting out Second Baptist (4-2).

Art Moreland collected four of Old Furnace's 14 hits.

Butch Lease, Glenn Clayton, Terry Broadwater and Bob Funk shared eight of Cresaptown Methodist's nine safeties. P. Miller and Hudson collected two hits each for the Salvation Army.

Potomac Park scored six runs in the fourth and seven in the 7th in routing First Methodist.

Haines and "Butch" Miller led the winners at the plate with two doubles and a single each. Robert Bishop garnered a two-bagger and single for First Methodist.

Moore To Defend Title In Finland, Ross Will Referee

HELSINKI (UPI) — World featherweight champion Davey Moore will make his fifth defense of the title he won in 1959 Friday night when he meets Finland's Olli Maki in Helsinki's Olympic Stadium.

The 15-rounder will be the first world title fight ever staged in Scandinavia. Moore is a solid 4-1 favorite over the unranked Maki.

Moore, of Columbus, Ohio, is a veteran of 62 professional bouts. He has won 55, including 27 by knockout, lost six and had one draw.

Maki, Europe's amateur featherweight champion before he turned professional two years ago, has had only 10 fights. He has won eight, lost one and drew one. He has never scored a kayo.

Ex-world light and welterweight champion Barney Ross will be the referee and he alone will decide it.

Old Exports Belt Black Label, 12-2

The Old Exports thumped Carling's Black Label to the tune of 12-2 yesterday in a Rec Softball League game at Post Field.

Reed Clingerman sparked the Old Exports' 18-hit assault with 18 hits by hitting safely four times, including a pair of two-baggers. Hank Page rapped a triple and two singles, Dick Peck socked a home run and two singles, Bobby Page had a trio of one-base knocks, Jim Seeders homered and doubled and Ed Downton hit for the circuit.

Reggie Meade obtained two of the five hits given up by Gene Hess who notched his seventh win against six losses.

The Old Exports and Snyder's Grocery finished the regular season tied for third place with 15-9 records. In the toss for the playoff games, the Old Exports drew the Sports Shoppe as their opponents while the Old Germans will play Snyder's Grocery next week. Score:

Black Label	110	000	0—	2	5 4

Zihlman's Jimmy Diehl blanked Midland, 3-0, yesterday to snap the Twilight Baseball League leaders' four-game winning streak and enable Barton's Braves and Keyser to close the gap on first place.

Diehl outpitched loser Jimmy Winters with a four-hitter, getting all the runs he needed for his third mound triumph when centerfielder Butch Smith smashed a two-run homer in the third inning. Smith also had a single and Bob Deffinbaugh chimed in with a pair of base knocks for the winners while Ken Johnson's two-bagger was the only damaging blow obtained by Midland.

Meanwhile, Barton edged Westernport, 7-6, with a three-run rally in the bottom of the seventh, and Keyser nipped Lonaconing, 4-3, to tighten the battle for first place in the nine-team circuit.

Trailing 6-4 in the seventh, Barton came up with three runs when Sonny Metz opened the frame by reaching first on an error. Cokey Robertson, Ellie Fazenbaker and Ed Warnick followed with singles to tie the score and Johnny Johnson doubled to drive home the winning tally.

Metz banged out a home run and double and Ellie Fazenbaker collected three singles to pace the Braves at the plate. Clyde Broadwater's home run and single and a two-run circuit clout by Joe Niland, were the big blows for Westernport.

Lou Fazenbaker was the winner in relief of starter Mike Muir. Niland absorbed the loss, also in relief.

Keyser shoved over a single run in the seventh on Gary Keedy's sacrifice fly to nip Lonaconing. Rich Robinson was the winner over Rich Cutter in the mound duel at Keyser.

Bobby Wilson belted a pair of two-baggers and Hank Winner garnered a pair of hits for Lonaconing. Gene Kuykendall's two hits and a three-bagger by Joe Pezzanite led Keyser's attack.

In a game at Fort Hill field here, Cumberland's Comets snapped a seven-game losing streak by downing last-place Franklin, 6-3, with Norman Lamp going the route for the victors.

Paul Stickley and John Horwath shared six of the winners' 11 bingles while Bennett had a home run and triple for Franklin. The results:

Kansas City Tops Senators For 13th Time, 4-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) —Ed Rakow pitched a four-hitter Thursday to give the Kansas City Athletics their 13th consecutive victory over the Washington Senators, 4-2.

Rakow, in winning his 11th game, yielded single runs in the first and fourth innings, while besting Washington pitcher Claude Osteen for the third time in a row in their personal duel.

The Athletics scored twice in the second inning on George Alusik's single, a triple by Bobby Del Greco and Haywood Sullivan's squeeze bunt single.

Kansas City added two more runs in the fifth inning on a triple by Ed Charles, a double by Jerry Lumpe and Alusik's single.

Junior Golf Meet Set Today At CCC

The third annual Junior Golf Tournament gets under way today at 10 a.m., at the Cumberland Country Club.

The winner will receive the Allan Kendall Memorial Trophy, won last year by "Chuck" Butts, who will not be on hand to defend it.

Steve Johnson was the first winner in 1960.

Those planning to play and have not registered have until early today to do so at the club golf shop.

Titans Trade Dorow To Buffalo Bills

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills acquired veteran quarterback Al Dorow from the New York Titans Thursday in a two-for-one American Football League trade.

A spokesman for the Bills announced safetyman Billy Atkins and quarterback Johnny Green were traded to the Titans.

Atkins' trade was conditional subject to his recovering from a shoulder injury received in Wednesday night's Buffalo-Boston game which the Patriots won 12-7. Another player, agreeable to both teams, would be sent to New York in event of serious injury to Atkins.

Archery Tournament Set For Frostburg

Titans Trade Dorow To Buffalo Bills

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills acquired veteran quarterback Al Dorow from the New York Titans Thursday in a two-for-one American Football League trade.

A spokesman for the Bills announced safetyman Billy Atkins and quarterback Johnny Green were traded to the Titans.

Atkins' trade was conditional subject to his recovering from a shoulder injury received in Wednesday night's Buffalo-Boston game which the Patriots won 12-7. Another player, agreeable to both teams, would be sent to New York in event of serious injury to Atkins.

Pesky Chicago Blanks Giants

Hubbs Extends Mark In 6-0 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Don Cardwell and the pesky eighth-place Chicago Cubs sidetracked the pennant-chasing San Francisco Giants again Thursdey with a 6-0 victory.

Cardwell, turning in one of his finest performances this season, was backed with a 15-hit attack including three hits by fielding sensation Ken Hubbs.

Hubbs whacked out a pair of singles and a triple and extended his National League fielding record for second baseman to 59 games without an error. Hubbs, who broke Red Schoendienst's 12-year mark Wednesday, handled five chances without a miscue.

Cardwell scored his sixth victory in 17 decisions, limiting the second-place Giants to six hits while striking out eight.

The Cubs got after southpaw Billy Pierce quickly and sent the former American League star to the showers after four innings with his fourth defeat against 11 victories.

Steve Johnson Will Play In Jaycee International

Goes To Huntington Sunday For 72-Hole Golf Test Next Week

Steve Johnson, youthful golf star of the Cumberland Country Club, leaves Sunday for Huntington, W. Va., to compete in the Jaycee International Golf Tournament, a 72-hole medal play event, which gets under way Wednesday, August 22, and ends Sunday, August 26.

Johnson will be competing in the international event for the third time, having played at Portsmouth, Va., in 1959 and at Waterloo, Iowa, in 1960. Steve qualified for the international at Denver, Colo., last year but did not compete due to a hand injury.

Johnson earned a berth at Huntington by winning a "sudden death" playoff for fourth place in the Maryland Jaycee Tournament at College Park, the latter part of June. He defeated Bob Roberts, of Baltimore, after they had tied at 151 each.

Kent Kittle, of Bethesda, paced a field of 34 players to win the Maryland event with a score of 145. Three strokes back was Mel Rifman, of Baltimore, while Bill Watson, Catonsville, was third with 150.

The four low scorers at College Park are eligible to compete at Huntington next week.

Twins Edge Yankees, 9-8

Allen's Fourth Hit Wins Game In 10th

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —Bernie Allen's fourth hit of the game scored Bob Allison with the winning run in the last of the 10th inning as Minnesota nicked New York 9-8 Thursday to gain a 2-2 split in a four-game series.

The seesaw contest was settled when Allen caught one of reliever Marshall Bridges' fast balls and blooped it barely fair into left field with one out. The hit scored Allison, who had walked and been sacrificed to second.

It was Bridges' first defeat after six straight wins. The triumph pulled the Twins back within 6½ games of first place.

The Twins had rallied to tie it 8-8 on Rich Rollins' two-out single in the last of the ninth.

Chisox Pound Indians, 11-6

Fisher Is Victor; Maxwell Hits Homer

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox pounded Cleveland pitching for the third straight day Thursday as they beat the hapless Indians 11-6.

The White Sox scored a total of 32 runs in taking three out of four games from the Indians over the three-day span.

They started off with a seven-run first inning. Jim (Mudcat) Grant walked in two Chicago runs before Ruben Gomez took over. With none out and the score 3-0, Gomez walked in a fourth run. The other runs in the big inning were scored on singles and a sacrifice fly.

The White Sox added two runs in the fourth inning and two in the sixth, when Charlie Maxwell slammed a home run, his ninth.

Winning pitcher Eddie Fisher (5-4) gave up 12 hits. Grant (6-5) was the loser.

Jerry Kindall and Ty Cline hit ninth-inning home runs for the Indians.

Maury Runs Stolen Bases Total To 62

Doug Bats In Four Runs; Los Angeles' Lead Is 2½ Games

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers combined the flying feet of Maury Wills with Doug Camilli's potent bat Thursday night to score a 7-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and chatter a five-game losing streak.

Camilli, making his first start since June 24, drove in four runs with a homer, single and sacrifice fly. Wills stole two bases to run his season total to 62, collected three singles, scored one run and drove in another.

Wills' 62 stolen bases are the highest total in one season since Max Carey pilfered 63 for the Pirates in 1918.

Combined with San Francisco's loss today to the Chicago Cubs, the victory stretched the Dodgers' National League lead to 2½ games.

Pittsburgh, aiming for a sweep of the three-game series, jumped on Stan Williams for three runs in the first inning, thanks to a gift double.

Bill Virdon and Dick Groat opened the frame with singles and Bob Skinner lifted a fly ball to left field. But Wally Moon lost the ball in the lights and it fell for a double to score two runs. Roberto Clemente's sacrifice fly drove in Skinner.

The Dodgers got two runs back in the third when Wills and Junior Gilliam singled, then worked a double steal. Willie Davis scored them both with a single to left.

Camilli's sacrifice fly in the fourth sent home Ron Fairly from third to tie the game at 3-3.

The Dodgers loaded the bases in the sixth on two singles and a walk and two runs scored on Camilli's hit to left. When Skinner threw wild to the plate, Camilli took second and Moon went to third. Earl Francis replaced starter Joe Gibbon and fanned Williams for the second out, but Wills beat out a grounder to deep short to tally Moon.

Camilli clouted his third homer of the season leading off the eighth inning.

The Dodgers collected 14 hits off three Pirate pitchers. Williams and Ron Perranoski held the Pirates to seven safeties.

Six Tie For Lead In St. Paul Open

Pacesetters Post 66s For Opening Round

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) —Six young pros rifled six-under-par 66s Thursday to share the first-round lead in the $30,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament.

Joe Campbell, Rex Bayster Jr., Frank Wharton, Dave Ragan, Bob Shave Jr., and Doug Sanders fashioned the rounds over the par 36-36—72 Keller golf course.

Pete Cooper, 47-year-old veteran, Buster Cupit, Dave Hill, and Johnny Pott, collected 67s. Grouped at 68 were Tony Lema, Tommy Bolt, Bruce Devlin, Dow Finsterwald and Jack McGowan.

PGA champion Gary Player, slight favorite for the crown going into the first round, developed a sour short game and finished four strokes behind the leaders with 70.

Defending champion Don January, who opened last year with 66, was bracketed at 71 with several others.

Pesky Chicago Blanks Giants

Hubbs Extends Mark In 6-0 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Don Cardwell and the pesky eighth-place Chicago Cubs sidetracked the pennant-chasing San Francisco Giants again Thursday with a 6-0 victory.

Cardwell, turning in one of his finest performances this season, was backed with a 15-hit attack including three hits by fielding sensation Ken Hubbs.

Hubbs whacked out a pair of singles and a triple and extended his National League fielding record for second baseman to 59 games without an error. Hubbs, who broke Red Schoendienst's 12-year mark Wednesday, handled five chances without a miscue.

Cardwell scored his sixth victory in 17 decisions, limiting the second-place Giants to six hits while striking out eight.

WVU Gets Cavacini

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia University has given a basketball grant-in-aid to Charleston High School guard John Cavacini, coach George King announced Thursday.

The 6-foot-3, 165-pound Charleston star is the only guard candidate entering West Virginia this year, King said.

Steve Johnson Will Play In Jaycee International

Goes To Huntington Sunday For 72-Hole Golf Test Next Week

Steve Johnson, youthful golf star of the Cumberland Country Club, leaves Sunday for Huntington, W. Va., to compete in the Jaycee International Golf Tournament, a 72-hole medal play event, which gets under way Wednesday, August 22, and ends Sunday, August 26.

Johnson will be competing in the international event for the third time, having played at Portsmouth, Va., in 1959 and at Waterloo, Iowa, in 1960. Steve qualified for the international at Denver, Colo., last year but did not compete due to a hand injury.

Johnson earned a berth at Huntington by winning a "sudden death" playoff for fourth place in the Maryland Jaycee Tournament at College Park, the latter part of June. He defeated Bob Roberts, of Baltimore, after they had tied at 151 each.

Kent Kittle, of Bethesda, paced a field of 34 players to win the Maryland event with a score of 145. Three strokes back was Mel Rifman, of Baltimore, while Bill Watson, Catonsville, was third with 150.

The four low scorers at College Park are eligible to compete at Huntington next week.

Allen's Fourth Hit Wins Game In 10th

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —Bernie Allen's fourth hit of the game scored Bob Allison with the winning run in the last of the 10th inning as Minnesota nicked New York 9-8 Thursday to gain a 2-2 split in a four-game series.

The seesaw contest was settled when Allen caught one of reliever Marshall Bridges' fast balls and blooped it barely fair into left field with one out. The hit scored Allison, who had walked and been sacrificed to second.

It was Bridges' first defeat after six straight wins. The triumph pulled the Twins back within 6½ games of first place.

The Twins had rallied to tie it 8-8 on Rich Rollins' two-out single in the last of the ninth.

Chisox Pound Indians, 11-6

Fisher Is Victor; Maxwell Hits Homer

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox pounded Cleveland pitching for the third straight day Thursday as they beat the hapless Indians 11-6.

The White Sox scored a total of 32 runs in taking three out of four games from the Indians over the three-day span.

They started off with a seven-run first inning. Jim (Mudcat) Grant walked in two Chicago runs before Ruben Gomez took over. With none out and the score 3-0, Gomez walked in a fourth run. The other runs in the big inning were scored on singles and a sacrifice fly.

The White Sox added two runs in the fourth inning and two in the sixth, when Charlie Maxwell slammed a home run, his ninth.

Winning pitcher Eddie Fisher (5-4) gave up 12 hits. Grant (6-5) was the loser.

Jerry Kindall and Ty Cline hit ninth-inning home runs for the Indians.

Maury Runs Stolen Bases Total To 62

Doug Bats In Four Runs; Los Angeles' Lead Is 2½ Games

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers combined the flying feet of Maury Wills with Doug Camilli's potent bat Thursday night to score a 7-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and chatter a five-game losing streak.

Camilli, making his first start since June 24, drove in four runs with a homer, single and sacrifice fly. Wills stole two bases to run his season total to 62, collected three singles, scored one run and drove in another.

Wills' 62 stolen bases are the highest total in one season since Max Carey pilfered 63 for the Pirates in 1918.

Combined with San Francisco's loss today to the Chicago Cubs, the victory stretched the Dodgers' National League lead to 2½ games.

Pittsburgh, aiming for a sweep of the three-game series, jumped on Stan Williams for three runs in the first inning, thanks to a gift double.

Bill Virdon and Dick Groat opened the frame with singles and Bob Skinner lifted a fly ball to left field. But Wally Moon lost the ball in the lights and it fell for a double to score two runs. Roberto Clemente's sacrifice fly drove in Skinner.

The Dodgers got two runs back in the third when Wills and Junior Gilliam singled, then worked a double steal. Willie Davis scored them both with a single to left.

Camilli's sacrifice fly in the fourth sent home Ron Fairly from third to tie the game at 3-3.

The Dodgers loaded the bases in the sixth on two singles and a walk and two runs scored on Camilli's hit to left. When Skinner threw wild to the plate, Camilli took second and Moon went to third. Earl Francis replaced starter Joe Gibbon and fanned Williams for the second out, but Wills beat out a grounder to deep short to tally Moon.

Camilli clouted his third homer of the season leading off the eighth inning.

The Dodgers collected 14 hits off three Pirate pitchers. Williams and Ron Perranoski held the Pirates to seven safeties.

Six Tie For Lead In St. Paul Open

Pacesetters Post 66s For Opening Round

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) —Six young pros rifled six-under-par 66s Thursday to share the first-round lead in the $30,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament.

Joe Campbell, Rex Bayster Jr., Frank Wharton, Dave Ragan, Bob Shave Jr., and Doug Sanders fashioned the rounds over the par 36-36—72 Keller golf course.

Pete Cooper, 47-year-old veteran, Buster Cupit, Dave Hill, and Johnny Pott, collected 67s. Grouped at 68 were Tony Lema, Tommy Bolt, Bruce Devlin, Dow Finsterwald and Jack McGowan.

PGA champion Gary Player, slight favorite for the crown going into the first round, developed a sour short game and finished four strokes behind the leaders with 70.

Defending champion Don January, who opened last year with 66, was bracketed at 71 with several others.

1960 Chevrolet 4-door
An exceptional fine car that reflects the good care it received by the former owner. A Bel-Air 4-door with light green and white finish that is perfect. The color-matching interior is spotless nylon and vinyl upholstery. Vinyl door panels all easy to keep clean. V-8 engine with automatic transmission, heater, radio, side mirror — small accessories. This very solid car has low mileage and is in first-class condition. See and drive this beauty if you are in the market for that "one-in-a-thousand" car ...

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their sympathetic help and thoughtfulness during the illness and following the death of our sister, Miss Avril Sterry. We wish especially to thank our minister, the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and donated cars, and particularly our neighbors in Grahamtown.

More Military Coal Use Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recommendations designed to increase the use of coal at military establishments have been made to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

In a letter to McNamara, made public Wednesday, Byrd said that "far too many installations, which are absolutely essential to national security, are at present wholly dependent for fuel upon foreign residual fuel oil."

Among other things, Byrd suggested that:

Directives be issued requiring that all fuel purchased must be produced within the 50 states; that the cost of fuel be based on the price of domestic fuel, not, he said, on the "dump" prices of foreign residual oil, and that all heating systems have provision for conversion to coal in emergency.

Polish Plea Studied

LONDON (UPI)—The Home Office considered a request for asylum Thursday from a 40-year-old Polish fisherman who fled his Communist-run homeland in a 40-foot motor vessel. Powel Patrzalek, 40, surrendered to immigration officials at Grimsby after making the 600-mile trip across the North Sea alone.

To See Numbers

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese trucks and buses began carrying giant - size license plates—16½ inches by 9 inches—Thursday as part of a government crackdown on hit-run drivers. Police hope the new plates would make it easier for witnesses to an accident to note license numbers.

Monkeys, like humans, have two sets of teeth.

Algeria Joins League

CAIRO (UPI)—Newly independent Algeria became the 13th active member of the Arab League Council Thursday. Secretary General Abdel Khalek Hassouna told a special session it was an "historic day."

Visits London

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet composer Dmitri Shotakovich arrived here Thursday from Moscow en route to Edinburgh where he will be guest of honor at the Edinburgh Festival later this month.

Naval Exercise Ends

LISBON (UPI)—Eighteen units of the 2nd Atlantic NATO squadron ended NATO naval exercise Riptide II Thursday and put into the Bay of Cascais for a three-day visit.

Relations Renewed

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—Former Foreign Minister Sadok Mokkaden, 47, was named Thursday as Tunisia's ambassador to France. The appointment formally completed restoration of diplomatic relations between the two countries, broken off during the siege of Bizerte in July, 1961.

About one-third of all U.S. farm families now have television sets.

More Military Coal Use Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recommendations designed to increase the use of coal at military establishments have been made to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

In a letter to McNamara, made public Wednesday, Byrd said that "far too many installations, which are absolutely essential to national security, are at present wholly dependent for fuel upon foreign residual fuel oil."

Among other things, Byrd suggested that:

Directives be issued requiring that all fuel purchased must be produced within the 50 states; that the cost of fuel be based on the price of domestic fuel, not, he said, on the "dump" prices of foreign residual oil, and that all heating systems have provision for conversion to coal in emergency.

Polish Plea Studied

LONDON (UPI)—The Home Office considered a request for asylum Thursday from a 40-year-old Polish fisherman who fled his Communist-run homeland in a 40-foot motor vessel. Powel Patrzalek, 40, surrendered to immigration officials at Grimsby after making the 600-mile trip across the North Sea alone.

To See Numbers

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese trucks and buses began carrying giant - size license plates—16½ inches by 9 inches—Thursday as part of a government crackdown on hit-run drivers. Police hope the new plates would make it easier for witnesses to an accident to note license numbers.

City Officials Study Proposed Levy Ordinance

Rate Slated Not To Exceed $1.57

Levy and appropriation ordinances have been prepared by Arthur B. Gibson, city financial consultant, and presented to members of the Mayor and Council for study prior to Monday's Council meeting.

The ordinances, which will set the 1962-1963 tax rate and provide appropriations for operating the various departments of the city, are scheduled for adoption Monday.

It will hardly be possible for the Mayor and Council to change the levy ordinance, but it can, of course, make any desired changes in the appropriation ordinance so long as it is kept within the limits of estimated income.

Limit Is Set

The only straws in the wind on the tax rate are the fact that the amount levied for city operations cannot by law exceed $1.25 for each $100 of assessable property, and that the levy for debt service must be increased to meet bond requirements which come due during the fiscal year.

Coming due this year are an extra $35,000 in bond maturities resulting from a change in the fiscal year back in 1948.

But Mr. Gibson assured city officials some time ago that the increase in the debt service levy will not exceed three cents.

If all of the three cents is needed for debt service, the tax rate would go up three cents to $1.57, from last year's $1.54.

Trend Is Down

There are several compensations. The first is that debt service costs will drop back to normal next year and that the tax rate is lower than it has been in some recent years.

Mr. Gibson prepared the following table for city officials to show that debt service costs have been going down in recent years as the tax base increases. The table follows:

Year	Debt Serv	Oper. Costs	Tax Rate
1956-57	33.97	124.03	$1.58
1957-58	32.02	124.98	$1.57
1958-59	32.02	124.98	$1.57
1959-60	31.	125.	$1.56
1960-61	29.79	124.21	$1.54
1961-62	29.02	124.98	$1.54

Car Thief Gets Year

James Eugene Pogue, 22, of 124 South Mechanic Street, last night was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction in the theft of a local attorney's car earlier this week.

Magistrate Browne V. Kooken found Pogue guilty of unauthorized use of an automobile owned by Earl E. Manges, local attorney. The hearing was held in Westernport.

Pogue was arrested Tuesday night by Trooper Raymond W. Andrews on the Mill Run Road north of Westernport.

Magistrate Kooken also found Pogue guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a license and sentenced him to 60 days in the County Jail. However, he ruled the two jail terms may run concurrently.

Mr. Manges' car was taken from a parking lot on South Liberty Street sometime Monday. After taking the car, Pogue sold several parts of the vehicle to obtain money for gasoline.

Authorities said most of the parts had been recovered and the rest are expected to be returned to the owner.

$88,000 Collected In August Taxes

Some $88,000 has been collected so far in August in county, state and special taxing area taxes at the office of Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

August is the last month for county taxpayers to take advantage of the discount. County taxes paid on or before midnight Friday, August 31, will be entitled to a three per cent discount. In September the net amount will be required and interest at one-half per cent per month starts October 1.

Mr. Orndorff also reported that clerks in his office are busy distributing some $101,341 collected in motor vehicle tax money to the county and the seven incorporated communities of the county. This $101,341 was sent to the collector by State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

Kiwanians Greet Principal

Sunday Concert Program Here Is Announced

The hour-long concert which will begin at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Constitution Park amphitheatre will be in two parts, according to Frank Munson, director of the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band, who said the program will include "pop" music which will appeal to youngsters and adults in the audience.

Arthur E. Shaffer, band president, said the opening number of part one will be "Hostrauser," a march by W. P. Chambers.

Other selections will include: "If Thou Be Near," by Johann Sebastian Bach; "Seventy-Six Trombones," from "The Music Man" by Meredith Wilson; "A Dream," tone poem by J. C. Bartlett; "Holiday for Winds," Glenn Osser, and "A Melodic Caravan" medley by Paul Yoder.

Part two opens with "Barnum and Bailey's Favorite," a march by K. L. King; "A Tribute to Glenn Miller," arranged by Henry Gass; "Larghetto," from Concerto Grosso, Opus Six, Number 12, Handel; "Reeds to the Front," a march by C. H. Leonard; "I Could Have Danced All Night" from "My Fair Lady," Frederick Loewe; "Dry Bones," arranged by Paul Yoder, and "The Conqueror," a march by C. Teike.

Shaffer, who is president of Local 787, American Federation of Musicians, said the organization's expenses are paid from the transcription fund of the union.

Some 40 semi-professional musicians of the Cumberland area and a few outstanding high school and college students are in the band, which was reorganized about the first of the year and has been practicing on Wednesday nights at Allegany High School.

In the event of rain, the concert will be postponed, said Mr. Shaffer.

Two Are Treated For Stab Wounds

Maryland State Police are investigating a stabbing yesterday evening in which two county residents were treated at Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

Margaret Jefferies was cut on her right arm at her home about 6:25 p.m., according to police, who said her son-in-law, Donald Eugene Westfall, was cut on the right side.

The Jeffries home is located off U.S. Route 40 on Big Savage Mountain, said Tfc. Joseph V. Stakem, investigating officer.

Bicycle Tag Deadline Set For Sept. 1

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney announced yesterday that the deadline for the issuance of bicycle tags here will be September 1.

He said all unlicensed bicycles found on the streets after that date will be picked up and impounded by the Police Department.

Chief Gaffney said bicycle registration is over 1,500 but should be 1,800 or more at this time.

There are a number of important reasons for the tag program, he said.

One of the vital reasons is to make sure that bicycles are safe to operate, and are equipped with necessary safety devices.

The registration of vehicles, with the serial number and the name and address of the owner, enables the department to make prompt restoration of stolen or lost bicycles.

The registration program also provides police with an opportunity to stress the importance of bicycle safety rules.

Cook Is Named To Study Group

BALTIMORE (AP) — Seven legislators were named Thursday to study possible improvements in Maryland's election laws.

The committee was appointed by Sen. George W. Della, president of the Legislative Council, in response to a letter from Gov. Tawes.

The governor said the May primary showed a need for trying to shore up the laws. He referred specifically to absentee voting and filing by candidates with the same name as incumbents.

Both subjects came up in Baltimore City and the name of Jack Pollack, Democratic leader in the northwest, was linked with both.

Gov. Tawes suggested the study committee consider raising filing fees and limiting refunds of them to candidates who decide to withdraw before the election.

Sen. H. Winship Wheatley, D-Prince Georges, was named chairman of the committee. Others appointed were Sens. Edward O. Weant, D-Carroll and Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, and Dels. Roy N. Staten, D-Balto County, Richard M. Matthews, D-Dorchester, Harry McGuirk, D-Balto 6th, and Noel S. Cook, R-Allegany.

The committee is expected to report to the Council by late fall.

Police May Replace Traffic Light Bulbs

The Police Department is studying a proposal for replacing lights in traffic lights which the city maintains, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

He said the proposal calls for placing a portable platform on the department's paint truck, so burned out traffic lights can be replaced promptly by members of the department.

Local Girl Attending Journalism Institute

Louise Costello, a senior at Allegany High School, is attending the second annual Journalism Institute this week at West Virginia University.

Miss Costello's name was omitted from an earlier list of local students who are attending the institute.

Redmond Held On $5,000 Bond In Burglaries

Charles William Redmond Jr., 22-year-old former Cumberland man, is being held under $5,000 bond in eight burglary and arson cases in Maryland and Virginia.

Redmond admitted the burglaries and setting the fires while being given a lie detector test Wednesday in Hagerstown.

Deputy State's Attorney David Poole of Washington County said yesterday Redmond admitted the crimes in a signed statement.

Magistrate William J. Dwyer, who set the bond, said "the entire community will breathe easier now."

Redmond's attorney, James J. Tracey, said he would ask that Redmond be turned over to the Maryland Department of Mental Hygiene under maximum security for an examination.

Redmond was arrested Tuesday after someone broke into Radio Station WHAG in Hagerstown, destroying equipment and setting fire to several boxes of copy paper.

Redmond also is accused of setting a $50,000 fire which destroyed the grandstand of Hagerstown Municipal Stadium April 29, 1961, and with two church fires in Winchester, Va., which resulted in total damages of $100,000.

Police said they had questioned Redmond about arson cases many times since 1960. He was picked up by a Washington County deputy sheriff right after the WHAG fire.

Winchester police will go to Hagerstown to question Redmond today.

Woman Donates $10 As Memorial To Dr. Owens

A South Cumberland woman has made a $10 contribution to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club's Sunshine Camp Fund as a memorial to Dr. C. L. Owens, former local physician who died July 6 after a long illness.

Dr. Owens had been a charter member of the Kiwanis Club and long supported the camp.

The woman sent the contribution to Mrs. Herman Koegel, who with her husband has directed the camp on MacDonald Terrace the past two years. She wrote that Dr. Owens was her family doctor for many years as well as a friend.

She wrote that she has no telephone but read Mrs. Koegel's name in the newspaper as a judge for a talent show and it mentioned that she was a director of the camp.

Books Of Timely Interest Added To Library Shelves

Two of the latest timely additions to the shelves of Allegany County public libraries and the bookmobile are "What Colonel Glenn Dil All Day" and "World's Fairs, Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow."

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said "What Colonel Glenn Did All Day," is a pictoral account, with a brief text, of what the astronaut did the day he became the first American to orbit the earth in space.

Every major instance in that historic day is recorded, from the time he awoke in early morning — the long wait for "lift-off" as his Mercury Atlas rocket was fueled, the sensation of weightlessness as he went into orbit at more than 17,000 miles an hour, his own control of the space capsule, fiery return through the Earth's atmosphere, and the tremendous feeling of relief and accomplishment on being picked up by destroyer, helicopter and aircraft carrier.

In reference to the other book, men have used fairs to show their new ideas and new products to other people from many places since before the birth of Christ.

Things that were first seen at a fair include the saxophone, the Ferris wheel, nylon and the cloverleaf highway.

After tracing the history of fairs in ancient and medieval times, the author gives accounts of all the modern international fairs and the leading fairs in America including Seattle's and the forthcoming New York fair.

New Fort Hill Principal Cites Views On School

Family Abdicates Some Responsibilty

Dr. Wayne W. Hill, new principal of Fort Hill High School, reminded members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday at Central YMCA that one of the reasons the public school system must attempt to fill so many needs of the pupils is that the family has abdicated some it its responsibility.

The new principal, who ended nine years service as principal of Beall High School in Frostburg June 30, traced briefly the development of the educational system in America. The first efforts at education in the American colonies was about 1635 when boys' schools were established in Boston for the teaching of Latin and Greek.

A forward step was made in 1749 when Benjamin Franklin's academy was established in Philadelphia with the beginning of vocational education. Public high schools had their beginning in 1821 at Boston and have broadened greatly in the last 140 years.

Dr. Hill noted that a school must have a philosophy and objectives which generally are designed to meet the needs of the community. The philosophy of education can vary within a county. He observed that the high schools at Mt. Savage and Oldtown, for instance, would have differing philosophies because of different needs of the two communities.

He commented that education has become broader as public school systems are faced with the responsibility of educating all children, including those who are retarded or dull as well as those who are advanced far beyond the average.

Dr. Hill enumerated eight specific needs which schools attempt to fill. They include teaching students to live with each other, to acquire sound physical and mental health, to develop an interest in nature and the scientific environment, to provide sound guidance, to encourage logical thought, to prepare them for work and/or future education, to use their leisure time well and to develop aesthetic appreciation.

In closing, he urged the Kiwanis to take an active interest in what is being done in schools, to assist the school vocational guidance wherever possible and to cooperate with the distributive education program whic prepares students for work in retail selling.

Jail Inmate Is Transferred

Robert Paul Winters, in whose cell at the Allegany County Jail saw blades and a file were found early Wednesday, was removed from the jail yesterday afternoon by William A. Harris and Frank C. Woods, deputy United States marshals from Baltimore.

Winters, a 26-year-old resident of Midland, has been living more recently in Fort Worth, Texas. He was arrested last Friday by State Police and the local FBI agent in Midland on a federal charge of fleeing Florida to avoid prosecution on a forgery charge.

A $10,000 bond was set for Winters after a hearing last Friday before U.S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett. He was returned to the County Jail to await transfer to Baltimore and eventually back to Florida. He was wanted there on a forgery charge.

Another inmate of the County Jail, Ronald G. Meyers, 21, of 51 Offutt Street, was taken from the jail Wednesday afternoon by two Marine Corps corporals. He had been there since last Friday facing charges as a deserter from the Marine Corps.

40 Will Show Pigeons, Poultry At Fair Here

Approximately 40 different exhibitors will compete for prizes offered by the Cumberland Fair Association in the Poultry, Pigeon and Rabbit departments of the 44th annual Fair starting Monday at Fairgo.

This department, long a feature of the Fair, will again be under the supervision of C. A. Smith, who has been connected with this department ever since the Fair has been held at its present location. He will be assisted by William F. Stevenson and members of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club.

Members of the racing pigeon club will exhibit over 100 racing birds which have flown at all the stations used by the club from 100 to 600 miles away. Many of the race winners will be shown.

The pigeon department will have a balanced show with breeds and varieties that originated in all parts of the world. There will be tiny and dainty specimens of owls, pouters, fantails, trumpeters and ice pigeons, most of which originated in Germany.

There will be varieties of tumblers, rollers and homers of various show types which can trace their origin to England. Varieties that come from India, Austria, Belgium, France and Italy will be there.

Largest entries will come from the lofts of C. A. Smith and Son, LaVale; George E. Knox, Westminster; J. N. High, Reisterstown; Guy Spronkle, Cavetown; Kenneth M. Green, Hagerstown; Dougie Smith, LaVale; Ellsworth Kittler, Center Valley, Pa., and William H. Koch, Allentown, Pa. Allegany County exhibitors will include R. L. Spiker, M. M. Green, William B. Orndorff, Billy Stevenson, all of Cumberland, and Albert Hercsuth, Oldtown.

The poultry department will feature chickens of the smallest to the largest types, with all shapes, color design and feather arrangements. Exhibitors in this section will include Harry K. Miller, Lebanon, Pa.; Blue Spring Farms, Allentown, Pa.; John L. Clise, Frostburg; A. Dale and Elmer Clise of Midland; E. H. Loger, Cumberland, and Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons, Flintstone.

Rabbit exhibits will be made up of specimens exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons, Flintstone; C. M. Jones, Cumberland, and members of 4-H and Future Farmers of America clubs.

One section of the building will house exhibits of the boys and girls of 4-H and Future Farmers of America clubs. These will feature breeds that produce eggs and meat.

Mr. Smith believes it will be worth a trip to Fairgo just to see all of the beautiful specimens that can be seen only in shows the quality and type of the Cumberland Fair.

Queen Contest Judging Today

Three judges will meet at 10 a.m. today at the Court House here to review the essays written by the contestants in the Forest Fire Prevention Queen contest for Allegany County.

Miss Mary Wise, county home demonstration agent; Miss Olive Hurlburt, Girl Scout executive, and Miss Eldora Richardson of the district forester's office, will judge the essays on forest fire prevention.

Ten finalists will be named today to compete at the Cumberland Fair Friday, August 24. The 10 girls, aged 16 to 18, will appear in frocks and the three top winners will receive prizes.

Blue Barron Plans To Play At Shrine Club

Blue Barron and his orchestra will appear at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club for a dance next Wednesday from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Ernest B. Treat, Shrine club manager, said that the orchestra's Dixieland band will present a floor show at 10 p.m.

Persons interested in dance tickets or reservations are advised to call the Shrine Club at PA 2-7020. This will be the second appearance of a "big name" band at the Shrine Club this year. Harry James and his orchestra played there late in May.

Subdivision Study Set By Chamber Unit

The need for a subdivision ordinance was discussed yesterday at noon at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Such an ordinance, the board said, would require that subdividers here make proper provisions for streets and for water and sewerage line to serve residents of the subdivisions.

The issue was turned over to the Chamber's Executive committee composed of Earl W. Bachman, president; William L. Wilson Jr. and Walter E. Dyck, vice presidents, and Robert C. Petersen, manager.

The committee was asked to study various types of subdivision ordinances available to make recommendations to the City of Cumberland.

Copies of a proposed interim subdivision ordinance were supplied to members of the Mayor and Council last week at the suggestion of Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

Adoption of a subdivision ordinance is included in the third phase of the planning project Blair and Stein Associates began for the City of Cumberland early this year.

Planning Units Meet Tuesday

A joint meeting of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission and the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Attending will be George Marcou and John R. Joyner, of Blair Associates, who are engaged in a 22-month planning study for the City of Cumberland.

Mr. Joyner announced recently that the firm hoped to complete and report at this meeting on a number of neighborhood analyses made to form a basis for planning projects.

False Alarm Checked At Local College

City firemen checked a false alarm last night at Allegany Community College on Frederick Street.

Someone in the neighborhood thought he saw flames in the building but it turned out to be a reflection from flares that had been placed on Frederick Street. The call was received at 9:01 p.m. and East Side answered the alarm.

Small Calls Tawes 'Puppet' Of State Party

Cites Selection Of State's Attorney

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Tawes was described Thursday by his Republican opponent, Frank Small Jr., as a "puppet of a boss-ridden administration."

Small, speaking at a rally at a Hyattsville shopping center, cited as an example the controversial selection of Francis J. Valle for the Democratic candidate for state's attorney of Baltimore.

The Baltimore City Democratic State Central Committee named Valle to succeed Saul A. Harris, who died last week. Harris was nominated in the May 15 primary.

"The present chaos surrounding the nomination of a Democratic state's attorney for Baltimore City is only the latest evidence of Maryland's boss rule," Small said.

"While Mr. Tawes is the titular head of his party," the Republican gubernatorial hopeful said, "the nomination of a Democratic candidate for state's attorney was taken completely out of his sphere by Jack Pollack. . ."

Pollack is the dominant Democratic leader in Baltimore's 4th District.

"A crops of political has been exorting a powerful influence in the state's affairs.

A "Shadow" Governor?

"There is also, for instance, George Hocker. . .who has been called the shadow governor of Maryland," Small said. "Hocker's name will not be on the ballot, but a vote for Mr. Tawes is a vote for Mr. Hocker."

Hocker is a lobbyist for brewery interests and a close associate of the governor.

Tawes, although he directed legal authorities to look into the nomination of Valle, was partly to blame for Valle's selection, Small charged.

". . .Mr. Tawes had some supporters on the State Central Committee, just as Mr. Pollack did," Small said, "Why didn't he have his members present at this meeting which Mr. Pollack engineered? They might have at least opposed the Pollack move.

"I understand the Tawes members as well as the others were notified of the meeting, but it was reported that George Hocker advised and directed them not to attend."

A "Dictatorship"?

A running mate of Small, meanwhile, said the United States was moving toward a dictatorship.

"We can have a dictator in America," said Edward T. Miller, candidate for U. S. senator, "if we continue to delegate our rights and privileges to a power hungry president.

"We have, in less than two years, seen every indication that the present administration in Washington craves this same power over the destinies of the American people without any reservation as to its effect on our way of life.

"No other chief executive," Miller said, ". . .has attempted so brazenly and militantly to usurp the rights, powers, and privileges of the people, states, and of the Congress. . .

City Officials Study Proposed Levy Ordinance

Rate Slated Not To Exceed $1.57

Levy and appropriation ordinances have been prepared by Arthur B. Gibson, city financial consultant, and presented to members of the Mayor and Council for study prior to Monday's Council meeting.

The ordinances, which will set the 1962-1963 tax rate and provide appropriations for operating the various departments of the city, are scheduled for adoption Monday.

It will hardly be possible for the Mayor and Council to change the levy ordinance, but it can, of course, make any desired changes in the appropriation ordinance so long as it is kept within the limits of estimated income.

Limit Is Set

The only straws in the wind on the tax rate are the fact that the amount levied for city operations cannot by law exceed $1.25 for each $100 of assessable property, and that the levy for debt service must be increased to meet bond requirements which come due during the fiscal year.

Coming due this year are an extra $35,000 in bond maturities resulting from a change in the fiscal year back in 1948.

But Mr. Gibson assured city officials some time ago that the increase in the debt service levy will not exceed three cents.

If all of the three cents is needed for debt service, the tax rate would go up three cents to $1.57, from last year's $1.54.

Trend Is Down

There are several compensations. The first is that debt service costs will drop back to normal next year and that the tax rate is lower than it has been in some recent years.

Mr. Gibson prepared the following table for city officials to show that debt service costs have been going down in recent years as the tax base increases. The table follows:

Year	Debt Serv	Oper. Costs	Tax Rate
1956-57	33.97	124.03	$1.58
1957-58	32.02	124.98	$1.57
1958-59	32.02	124.98	$1.57
1959-60	31.	125.	$1.56
1960-61	29.79	124.21	$1.54
1961-62	29.02	124.98	$1.54

Kiwanians Greet Principal

Car Thief Gets Year

James Eugene Pogue, 22, of 124 South Mechanic Street, last night was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction in the theft of a local attorney's car earlier this week.

Magistrate Browne V. Kooken found Pogue guilty of unauthorized use of an automobile owned by Earl E. Manges, local attorney. The hearing was held in Westernport.

Pogue was arrested Tuesday night by Trooper Raymond W. Andrews on the Mill Run Road north of Westernport.

Magistrate Kooken also found Pogue guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a license and sentenced him to 60 days in the County Jail. However, he ruled the two jail terms may run concurrently.

Mr. Manges' car was taken from a parking lot on South Liberty Street sometime Monday. After taking the car, Pogue sold several parts of the vehicle to obtain money for gasoline.

Authorities said most of the parts had been recovered and the rest are expected to be returned to the owner.

$88,000 Collected In August Taxes

Some $88,000 has been collected so far in August in county, state and special taxing area taxes at the office of Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

August is the last month for county taxpayers to take advantage of the discount. County taxes paid on or before midnight Friday, August 31, will be entitled to a three per cent discount. In September the net amount will be required and interest at one-half per cent per month starts October 1.

Mr. Orndorff also reported that clerks in his office are busy distributing some $101,341 collected in motor vehicle tax money to the county and the seven incorporated communities of the county. This $101,341 was sent to the collector by State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

Sunday Concert Program Here Is Announced

The hour-long concert which will begin at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Constitution Park amphitheatre will be in two parts, according to Frank Munson, director of the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band, who said the program will include "pop" music which will appeal to youngsters and adults in the audience.

Arthur E. Shaffer, band president, said the opening number of part one will be "Hostrauser," a march by W. P. Chambers.

Other selections will include: "If Thou Be Near," by Johann Sebastian Bach; "Seventy-Six Trombones," from "The Music Man" by Meredith Wilson; "A Dream," tone poem by J. C. Bartlett; "Holiday for Winds," Glenn Osser, and "A Melodic Caravan" medley by Paul Yoder.

Part two opens with "Barnum and Bailey's Favorite," a march by K. L. King; "A Tribute to Glenn Miller," arranged by Henry Gass; "Larghetto," from Concerto Grosso, Opus Six, Number 12, Handel; "Reeds to the Front," a march by C. H. Leonard; "I Could Have Danced All Night" from "My Fair Lady," Frederick Loewe; "Dry Bones," arranged by Paul Yoder, and "The Conqueror," a march by C. Teike.

Shaffer, who is president of Local 787, American Federation of Musicians, said the organization's expenses are paid from the transcription fund of the union.

Some 40 semi-professional musicians of the Cumberland area and a few outstanding high school and college students are in the band, which was reorganized about the first of the year and has been practicing on Wednesday nights at Allegany High School.

In the event of rain, the concert will be postponed, said Mr. Shaffer.

Two Are Treated For Stab Wounds

Maryland State Police are investigating a stabbing yesterday evening in which two county residents were treated at Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

Margaret Jefferies was cut on her right arm at her home about 6:25 p.m., according to police, who said her son-in-law, Donald Eugene Westfall, was cut on the right side.

The Jeffries home is located off U.S. Route 40 on Big Savage Mountain, said Tfc. Joseph V. Stakem, investigating officer.

Bicycle Tag Deadline Set For Sept. 1

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney announced yesterday that the deadline for the issuance of bicycle tags here will be September 1.

He said all unlicensed bicycles found on the streets after that date will be picked up and impounded by the Police Department.

Chief Gaffney said bicycle registration is over 1,500 but should be 1,800 or more at this time.

There are a number of important reasons for the tag program, he said.

One of the vital reasons is to make sure that bicycles are safe to operate, and are equipped with necessary safety devices.

The registration of vehicles, with the serial number and the name and address of the owner, enables the department to make prompt restoration of stolen or lost bicycles.

The registration program also provides police with an opportunity to stress the importance of bicycle safety rules.

Cook Is Named To Study Group

BALTIMORE (AP) — Seven legislators were named Thursday to study possible improvements in Maryland's election laws.

The committee was appointed by Sen. George W. Della, president of the Legislative Council, in response to a letter from Gov. Tawes.

The governor said the May primary showed a need for trying to shore up the laws. He referred specifically to absentee voting and filing by candidates with the same name as incumbents.

Both subjects came up in Baltimore City and the name of Jack Pollack, Democratic leader in the northwest, was linked with both.

Gov. Tawes suggested the study committee consider raising filing fees and limiting refunds of them to candidates who decide to withdraw before the election.

Sen. H. Winship Wheatley, D-Prince Georges, was named chairman of the committee. Others appointed were Sens. Edward O. Weant, D-Carroll and Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, and Dels. Roy N. Staten, D-Balto County, Richard M. Matthews, D-Dorchester, Harry McGuirk, D-Balto 6th, and Noel S. Cook, R-Allegany.

The committee is expected to report to the Council by late fall.

Police May Replace Traffic Light Bulbs

The Police Department is studying a proposal for replacing lights in traffic lights which the city maintains, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

He said the proposal calls for placing a portable platform on the department's paint truck, so burned out traffic lights can be replaced promptly by members of the department.

Local Girl Attending Journalism Institute

Louise Costello, a senior at Allegany High School, is attending the second annual Journalism Institute this week at West Virginia University.

Miss Costello's name was omitted from an earlier list of local students who are attending the institute.

Redmond Held On $5,000 Bond In Burglaries

Charles William Redmond Jr., 22-year-old former Cumberland man, is being held under $5,000 bond in eight burglary and arson cases in Maryland and Virginia.

Redmond admitted the burglaries and setting the fires while being given a lie detector test Wednesday in Hagerstown.

Deputy State's Attorney David Poole of Washington County said yesterday Redmond admitted the crimes in a signed statement.

Magistrate William J. Dwyer, who set the bond, said "the entire community will breathe easier now."

Redmond's attorney, James J. Tracey, said he would ask that Redmond be turned over to the Maryland Department of Mental Hygiene under maximum security for an examination.

Redmond was arrested Tuesday after someone broke into Radio Station WHAG in Hagerstown, destroying equipment and setting fire to several boxes of copy paper.

Redmond also is accused of setting a $50,000 fire which destroyed the grandstand of Hagerstown Municipal Stadium April 29, 1961, and with two church fires in Winchester, Va., which resulted in total damages of $100,000.

Police said they had questioned Redmond about arson cases many times since 1960. He was picked up by a Washington County deputy sheriff right after the WHAG fire.

Winchester police will go to Hagerstown to question Redmond today.

Woman Donates $10 As Memorial To Dr. Owens

A South Cumberland woman has made a $10 contribution to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club's Sunshine Camp Fund as a memorial to Dr. C. L. Owens, former local physician who died July 6 after a long illness.

Dr. Owens had been a charter member of the Kiwanis Club and long supported the camp.

The woman sent the contribution to Mrs. Herman Koegel, who with her husband has directed the camp on MacDonald Terrace the past two years. She wrote that Dr. Owens was her family doctor for many years as well as a friend.

She wrote that she has no telephone but read Mrs. Koegel's name in the newspaper as a judge for a talent show and it mentioned that she was a director of the camp.

Books Of Timely Interest Added To Library Shelves

Two of the latest timely additions to the shelves of Allegany County public libraries and the bookmobile are "What Colonel Glenn Dil All Day" and "World's Fairs, Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow."

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said "What Colonel Glenn Did All Day," is a pictoral account, with a brief text, of what the astronaut did the day he became the first American to orbit the earth in space.

Every major instance in that historic day is recorded, from the time he awoke in early morning — the long wait for "lift-off" as his Mercury Atlas rocket was fueled, the sensation of weightlessness as he went into orbit at more than 17,000 miles an hour, his own control of the space capsule, fiery return through the Earth's atmosphere, and the tremendous feeling of relief and accomplishment on being picked up by destroyer, helicopter and aircraft carrier.

In reference to the other book, men have used fairs to show their new ideas and new products to other people from many places since before the birth of Christ.

Things that were first seen at a fair include the saxophone, the Ferris wheel, nylon and the cloverleaf highway.

After tracing the history of fairs in ancient and medieval times, the author gives accounts of all the modern international fairs and the leading fairs in America including Seattle's and the forthcoming New York fair.

New Fort Hill Principal Cites Views On School

Family Abdicates Some Responsibilty

Dr. Wayne W. Hill, new principal of Fort Hill High School, reminded members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday at Central YMCA that one of the reasons the public school system must attempt to fill so many needs of the pupils is that the family has abdicated some it its responsibility.

The new principal, who ended nine years service as principal of Beall High School in Frostburg June 30, traced briefly the development of the educational system in America. The first efforts at education in the American colonies was about 1635 when boys' schools were established in Boston for the teaching of Latin and Greek.

A forward step was made in 1749 when Benjamin Franklin's academy was established in Philadelphia with the beginning of vocational education. Public high schools had their beginning in 1821 at Boston and have broadened greatly in the last 140 years.

Dr. Hill noted that a school must have a philosophy and objectives which generally are designed to meet the needs of the community. The philosophy of education can vary within a county. He observed that the high schools at Mt. Savage and Oldtown, for instance, would have differing philosophies because of different needs of the two communities.

He commented that education has become broader as public school systems are faced with the responsibility of educating all children, including those who are retarded or dull as well as those who are advanced far beyond the average.

Dr. Hill enumerated eight specific needs which schools attempt to fill. They include teaching students to live with each other, to acquire sound physical and mental health, to develop an interest in nature and the scientific environment, to provide sound guidance, to encourage logical thought, to prepare them for work and/or future education, to use their leisure time well and to develop aesthetic appreciation.

In closing, he urged the Kiwanis to take an active interest in what is being done in schools, to assist the school vocational guidance wherever possible and to cooperate with the distributive education program whic prepares students for work in retail selling.

Jail Inmate Is Transferred

Robert Paul Winters, in whose cell at the Allegany County Jail saw blades and a file were found early Wednesday, was removed from the jail yesterday afternoon by William A. Harris and Frank C. Woods, deputy United States marshals from Baltimore.

Winters, a 26-year-old resident of Midland, has been living more recently in Fort Worth, Texas. He was arrested last Friday by State Police and the local FBI agent in Midland on a federal charge of fleeing Florida to avoid prosecution on a forgery charge.

A $10,000 bond was set for Winters after a hearing last Friday before U.S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett. He was returned to the County Jail to await transfer to Baltimore and eventually back to Florida. He was wanted there on a forgery charge.

Another inmate of the County Jail, Ronald G. Meyers, 21, of 51 Offutt Street, was taken from the jail Wednesday afternoon by two Marine Corps corporals. He had been there since last Friday facing charges as a deserter from the Marine Corps.

40 Will Show Pigeons, Poultry At Fair Here

Approximately 40 different exhibitors will compete for prizes offered by the Cumberland Fair Association in the Poultry, Pigeon and Rabbit departments of the 44th annual Fair starting Monday at Fairgo.

This department, long a feature of the Fair, will again be under the supervision of C. A. Smith, who has been connected with this department ever since the Fair has been held at its present location. He will be assisted by William F. Stevenson and members of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club.

Members of the racing pigeon club will exhibit over 100 racing birds which have flown at all the stations used by the club from 100 to 600 miles away. Many of the race winners will be shown.

The pigeon department will have a balanced show with breeds and varieties that originated in all parts of the world. There will be tiny and dainty specimens of owls, pouters, fantails, trumpeters and ice pigeons, most of which originated in Germany.

There will be varieties of tumblers, rollers and homers of various show types which can trace their origin to England. Varieties that come from India, Austria, Belgium, France and Italy will be there.

Largest entries will come from the lofts of C. A. Smith and Son, LaVale; George E. Knox, Westminster; J. N. High, Reisterstown; Guy Spronkle, Cavetown; Kenneth M. Green, Hagerstown; Dougie Smith, LaVale; Ellsworth Kittler, Center Valley, Pa., and William H. Koch, Allentown, Pa. Allegany County exhibitors will include R. L. Spiker, M. M. Green, William B. Orndorff, Billy Stevenson, all of Cumberland, and Albert Hercsuth, Oldtown.

The poultry department will feature chickens of the smallest to the largest types, with all shapes, color design and feather arrangements. Exhibitors in this section will include Harry K. Miller, Lebanon, Pa.; Blue Spring Farms, Allentown, Pa.; John L. Clise, Frostburg; A. Dale and Elmer Clise of Midland; E. H. Loger, Cumberland, and Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons, Flintstone.

Rabbit exhibits will be made up of specimens exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons, Flintstone; C. M. Jones, Cumberland, and members of 4-H and Future Farmers of America clubs.

One section of the building will house exhibits of the boys and girls of 4-H and Future Farmers of America clubs. These will feature breeds that produce eggs and meat.

Mr. Smith believes it will be worth a trip to Fairgo just to see all of the beautiful specimens that can be seen only in shows the quality and type of the Cumberland Fair.

Queen Contest Judging Today

Three judges will meet at 10 a.m. today at the Court House here to review the essays written by the contestants in the Forest Fire Prevention Queen contest for Allegany County.

Miss Mary Wise, county home demonstration agent; Miss Olive Hurlburt, Girl Scout executive, and Miss Eldora Richardson of the district forester's office, will judge the essays on forest fire prevention.

Ten finalists will be named today to compete at the Cumberland Fair Friday, August 24. The 10 girls, aged 16 to 18, will appear in frocks and the three top winners will receive prizes.

Blue Barron Plans To Play At Shrine Club

Blue Barron and his orchestra will appear at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club for a dance next Wednesday from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Ernest B. Treat, Shrine club manager, said that the orchestra's Dixieland band will present a floor show at 10 p.m.

Persons interested in dance tickets or reservations are advised to call the Shrine Club at PA 2-7020. This will be the second appearance of a "big name" band at the Shrine Club this year. Harry James and his orchestra played there late in May.

Subdivision Study Set By Chamber Unit

The need for a subdivision ordinance was discussed yesterday at noon at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Such an ordinance, the board said, would require that subdividers here make proper provisions for streets and for water and sewerage line to serve residents of the subdivisions.

The issue was turned over to the Chamber's Executive committee composed of Earl W. Bachman, president; William L. Wilson Jr. and Walter E. Dyck, vice presidents, and Robert C. Petersen, manager.

The committee was asked to study various types of subdivision ordinances available to make recommendations to the City of Cumberland.

Copies of a proposed interim subdivision ordinance were supplied to members of the Mayor and Council last week at the suggestion of Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

Adoption of a subdivision ordinance is included in the third phase of the planning project Blair and Stein Associates began for the City of Cumberland early this year.

Planning Units Meet Tuesday

A joint meeting of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission and the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Attending will be George Marcou and John R. Joyner, of Blair Associates, who are engaged in a 22-month planning study for the City of Cumberland.

Mr. Joyner announced recently that the firm hoped to complete and report at this meeting on a number of neighborhood analyses made to form a basis for planning projects.

False Alarm Checked At Local College

City firemen checked a false alarm last night at Allegany Community College on Frederick Street.

Someone in the neighborhood thought he saw flames in the building but it turned out to be a reflection from flares that had been placed on Frederick Street. The call was received at 9:01 p.m. and East Side answered the alarm.

Small Calls Tawes 'Puppet' Of State Party

Cites Selection Of State's Attorney

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Tawes was described Thursday by his Republican opponent, Frank Small Jr., as a "puppet of a boss-ridden administration."

Small, speaking at a rally at a Hyattsville shopping center, cited as an example the controversial selection of Francis J. Valle for the Democratic candidate for state's attorney of Baltimore.

The Baltimore City Democratic State Central Committee named Valle to succeed Saul A. Harris, who died last week. Harris was nominated in the May 15 primary.

"The present chaos surrounding the nomination of a Democratic state's attorney for Baltimore City is only the latest evidence of Maryland's boss rule," Small said.

"While Mr. Tawes is the titular head of his party," the Republican gubernatorial hopeful said, "the nomination of a Democratic candidate for state's attorney was taken completely out of his sphere by Jack Pollack. . ."

Pollack is the dominant Democratic leader in Baltimore's 4th District.

"A crops of political has been exorting a powerful influence in the state's affairs.

A "Shadow" Governor?

"There is also, for instance, George Hocker. . .who has been called the shadow governor of Maryland," Small said. "Hocker's name will not be on the ballot, but a vote for Mr. Tawes is a vote for Mr. Hocker."

Hocker is a lobbyist for brewery interests and a close associate of the governor.

Tawes, although he directed legal authorities to look into the nomination of Valle, was partly to blame for Valle's selection, Small charged.

". . .Mr. Tawes had some supporters on the State Central Committee, just as Mr. Pollack did," Small said, "Why didn't he have his members present at this meeting which Mr. Pollack engineered? They might have at least opposed the Pollack move.

"I understand the Tawes members as well as the others were notified of the meeting, but it was reported that George Hocker advised and directed them not to attend."

A "Dictatorship"?

A running mate of Small, meanwhile, said the United States was moving toward a dictatorship.

"We can have a dictator in America," said Edward T. Miller, candidate for U. S. senator, "if we continue to delegate our rights and privileges to a power hungry president.

"We have, in less than two years, seen every indication that the present administration in Washington craves this same power over the destinies of the American people without any reservation as to its effect on our way of life.

"No other chief executive," Miller said, ". . .has attempted so brazenly and militantly to usurp the rights, powers, and privileges of the people, states, and of the Congress. . .
